FLYERS HIT 7 JAP WARSHIPS

Thousands Cheer Brooks in Final Rallies

G.O.P. TIDE RUNS HIGH ON EVE OF FIRST WAR VOTE

New Setbacks Dim Democrat Hopes.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

With every part of the country contributing evidence of mounting popular dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war by the Roosevelt administration, last minute surveys of the political situation in a dozen closely contested states strengthen the prospect of a thumping Republican victory in the congressional and state elections tomorrow.

Thomas E. Dewey.

On the eve of the first national election of the war the party in power, already under fire for the long series of disasters to our arms in the Pacific, beginning with Pearl Harbor and culminating in the loss of 16 American warships in the Solomon Islands, had only the damage of 7 Japanese warships announced last night, to balance against the destruction of two more of our aircraft carriers, leaving us only three of the fleet with which we started the war.

Democrats Expect Defeat.

The Democratic leaders privately concede impending defeat at the polls, expecting the reëlection of Sen. Wayland Brooks in Illinois, the election of Thomas E. Dewey as governor of New York, and of Earl Warren as governor of California, a Republican landslide in Ohio, Republican victories in numerous other states, and large Republican gains in congress. Rep. Patrick H. Drewry [D., Va.], chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, who a few weeks ago was predicting Democratic gains in both house and senate, was reduced yesterday to claiming that his party will retain a "substantial majority" in congress.

THE TRIBUNE's survey of all states outside the Democratic south indicates that the Republicans will gain from 5 to 10 seats in the senate, about 40 seats in the house, from 4 to 6 governorships, and scores of state officers and members of legislatures. A Republican landslide would net a gain of upward of 60 seats in the house. A gain of 52 would give the G. O. P. control of that body.

The latest information from Michigan is that Sen. Prentiss M. Brown, Democrat, has lost ground rapidly in the last 10 days and probably will be defeated by the Republican nominee, Homer Ferguson.

Brown Stronger than Party.

Brown was accounted far stronger than his party for the reason that he is no orthodox New Dealer and always has had a considerable Repub-

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York News.]

New York, Nov. 1. — Thomas E. Dewey will win by 500,000 over the combined vote cast for his two major rivals, John J. Bennett Jr., Democrat, and Dean Alfange, American Labor party nominee. This is the prediction of the New York Daily News gubernatorial poll. Dewey's plurality over Bennett will be approximately 800,000, provided an estimated 3,900,000 ballots are cast in the state-wide election Tuesday. Dewey's victory is assured, according to the poll.

Seventeen thousand communists, attending the party's final election campaign rally in Madison Square Garden this afternoon, pledged unswerving support to President Roosevelt, denounced Dewey, and lauded Wendell Willkie as a great liberal. Willkie announced yesterday that he would vote for Dewey.

The principal speaker was the Communist leader, Earl Browder, twice convicted draft evader and passport crook, who devoted much of his address to an attack on THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and other newspapers which have demanded a greater war effort.

PRODUCE MORE MEAT, EAT LESS, FARMERS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—Claude R. Wickard, food requirements czar, today demanded that the nation's farmers stop eating more than 2½ pounds of meat a week regardless of how much they may raise and butcher on their own farms.

Attached to his mandate was a renewed plea to the farmers to step up their meat production so that more than a quarter of the nation's output may be given to Russia and England and used to feed the armed forces.

Wickard told the farmers that the meat they produce on their farms, plus whatever they might buy, should be shared among the members of their families as follows:

Children under 6 years of age should not have more than ¾ pound of meat a week; the 6 to 12 year olds no more than 1½ pounds, and those members of the farm families on whose shoulders fall the burden of producing the bulk of the nation's food supplies, not over 2½ pounds per week.

Wickard said that to avoid waste at butchering time, when temporarily large supplies of meat may be available, "farmers may find it necessary to consume a larger volume." But he suggested that their year's consumption be limited to an average of 2½ pounds weekly.

He said that farmers who butcher meat for sale locally may continue to do so.

SENATOR RAPS LEFTIST PLOT TO RULE CONGRESS

Conspiracy to Curb Independence Seen.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

More than 6,500 persons, who gathered at three Chicago massmeetings despite bad weather, brought the campaign of Sen. Wayland Brooks to an optimistic close yesterday afternoon.

At St. Ludwig's hall, Lyndale street and Hamilton avenue, 2,000 Polish-Americans filled the seats and lined the walls to shout support of the Republican candidate for reëlection. Twenty-five hundred colored men and women greeted the senator in the 8th regiment armory, 35th street and Giles avenue, and a meeting in Du Sable High school, 49th street and Wabash avenue, attracted 2,000 more.

"You count on me," Brooks told the colored meetings, "and I'll count on you."

Cheered for Poll Tax Fight.

He was interrupted by applause as he told his listeners he had kept his campaign pledges to them and recounted his fight on the poll tax.

During the day Brooks charged that left wing publications and Communist agitators had joined in a plot to "remove from the congress certain men who had refused to give up any independence of thought or break their pledges to the people who elected them."

He pointed out that in Illinois the Kelly-Nash machine had joined with Earl Browder, draft dodger and communist leader, to forward the plot.

"It is hard to believe that any one who has any regard for the precious privileges of freedom and worship and devotion to the principles of religious faith, would be guilty of forming an alliance with a group whose purpose is based fundamentally on atheism and whose movement notoriously opposes genuine religious activity and worship," Brooks told his listeners.

Must Cling to Faith.

"We are going to need to cling to our religious faith more now than ever. The boys and girls at the front and the loved ones at home will need to strengthen their religious ideals more now than ever before."

The speaker said the plot against independent members of congress had its inception when the New Republic, left wing magazine, printed a list of victims to be defeated. In the same issue of the magazine, Brooks said, there was an advertisment asking Communists to attend a meeting to demand that Browder be freed from the penitentiary.

"Shortly thereafter the President of the United States released Earl Browder from the penitentiary," Brooks continued, "stating that it was for the purpose of creating unity in our country. At last we had concrete evidence of the power of the Communist forces in the United States."

Cites His 5 to 1 Renomination.

The Communists carried their campaign into Illinois during the primary, Brooks said, printing scurrilous literature and demanding his defeat. He pointed out that the people of Illinois answered by renominating him by a vote of 5 to 1.

"In the meantime," Brooks continued, "Ed Kelly, who thru the years had accumulated vast wealth and power, handpicked a candidate for the Democratic party and Earl Browder, twice convicted criminal leader and No. 1 Communist agitator in America, appeared in person in Chicago to back that candidate and demand my defeat.

"Finally it was apparent that this was the kind of unity for which this criminal was released from the penitentiary. As this war approached, all over the country there was communistic agitation by the group led by Browder. They fomented strikes and instituted sabotage. Browder was again arrested and convicted for violating the federal laws, for faking passports and visas.

"It is fortunate for us that the power and influence of this group has been brought to light, so that we in Illinois have an opportunity to meet and defeat them at the polls."

SUCHIATE, Mexico, Nov. 1 (AP).—Heavily laden freight trains rolled today across a newly completed half mile bridge spanning the Suchiate river on the Mexico-Guatemala border, opening an all-rail, submarine-proof route between North America and Central America's rich stores of war-vital raw materials.

This new route brought rubber, sugar, coffee, bananas, and other tropical products to within four days of the United States border. It links Mexico's railroads with the Guatemalan system stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific with a branch running into El Salvador.

Shipments heretofore had to be unloaded from freight cars, carted to the banks of the Suchiate—which had no wharf—and poled across in tiny boats about twice the size of a double bed. Then they had to be recarted and reloaded aboard freight trains.

Alaska, Panama Now Linked.

The new bridge, permitting Mexican standard gauge equipment to cross to the Guatemalan side, makes it possible to load directly from the narrow gauge Guatemalan cars. Goods now may be carried thru Guatemala and El Salvador by rail, or sent by road to Honduras.

Upon the anticipated completion of the Pan-American highway thru Central America next year the bridge will provide the only rail link in the all-land route from Alaska to Panama. This will facilitate not only the movement of raw materials northward but speedy transportation of troops and munitions to the Canal Zone.

The bridge itself is something of a hodge-podge job, but at that it stands as a monument to Mexican engineering.

Built in Three Months.

The builders threw it together in about three months at the rate of 37 feet a day. Crews were assembled from the country's rail system and they used for the most part prefabricated parts kept for hasty replacement of damaged bridges.

The parts were of varying size and length, and when they didn't fit the workers improvised as they went along, shortening a piece here, lengthening another there by bolting pieces together.

U. S. SCRAP CAMPAIGN ADDS 5 MILLION TONS TO SUPPLY FOR MILLS

New York, Nov. 1 [Special].—Nearly five million tons of scrap metal was reported to have been collected up to today in the nation-wide salvage campaign sponsored by the newspapers, and figures from 32 states were not complete. The total so far was announced as 4,852,438 tons.

Vermont was leading in the per capita field with an average of 155 pounds for each resident and a total of 27,905 tons. Illinois was fifth on the list with per capital yield of 122 pounds, a total of 483,300 tons. New York was 15th in the per capita standing.

ILLINOIS MAY LEAD.

Salvage officials in Chicago last night explained that Illinois' rank of fifth place is misleading since the state will not make a full report of its collections until after Nov. 11, which has been designated for a one day cleanup drive. Illinois is then expected to top the nation, with a per capita average of over 200 pounds, according to William J. McFetridge, OCD salvage director, and Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director for the War Production board.

Fortress Fights Zeros 135 Mi.; Knocks Out 3

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 1.—Capt. Fred C. Eaton of Scarsdale, N. Y., a veteran of nine previous combats with enemy fighters, today brought his Flying Fortress home safely after a 40 minute running battle with 11 Japanese Zeros.

Eaton's crew shot down two of the enemy planes and believed they destroyed another. Altho on several occasions the Zeros flew to within 150 feet of the Fortress, the plane landed without a single bullet hole, thanks to the superb maneuvering of Eaton, who is considered one of the best American pilots in this theater of the war.

Co-Pilot Takes Snapshots.

"He was out in front and above us," Eaton said. "While I was keeping my eye on him he wiggled his wings. I wiggled mine back. Then he slid down on us, all guns firing."

A burst from a .50 caliber gun manned by Sergt. M. M. Poirier, Waterville, Me., sent a stream of armor piercing bullets into the Jap's engine, bits of it flying off into the air. The Zero went into a steep dive, leaving a train of smoke.

During frontal attacks, Eaton's Australian co-pilot, Sergt. Mervin Bell, coolly made pictures with a $1 box camera.

"He just sat there and snapped away every time a Jap headed for us," Eaton laughed.

Altho 11 planes began the attack, only four carried it thru. These made 12 passes while Eaton "weaved around in the clouds."

Battle for 135 Miles.

The Zeros pushed their attack so close "I could see the Japanese writing on the tail," said Lieut. Jack C. McIntyre, Jackson, Miss.

Members of Eaton's crew said the Zero pilots made many runs on the Fortress' tail. Corp. W. E. Curry, Yuba City, Cal., the tail gunner, said the one he got "flew straight at me. I just held the gun on him and filled him full of lead until he spun off with smoke pouring from his engine."

The battle lasted for 135 miles of the homeward journey before the fourth Zero gave up.

British Seize New Sector on Egyptian Front

Yanks Down 4 Foes

CAIRO, Nov. 1 (AP).—United States planes shot down four German Messerschmitts in the Egyptian desert yesterday and damaged two others in widespread support of the British 8th army offensive, an American communique announced today.

A formation of B-25 "Billy Mitchell" bombers raided axis airdromes at Fuka and Marten Bagush. Several large fires were started there.

United States heavy bombers again attacked Crete, dropping bombs in the enemy dispersal area at the Maleme airdrome, where a "huge fire was observed."

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 1 (AP).—Britain's 8th army, continuing its methodical, sledgehammer offensive, has jolted the axis loose from another section of tenaciously-held positions of the Alamein line in the flinty corridor between the Mediterranean sea and the Qattara depression.

Moreover it is holding its gains in the face of violent counterattacks by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces, it was announced today.

With hundreds of guns and a supreme allied air umbrella still playing the dominant rôles, British infantry executed another of its night attacks Friday after a barrage had reduced enemy strong points.

Dazed Germans and Italians still clinging to the smashed positions were rounded up and sent to the rear as prisoners.

Battle Force of 50 Tanks.

The great mobile tank battles which heretofore have characterized desert campaigns in this war still were absent, but the Germans had sent in some armored forces in exploratory fashion.

A battle between one such unit of 50 tanks and a rifle company which was using light six pounder artillery was described in front line dispatches.

Thirty-eight tanks, including some of the Germans' best Mark IV.'s, were knocked out in the 36 hour battle, and "the night was burnished with burning tanks," the British commander in the action reported.

[Altho the British communique told of no offensive action later than Friday night, axis war bulletins indicated the attack continued on Saturday. A British radio correspondent at the front broadcast, "We have at least doubled our bag of axis prisoners," as a result of the latest advance.]

American aviation continued to play a strong part, as allied airmen swept unchecked over forward and rear areas, shooting up tanks, airfields, and troop concentrations.

Other long range fighters fired tents and vehicles, strafed a wireless station and mowed down troops in the dock area of Matruh. In another operation, fighters blazed up and down the road between Sollum and Sidi Barrani near the Egyptian frontier, destroying encampments and gasoline trucks.

"Several Thousand" Trapped.

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP).—Allied forces in the Egyptian desert have "trapped several thousands axis troops" in a long narrow pocket near the Mediterranean coast west of El Alamein, Cairo reports to British newspapers said tonight. The only route thru which the troops—mostly Germans—could escape or be reënforced was under heavy fire from allied machine guns, mortars and artillery, the reports said.

At Northern End of Line.

ROME, Nov. 1 [From Italian broadcasts] — (AP). — The Italian high command said today that violent fighting raged yesterday at the northern end of the Alamein line in the Egyptian desert.

New British attacks were met by German and Italian troops, the communique said, adding that "numerous British tanks were destroyed and about 200 prisoners taken."

"The total number of prisoners taken in the present battle has reached 2,000," the communique reported.

NAVY BATTERS 2 BATTLESHIPS AND 2 CARRIERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—Navy flyers struck a smashing blow at the Japanese fleet in the battle of Oct. 26 which cost the United States an aircraft carrier and a destroyer, the navy announced tonight. Bombs or torpedoes damaged two enemy carriers, two battleships, and three cruisers.

After this action one week ago in the Stewart Islands, 260 miles northeast of Guadalcanal Island, American warships returned to the fray Friday off Guadalcanal, after Japanese ships had withdrawn.

They blasted the foe's positions on the islands with a two hour cannonading which blew up artillery, buildings, and boats. The American defenders ashore also hit the Japanese by land and by air.

[Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported 33 tons of bombs dropped on the Japs in the Solomons area and seven ships sunk or damaged. Details on page 10.]

The sea engagement [of Oct. 26] apparently represented a fight by the planes of opposing aircraft carriers like that in the battle of Midway last June, when the carrier Yorktown was lost while her planes sank the Japanese carrier Hiryu and bombed opposing battleships and cruisers.

Carrier Put Out of Action.

The navy claimed no sinkings in the current battle, fought east of the Stewart islands, but its account of the pounding given the Japanese made it appear likely that one of the Japanese carriers was definitely put out of action and that other ships were heavily damaged.

The destruction of more than 100 Japanese planes and the probable destruction of 50 more was reported. How many of these were shot out of the sky and how many blown up on the carrier decks was not specified.

[The Tokio imperial headquarters communique broadcast last Wednesday admitted that two Japanese carriers and one cruiser had been damaged in the battle of Oct. 26. It also admitted the loss of 40 planes, but claimed American losses to have been four carriers, one battleship and one unidentified warship sunk, one battleship, three cruisers, and one destroyer damaged, and 200 United States planes destroyed.]

The number of planes destroyed indicated that the Japanese had more carriers in action than the two which were damaged. Both of these were of the Zuikaku class of at least 17,000 tons, mothering 45 planes apiece. The two which were bombed are believed to be the only ones of this class—the Syokaku [Crane] and the Zuikaku [Lucky Stork], both launched in 1939 and completed last year.

Two Battleships Hit.

Each American carrier carries about 85 planes, and if the blasting of the Japanese force was done entirely by these airmen they exacted heavy vengeance for their ship. It is possible, however, that the United States had another carrier in action besides the one that was lost.

In addition to laying four to six heavy bombs on one carrier and two medium ones on the other, the American flyers landed heavy bombs on two battleships, two torpedoes on a heavy cruiser, torpedo and bomb hits on a second heavy cruiser, and five medium bombs on a Tikuma [second] class cruiser, of which there are two, the Tikuma and Tone.

One of the battleships, hit by two heavy bombs, was of the Kongo class, the same type as the battleship Haruna which Capt. Colin Kelly and his army bomber crew were originally credited with sinking.

In announcing the sinking of the United States carrier last night, the navy said this ship and the destroyer Porter were the only American vessels lost in the engagement.

Army Captures 2 Guns.

The detailed report on the damage done the Japanese was made to Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the fleet, this afternoon by Vice Adm. William F. Halsey, who recently succeeded vice Adm. Robert L. Ghormley in command in that area.

The communique summarizing the

Democrats Are Jolted by New Setbacks.

lican following, chiefly among business men in Detroit. He therefore was expected to run ahead of Democratic Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, who probably will be defeated by his Republican rival, Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly.

It now looks as if Brown will have little advantage of the governor in the balloting tomorrow. There is evidence he has lost the support of most of the Republican business men who once voted for him, while rural Michigan is all set to loose an avalanche of votes for Ferguson.

The farmers are up in arms against Brown because of his attitude on the anti-inflation legislation. He handled the bill in the senate on behalf of the administration and fought the farm bloc's demand for the inclusion of labor costs in the computation of parity prices of farm products. In the eyes of the farmers he became identified with the administration policy, which—ever since the President's Labor day speech—had been regarded as that of coddling labor at the expense of agriculture.

Price Fixing Rôle Disclosed.

What apparently sent Brown stock to a new low on the Michigan farms was the disclosure last week of his part in the administration's manipulation of the price fixing law to deprive the farmers of their rights under that statute. The President, by executive order, decreed that the labor included in the calculation of parity prices of farm products should be confined to "hired labor." He also decreed that benefit payments to farmers should be taken into consideration in the fixing of farm product prices.

The understanding in both houses when the law was passed was that all farm labor costs would be included and that benefit payments would be excluded. It turned out that the executive order was based on an interpretation of the act appearing in the Congressional Record as part of remarks by Brown reporting the conference committee report on the price fixing bill.

Expect Airing of Scandal.

Sen. George D. Aiken [R., Vt.] and other Republican senators testify that they did not hear Brown utter the interpretation of the bill in question and Frank Gannett, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, charges that it was interpolated later. Its authorship is attributed to C. David Ginsburg, general counsel to Leon Henderson, price administrator. There is in prospect an airing of the scandal in the senate after the election.

This new ground for charging the administration with discrimination against the farmer also may be adding elsewhere to the reaction against the party in power at Washington on the score of inefficiency in the conduct of the war. The latest estimates from Iowa, for example, are that Republican Gov. George A. Wilson will be swept to victory over Democratic Sen. Clyde L. Herring by a tidal wave of farmer votes.

Similar reports come from Nebraska, where that blown in the bottle New Dealer, George W. Norris [Ind.], appears to be doomed to defeat by Kenneth S. Wherry, the Republican candidate. Also from Colorado, where the Republican nominee for senator, Gov. Ralph L. Carr, is expected to defeat the sitting Democratic senator, Edwin C. Johnson; from Wyoming, where a Roosevelt rubber stamp, Democratic Sen. H. H. Schwartz, probably will lose to E. V. Robertson, Republican, and from South Dakota, where the Republicans will make a clean sweep of the election, sending Republican Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield to the senate in place of Democratic Sen. William J. Bulow, who was defeated in the primary.

From Democratic eastern headquarters comes the estimate that because of the draft of young men into the army and the drift of workers to war industries in other cities Democratic Boss Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, will be unable to deliver anywhere near the 150,000 votes necessary to compass the reëlection of Democratic Sen. William H. Smathers of New Jersey. If Hague fails to deliver more than 100,000, Smathers will be defeated by the Republican nominee, Albert W. Hawkes.

Delaware Democrats Split.

The eastern Democratic leaders concede they have small chance of electing their candidate for senator in Delaware, E. Ennalls Berl, who is pitted against former Gov. C. Douglass Buck, the Republican nominee.

The Republicans may gain another senator in Rhode Island, where the Democrats are on the defensive because of popular reaction against the bungling in the conduct of the war. In this as well as other New England states the administration has become unpopular for many reasons, including the rationing of fuel oil, made necessary by the sinking of tankers by axis submarines.

There are close senatorial races, which the Republicans may win, in other states, notably Montana and Nevada, in which the incumbents are Democrats.

One of the most spectacular contests is that taking place in New York, where the Democrats are divided and Dewey is conceded the victory by almost everybody except Jim Farley, Democratic state chairman and backer of John J. Bennett, the Democratic nominee.

The campaign, one of the most extraordinary in the annals of politics, draws to a close with a sardonic commentary upon the pronouncement of Democratic National Chairman Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn at the beginning of the canvass that the return of a Republican congress would be equivalent to a major disaster for the nation. As it turns out, the major military disaster is in the Solomon Islands, where two aircraft carriers and 14 other warships have been lost and a force of American marines is at bay on Guadalcanal.

Losses Called Greater.

Nor is it clear that the Solomon Islands disaster is limited to the loss of 16 warships. According to Rep. Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.], upon his return from the Solomon Islands, our losses in that region were greater than have been admitted by the administration.

The disclosure that the employment of weasel wording in communiques has deceived the public regarding war losses also has tended to destroy confidence in the administration. By such means was the public led to believe that none of the planes that bombed Tokio and none of the flyers had fallen into enemy hands. Not until the Japanese named four of the flyers as their prisoners did the public learn that it had been deceived by the war department. By such means was the true extent of the Pearl Harbor disaster concealed from the people. Elmer Davis, chief of the Office of War Information, now promises a complete account of the Pearl Harbor attack and its results—after the election.

The question has arisen whether Davis himself is employing weasel words wittingly or unwittingly to deceive the public. On Thursday he stated on the radio that all "sinkings" of major warships up to noon that day had been made public. On Saturday the navy department admitted the loss of the fourth aircraft carrier. Even if Adm. Ernest J. King's orders to sink the disabled and foundering craft had not been carried out by Thursday noon, the carrier had been abandoned as a total loss. Altho Davis is an ardent New Dealer and Roosevelt worshiper, he has protested repeatedly against suppression of news beyond the time in which it could possibly aid the enemy, a suppression which only served to save the administration from political discredit at home.

Isolation Issue Fades.

The increasing popular dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war has overshadowed completely the issue of isolationism which the Roosevelt administration, the Democratic national committee, the so-called Union for Democratic Action, the Communists, the pinko New Republic, and Henry Luce and the Marshall Field press sought to raise as the touchstone for judgment of the fitness of members of congress.

In fact, in most constituencies where prewar noninterventionists have been attacked on this issue it has boomeranged upon its progenitors. The question of a candidate's attitude before we got into the war has been dwarfed by the tragic, immediate question of the choice of men for public office who can be relied upon to reverse the administration's record of inefficiency in the war effort.

In the primaries out of 400 congressional candidates 9 prewar noninterventionists were defeated, but 9 interventionists also were beaten. In the election tomorrow the indications are that few if any who opposed the Roosevelt intervention policy before Pearl Harbor will lose. Even Rep. Hamilton Fish, leading prewar isolationist, who represents the President's home district, appears assured of reëlection. The explanation, of course, is that the country before we were attacked at Pearl Harbor was about 80 per cent isolationist. It was not rationally to be expected that constituencies would repudiate their own views that were reflected by their servants in congress. Edmund Burke's law still stands that you cannot indict a people.

Green and Kelly Proclaim Maritime Recruiting Drive

Gov. Green and Mayor Kelly yesterday issued proclamations urging the public to support the new recruiting campaign of the United States Maritime service to enroll 3,500 men from Illinois in the next four months. The governor said the success of American and united nations' fighting men rested upon the ability of the merchant marine to deliver supplies all over the world.

CARR PROMISES TO BREAK GRIP OF VICE ON POLITICS

G. O. P. Sheriff Nominee to Protect Children.

Leo Carr, Republican nominee for sheriff, made his final radio talk of the campaign yesterday. He appealed to the decent element of Cook county to give him the power to clean out "vice dens that prey upon the 'teen age children of this community."

Carr, former Chicago police captain and chief of the state highway police, attacked the underworld alliance with the Kelly-Nash machine—"a filthy, back-scratching union that is known thruout the country."

Has Children of Own.

"I, like you, have children whom I want to protect from the temptations of vice that the Kelly-Nash machine and their criminal associates have placed along our county highways," Carr said, addressing his talk to the parents of the county.

"Those aren't real taverns—they're traps for 'teen age boys and girls. In these dens, our children may be sold whisky, exposed to gambling and all of the other evils which are found in the most notorious red light districts thruout the world.

"The political machine has allowed these dens to operate because the criminals of the underworld have paid off heavily for that privilege.

"Every one knows there is no sentiment in the operations of a political machine. All that the machine is interested in is power and more power, dollars and more dollars.

Bosses Want "Backs Scratched."

"They [the bosses] care little about what happens to the children, or anybody else in the community except those who scratch the right backs."

Carr told of his 27 years of fighting crime in Illinois and said that during that time the machine had found it couldn't buy Leo Carr, nor could they succeed in their "constant attempts to frame or smear him."

"From my long record as a crime fighter," he said, "the machine knows and the criminals know, that it will be only a matter of hours after I'm sworn in as sheriff before the grip that now holds the sheriff's office in criminal bondage will be smashed beyond repair.

"The hoodlums also know it will be only a matter of hours until the vice dens along our county highways, catering to children, will be closed. One of the first acts of business on my calendar will be to send out police squads to close every one of these vicious dens."

PROBE RAIL MAN'S DEATH.

An inquest will be held today into the death of Benjamin W. Pugsley, 57 years old, 3976 Lake Park avenue, an Illinois Central railroad switchman, who was killed Saturday night when he presumably fell under a moving caboose in the Congress street yards.

Polish Republicans Honor Brooks and Own Sons at Rally

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

POLISH AUDIENCE HONORS BROOKS; LAUDS OWN HERO

Senator and Governor Address Meeting.

Two thousand citizens of Polish extraction gathered at St. Hedwig's parish hall, Lyndale street and Hamilton avenue, yesterday to honor Sen. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for United States senator, and to hail two of their own sons, Casimir Bulisewicz, a survivor of the sinking of the United States aircraft carrier Wasp, and Stanley Pulaski, Republican nominee for probate judge.

In spite of the weather conditions the throng filled the 1,500 seats and overflowed to standing room in the rear and in the aisles long before Sen. Brooks appeared.

Two blocks away in a hall at Leavitt street and Shakespeare avenue, a meeting of Polish Democrats drew a scant 400 persons—a contrast deemed significant in that section of the 33d ward.

Brooks Presents Flag.

The greeting given Sen. Brooks and Gov. Dwight H. Green, who also spoke at the St. Hedwig hall meeting, was equalled only by the cheers for young Bulisewicz when Sen. Brooks took him by the hand, congratulated him and thru him presented an American flag to the parish.

"This young man represents the young manhood of the church and the community," Brooks said. "It was his good fate and his honor to be serving his country thousands of miles away from home on a good ship when that ship went down. He is back safely, and is ready to serve again."

Then, turning to the young naval hero, Sen. Brooks said, "We will be thinking about you. We will be backing you and will do whatever we can for you."

Later Bulisewicz told John T. Dempsey, chairman of the Cook county Republican committee who presided, "I am happy to get the flag like that. It means a great deal to me after my experience,, and I am glad to receive it from Sen. Brooks who went thru something like we did."

Governor Pays Tribute.

Gov. Green paid tribute to the people of Poland, and the patriotism of Polish people in this country.

"No one can give us a truer, more exact valuation of the liberty we now enjoy than the Polish-speaking American people," Gov. Green said.

"From the beginning of European history, the Poles have been in the van of the fight for freedom, and Poland does not flinch before the onslaught, because the flame of freedom, once it burns in the human breast, lives forever.

"Your people are fighting and working for the principles exemplified at Valley Forge and inscribed in our hearts at Gettysburg and at the Marne and again in the islands of the far-off Pacific where American men added new luster to the glory which has long been America's."

Sen. Wayland Brooks (right), who was honored at the rally, shaking hands with Sailor Casimir Bulisewicz, a survivor of the sunken aircraft carrier Wasp.

Attorney General George F. Barrett, listed for the audience the candidates who are up for election tomorrow. Several district and county candidates were introduced.

John Romankiewicz, past president of the Polish National Alliance addressed the meeting in the Polish language, warning his people to disregard "Kelly-Nash propaganda to vote the straight Democratic ticket."

"Vote as a free liberty loving race," he said. "Use your own heart and your own mind in casting your vote."

Of Sen. Brooks he said, "in order to uphold our liberties and freedom we should return Wayland Brooks to the senate."

Hurled Over Bannister from Fourth Floor; Dies

Wabash avenue police last night were holding a woman and four men, all Negroes, following the death in the County hospital yesterday of Clifton Covington, 27 years old, whom police said, celebrants at a rooming house party at 4643 Evans avenue threw over a fourth floor bannister. The woman is Willie Mae Jones, 34, operator of the rooming house. According to police, four companions of Evans picked him up and hurled him over the bannister.

Motorman Hurt in Crash When Car Jumps Switch

The motorman of a west bound Grand avenue street car was injured last night when his car jumped a switch at Wabash avenue and plowed into the side of an east bound trolley, filled with sailors on their way to Navy pier. None of the sailors was hurt. The injured man, treated at Henrotin hospital, was Joseph Moon, 34 years old, who told police the collision was caused by improper functioning of a power switch normally used by Wabash avenue cars.

RED HANDBILLS RAPPING BROOKS PLACED ON CARS

Thousands of Communist party handbills saying "Defeat Brooks and Day" have been put on the automobiles of workers at the Chrysler-Dodge plant, 75th street and Pulaski road, it was learned yesterday.

The bills were directed at union men and read: "A. F. of L. Members! Help Defeat Brooks and Day. The Communist party appeals to the 300,000 Chicago members of the American Federation of Labor to throw their full strength into this election drive to defeat candidates who are working for the defeat of the United States in this war."

Among the aims of the Communist party, as summarized on the handbill, are the immediate opening of a second front in Europe and a centralized economic program. "Communist Party Calls for National Unity in Support of the President," was another large type heading on the sheet.

SWEDEN PLACES CEILING ON PRICE OF COMMODITIES

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 1.—To fight inflation, a general price ceiling on necessary commodities has been decreed by the Swedish government. The measure, effective immediately, covers both domestic and imported goods and also affects freight rates. For the time being there appears to be no question of a wage ceiling.

Listed in the decree are cattle, artisan handwork, art, antiques, vegetables, and farm products, as well as anything sold at public auction.

The measure also stabilizes servicing and maintenance costs on commodities in question.

G. O. P. NOMINEES ACCLAIMED AT NEGRO MEETINGS

Sen. Brooks Greeted by Waves of Applause.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Waves of applause at three large Negro mass meetings yesterday sped the Republican candidates on toward tomorrow's election with confidence. The final Sunday is traditionally devoted to the colored voters by both parties.

With the large section of the colored voting population who never deserted the Grand Old Party were others to whom the New Deal spending of recent years had appealed. Now that the appeal has lost its luster and the main problems of the race still are unsolved, the return to the Republican party is marked, leaders said.

There were many speeches at the meetings, but seldom dull ones. Candidates who had any powers of oratory at all disclosed them, in response to the crowds' enthusiasm.

Music Adds to Programs.

Singers, men and women, and instrumental soloists demonstrated the race's talent for music to briefly interrupt the long speaking programs. Ushers distributed campaign handbills.

"Just let the police try to confiscate these handbills like they did in William E. King's 2d ward headquarters," said former Congressman Oscar De Priest, 3d ward committeeman.

He directed the distribution of the handbills to each of the 2,000 persons who flocked to the auditorium of the Du Sable High school at 49th and State streets.

Other massmeetings were in the 8th regimental armory at 35th street and Giles avenue, where 3,000 persons listened and cheered, and in the Olivet Baptist church at 3100 South Park way, where 2,000 were in the audience.

Discussion of the Negro problems and the general themes when given a touch of originality brought the shouts of "Amen!" "You preach it to 'em!" "That's right!" and similar approval.

Cheers for Sen. Brooks.

Sen. Wayland Brooks, his voice almost broken with fatigue, got more of the cheers than other popular speakers.

"In this worst war that the world has ever seen, we must keep our ideals, and we'll need our friends more than ever before," Brooks said, and later: "I promised you that I would represent you. At every opportunity I did just that.

"Some men who talk about doing things for your race, but seldom get them done, sought to discredit me for my part in the adoption of the anti-poll tax amendment.

"When we're sending millions of men thousands of miles from home to suffer and die for freedom, why not utilize what we have to enjoy freedom here at home?"

Sympathetic "Amens" followed these words, and his last:

"I need you and you need me. Yes, you can count on me."

Unite in Praising Brooks.

Gov. Dwight H. Green, Attorney General George F. Barrett, Richard J. Lyons, nominee for United States senator in 1938, and many candidates, including Patrick B. Prescott Jr., for the Municipal court, and Oscar Stanton De Priest, for county commissioner, all agreed on one thing: Sen. Brooks is one of the best, if not the best, friend the Negroes have had for many a year.

"No man or woman with Negro blood who votes the Democratic ticket has any business in Illinois," Lyons declared, pounding the rostrum.

Cheers, clapping, laughter, and the ringing of cow bells resulted at the De Priest meeting.

Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, Washington, D. C., gave his first hand report of Brooks' handling of the anti-poll tax amendment. He also told the crowds that the Republicans offer them their only chance to get justice on the rent ceiling petitions recently "pushed aside" by Leon Henderson's deputy in Washington and equitable membership on rationing boards.

Rally Speakers

HOW TO AVOID ERROR IN SPLIT VOTE ON JUDGES

A TRIBUNE reader called attention yesterday to the possibility of a voter making a mistake on the separate ballot for Municipal court judicial candidates by putting a cross in the Republican party circle and then voting for one or more of the Democratic candidates for associate judge. Such a ballot, it was explained, would count only for those Democratic candidates before whose names crosses were made. It was suggested that if a voter wishes to split his ballot on Municipal court candidates that a cross be placed in front of the names of each of the 12 candidates for whom a vote is intended.

DEMOCRATS GIVE QUIET FINISH TO VOTE CAMPAIGN

Recordings Do Talking for Kelly, McKeough.

BY PARKE BROWN.

There was little activity in the Democratic campaign in Illinois yesterday.

Mayor Kelly was the radio speaker of the day. His speech was a recording of a radio talk he made Thursday night.

Rep. R. S. McKeough, candidate for United States senator, was in Chicago and according to announcements was to have spoken over KMOX, St. Louis, by remote control. But that speech also was the broadcasting of an old speech.

The nearest approach to a mass-meeting of colored voters was a 4th ward gathering at the Savoy ballroom, which in size did not approach Republican meetings in the 2d and 3d wards.

No Final Messages.

There was no final message from Mayor Kelly or McKeough. The only products of the publicity department were a release from Sen. Scott W. Lucas, who talked of the downstate situation, and another from Bailiff Albert J. Horan of the Municipal court, who discussed the state situation with special reference to Rock Island, Quincy, Springfield, and other points far outside the city.

Lucas said that he believed no more than 1,250,000 votes would be cast downstate. In the registration that ended Oct. 6, less than a month ago, there were more than 1,500,000 new registrants nearly all of whom are expected to vote. And the registered vote of nine election board cities brought the total for downstate to 1,832,261.

"The Democratic downstate front is united and harmonious in every section of the state," he said. "Obviously we haven't the organization, the pay rollers, but we have crusaders for the cause every place.

"There will not be as many votes cast downstate as there were in 1938 when 1,600,000 were cast. I don't believe that more than 1,250,000 votes will be cast downstate.

"I base this upon the general apathy among voters, the new permanent registration law, and the sending of 350,000 voters to the armed forces.

"Then, too, a factor is a complete change in the economic setup. Workers in many cases are driving many miles to their work daily, and, altho they have been given an hour in which to vote, not all of them will take advantage of it."

On this point the Republicans contend that the transportation situation now is no worse than it was at registration time.

Bailiff Horan attached no qualifications to his prediction that the Democrats will gain control of both houses of the legislature. To this statement he coupled a prophecy that the next speaker of the house and the next president pro tem of the senate will be Democrats.

Horan indicated the same assurance that seven Democrats, whom he named, will be elected to the state senate in as many Republican seats, and that considerably more than three seats in the "are certain to be captured."

NEW RULES ISSUED ON MAILING PACKAGES TO WAR PRISONERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—A simplified procedure for mailing packages to prisoners of war and interned civilians by the next of kin or designated persons was announced today by a group of government agencies. Provisions allow mailing of one package every 60 days to a prisoner of war or internee whose address has been reported by the enemy. The plan is in addition to the Red Cross system of sending packages.

Contents of each package must be listed on a postoffice department customs declaration form; packages must not exceed 11 pounds gross weight or be larger than 18 inches long or 42 inches in length and girth combined.

Packages may contain smoking accessories, toilet articles, clothes mending material, clothing, toys and games. The food list includes processed cheese, dried fruits, cereals, dried milk, coffee, tea, and cocoa. Parcels must not contain items packaged in glass, tin, or collapsible tubes, nor any medical supplies except vitamin tablets in cardboard containers. No written or printed matter should be put into packages.

VOTE REPUBLICAN TO SHORTEN WAR, GANNETT URGES

Calls Election Among Most Critical in History.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—Citing the admissions of influential New Dealers and high administration officials that the war is being lost thru incompetence in Washington, Frank Gannett, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, tonight urged voters thruout the nation to elect a Republican congress which can clean house and shorten the war.

Frank Gannett.

In a radio speech, Gannett declared the election on Tuesday will be one of the most critical in the nation's history, and urged all who can to vote. The election of a President is really of less significance than the election of the congress, in which the will of the people rests, he asserted.

Predicts 35 to 55 Gain.

All of the house of representatives and one-third of the senate must be chosen on Tuesday. Gannett previously predicted a gain of 35 to 55 or more seats for the Republicans in the house, with a gain of 52 needed to control it.

"The outcome of the election may well have a decisive effect on the war abroad—on the morale and efficiency of the millions of volunteers in our home defense," said Gannett. "Therefore it may well affect the war's duration and its ultimate cost in blood, sweat, and tears. Most of all, this election will have decisive effect on the future of our country. It may determine, beyond our power to recall, the kind of government under which we and those who follow us will live far into the future.

Cites New Dealers' Talk.

"Our supreme task is to win this war just as soon as possible," he continued. "We want our boys back home—victorious over the brutal enemies who would destroy them. We are ready and eager to do everything, to hasten that happy day of their return. We burn with indignation when any one in any way hampers the work of our courageous men in military service or delays for one minute their complete success."

Gannett then cited testimonials from men in high administration office that the war is in danger of being lost and the criticism of prominent New Dealers that bungling in the nation's capital is responsible for this tragic trend.

He quoted first a recent statement by Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], New Deal supporter who is chairman of the special senate committee investigating the war program, in the American Magazine as follows: "We are in danger of losing this war in Washington. We are in danger of losing it because of red tape and burocratic waste; because of conflicts between military and civilian agencies; because of overlapping jurisdictions and the failure to delegate authority."

"This astounding statement was not made by some Republican, but by a Democrat who, on domestic policies, has supported the New Deal," Gannett reiterated.

Quotes Tolan Committee.

He next quoted from the recent report of the Tolan committee in the house, a committee which is dominated by New Dealers. The report also declared that "this war can be lost in Washington" and recommended a complete reshuffling of top war agencies because officials "have not yet grasped the meaning of modern war," according to the text of the report as quoted by Gannett.

He then quoted pessimistic statements by three of the highest administration officials working on the war program. One of these was Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard, who said in a recent Boston speech that "we are losing the war." Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the United States army services of supply, was next quoted as follows: "We have lost ships by the hundreds and men by the thousands. We have lost the freedom of the seas, we have lost everything but a smug sense of complacency."

Ends Up with McNutt.

Continuing, Gannett quoted Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the President's War Man Power commission, as saying that, "we are beginning to see how we can still lose."

We certainly are not losing the war because of lack of heroism, fighting ability, the spirit of men in uniform, or the sacrifices of parents of these men and the millions of people doing their best to support the war effort, declared Gannett.

"The trouble lies in the mismanagement, bungling, and confusion here in Washington," Gannett said. "It is due to the inefficiency of the Washington burocrats. Bureaus have been piled up on bureaus. New offices are being constantly created, increasing the disorder. Hundreds of thousands of government employés are falling over each other under misdirection of their work and confusion of orders.

"We have five million men in our fighting forces, but we have half as many, or two and a half million, federal job holders. Think of it! A burocrat for every two men in uniform. Never was there so much red tape. As Sen. Truman put it, and I quote again from this Democratic senator, 'A large proportion of Washington makes its living by unraveling one another's red tape.'

Constant Bewilderment.

"The result is crossing of wires, one bureau head saying one thing today, another the opposite tomorrow. We have had constant bewilderment, especially in regard to rubber, gasoline, oil, and now coffee and meat. First we have heard there was plenty, then not enough. There has been constant uncertainty about the draft. There is bungling and more bungling in every department, with a fight going on all the time for power, prestige, and publicity.

"As to the war, we don't really know whether we are losing it or not. Because of censorship which is being criticized everywhere, we are ignorant of what goes on. We never have been told the full story about Pearl Harbor. News of the loss of the Yorktown was held back for weeks. The loss of the carrier Wasp was kept secret for five weeks. The loss of three heavy cruisers in the Solomons was concealed for two months. The reports of sinking of freighters in the Atlantic often are three to six months late.

"I say the American people want the news, the truth, all the truth that can be revealed without aiding our enemies. Who supposes for a moment the Japs don't know what damage they have done to our fleet? The British promptly announce their losses. Why shouldn't we? Let our newspapers have the truth. We know that morale is a great factor in fighting a war. How can we have high public morale without complete confidence in all the news from the battle fronts and accurate information of what is going on?"

Production of foodstuffs by farmers is being curtailed instead of expanded, altho every great war leader in history has declared that a war cannot be won without food, Gannett charged. The government continues to restrict the planting of wheat "while the whole world faces frightful starvation next year," he declared. The war will not be won on the food front unless the farm policy is changed, he asserted.

"Thru congress—and thru congress alone—we can compel a housecleaning," Gannett continued. "We can drive out incompetents. We can retire rubber stamps. We can implement victory. The best implement—the only implement for this purpose—is a greatly increased Republican voice in congress—and in our state governments.

Freedoms Imperiled.

"A Republican victory on Tuesday will mean that we are going to prosecute this war with more efficiency, more determination, more power and win decisively. A Republican victory at the polls will mean a glorious day for America and will serve notice on the burocrats that this war will not be lost in Washington, but will be won by a great united nation, resolved in deadly earnest to protect our freedoms and save America."

The very freedoms we are fighting to protect are imperiled by encroachments on these liberties at home, he warned, citing the threat against freedom of the press thru the government's suit against the Associated Press, and threats against freedom to criticize the government.

"He who offers honest patriotic advice must not be smeared and made the victim of unjust attacks," said Gannett.

All Are Registered from Single Hotel.

Vote fraud investigators last night reported to Bernard S. Black, state superintendent of lodging houses, that poll lists contained the names of scores of men registered from the Legion hotel, 20 South Desplaines street, who are not now living there, and some who never did live there. The colonization of floaters was suspected.

One disclosure was that the hotel, a flop house in the 27th ward, had listed on its election affidavit the names of 15 men of whom it said: "No room at present but claim voting residence here." The hotel also submitted to the election board the names of 72 persons who have since moved, but who, on the official lists, are still classed as eligible voters.

Many Unknown at Hotel.

Black was told that 22 names on the election board's poll sheet of eligible voters having this address were not on the hotel affidavit. The election board list also contains the names of 43 persons unknown to the hotel manager and two hotel clerks and not found on any of the hotel records.

The hotel employés coöperated with the investigators, Black said. They stated that they were told by some of the registration officials to list on their affidavit the names of the men who claimed the Legion hotel as their voting address.

The election commissioners are to be asked today to guard against illegal voting in that precinct, Black said. The board was taking steps of its own to guard against other forms of vote frauds and was arranging for the delivery today of ballot boxes and voting booths to the various polling places.

Deliver Ballots Today.

At 4 o'clock this morning 53 trucks were to report to the election board's warehouse at 4617 Broadway where ballots will be loaded on them. The precinct registry books will be picked up at the city hall. Ballots and books are to be delivered at the homes of one of the three judges in each precinct—the judge having been selected without previous notification.

It was explained that secrecy is maintained to prevent any attempt to steal the ballots. Stolen ballots might be used in chain voting, election board officials said.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said preparations had been made for thousands of watchers and challengers to be on hand to insure an honest election. Richard J. Lyons, member of the state tax commission, sent a telegram to Jarecki urging that judges and clerks be instructed to require any man suspected of attempting to vote fraudulently to show his draft registration card.

Signatures Are Compared.

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, Republican member of the board, said she didn't believe such action necessary. She said the first thing a prospective voter is asked to do is sign a card and the signature is thereupon compared with the signature on file under the permanent registration system.

If the signature compares, Mrs. Reinecke said, the identity of the voter is established — that is, he proves himself to be the person registered. Lyons said his plan would trap persons who have registered under false names. If an election cheater's selective service registration card does not contain the same name as appears on the vote register, he should not be permitted to vote, Lyons contended, and in addition the suspect should be arrested and turned over to federal authorities.

Lyons urged that all groups interested in honest elections pay particular attention to the tallying at Tuesday's election. He said that frustrated plans for fraudulent voting might bring on ballot box stuffing or falsification of the count in some wards.

G. O. P. ENTRIES AHEAD IN STRAWS OF FIVE TRADES

A private poll of citizens in different occupations was released yesterday by Loyd C. Larson, Republican candidate for county clerk, after the figures, which show every Republican candidate mentioned leading in percentage, were carefully checked and rechecked against possible fraud.

Police voted for Brooks, 33 to 9; firemen, 13 to 5; milk wagon drivers, 47 to 10; street car employés, 41 to 15; and cab drivers, 50 to 24.

Haddonfield, N. J., Nov. 1 (AP).—The proud parents of a husky navy chaplain were twisting the dials of their radio today hoping to hear the song, "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." Not until last night did Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Forgy of Haddonfield learn that their son, Lieut. Howell Forgy, 34 years old, former Muskingum [Ohio] college football star, had revived that famous fighting phrase at Pearl Harbor.

Wife Didn't Know.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 1 (AP).—Mrs. Howell Forgy said today she had heard of a chaplain who uttered the phrase "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" during the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor, but didn't know her husband was the man until the other day. Mrs. Forgy, formerly of Lexington, Ky., said she hoped her husband would have the opportunity soon to see his firstborn child, Michael Morgan Forgy, 3 weeks old.

MACHINE'S BLUFF METHOD TO GET VOTES ASSAILED

Bungling Burocrats Are Attacked by Cross.

Further patience on the part of the American people has ceased to be a virtue, Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross said last night in a radio address.

Bungling of the war and the "bluff and bluster" attempts of the Kelly-Nash machine to force people to vote Democratic drew the main portion of Cross' criticism as he summed up his reasons for a Republican victory next Tuesday.

American youth on fronts all over the world are fighting and dying with courage and heroism, he said, but the people at home—the voters—must ask themselves the question: "Are we letting those boys down?"

Must Face Ugly Truth.

"Let's be realistic and face the ugly truth," Cross said, "for I accept the view of Woodrow Wilson, a reputable Democrat, who as President during the first World war said: 'We do not need less criticism in time of war, but more. It is hoped that criticism will be constructive, but better attack than autocratic repression. Honesty and competence require no shield of secrecy.'

"From the beginning," Cross continued, "official Washington has been a political madhouse. Chaos and confusion and woeful lack of leadership have characterized the blundering activities of an ever expanding burocracy."

He recalled the Truman committee of the senate which investigated and criticized the administration and the report of Justice Roberts of the Supreme court on the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Burocrats Weak and Arrogant.

"Our situation has only gone from bad to worse," Cross said. "One scandal after another has marked the entire course of our war effort as administered by a horde of weak, vacillating arrogant burocrats."

Delay in the production of synthetic rubber, mismanagement of raw material allocations, the handcuffing of men of action like Kaiser and Higgins, the builders—those are crimes of the New Deal administration, Cross charged.

"As a result of all this wholesale bungling, we have now reached a critical stage," he added, "in which further patience on our part ceases to be a virtue. It seems almost providential that we're at this time going to hold an election and do something about it.

"The coming election may well be regarded as the most important we have held since the founding of our republic. Indeed, it may mark the turning point in our delayed march to victory."

ALL THE RUBBER U. S. NEEDS SEEN IN TIMBER WASTE

Vast Tree Scrap Could Be Made Into Alcohol.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—From the United States forestry service today came estimates of waste in America's bountiful timberlands which might be employed in the war effort. Theoretically, at least, the scrap from lumbering operations could be converted into 1,800,000 tons of synthetic rubber, more than enough for the military and civilian requirements of the united nations, and, according to this same authority, a substantial portion of this theoretical capacity is practical.

Private industry, devoted to winning the war, is turning to the woodlands as a source for rubber and alcohol as a result of impending shortages of petroleum and foodstuffs. A threatened oil shortage, brought home by the fuel rationing, was reported by a senate inquiry 10 days ago, and the scarcity of farm labor is seen as a threat to the food supplies. Petroleum, grains, and molasses are used for alcohol and for rubber under the present government program. Rubber is made from alcohol or petroleum.

Process Used in Last War.

The computations by the forestry service, based on processes of making alcohol from wood which were used by two American plants in the World war, have been used continuously in Sweden for the last quarter of a century and are now being used extensively in Germany. Waste wood is hydrolyzed, fermented, and distilled. [Hydrolysis is a chemical process of decompositoin involving addition of the elements of water, induced in commercial operations by the presence of a dilute acid.]

Under American methods, 20 to 25 gallons of alcohol may be obtained from a ton of soft wood and 10 to 14 gallons from a ton of hard wood. A German process, no secret in America, produces 60 gallons of alcohol from a ton of wood.

Lumber production in America last year was approximately 30 billion feet or, roughly, 90 billion pounds. The forestry service estimates that from tree to lumber two-thirds of the wood is wasted. At this rate the annual waste would be 180 billion pounds, or 90 millions tons. At only 20 gallons per ton, this would produce 1 billion 800 million gallons of alcohol a year.

Used for Motor Fuel.

Alcohol is needed for explosives and as a solvent as well as for synthetic rubber. It may also be used with gasoline as a high test motor fuel. Three-fourths of Sweden's annual prewar output of between 7½ and 8 million gallons of alcohol from wood was consumed in internal combustion engines. Indianapolis speedway racing automobiles burned alcohol with gasoline.

Used entirely for rubber, this theoretical yield from the country's forest wastes—1 billion 800 million gallons—would make 1,800,000 tons of tire material a year since it takes about 1,000 gallons of alcohol to make a ton of rubber.

These figures do not include another practical and substantial source of forestry rubber—the distillation of waste at paper pulp mills now poured into lakes and streams. The Tribune company, thru its subsidiary, the Ontario Paper company, has perfected this process and, as a contribution to the war effort, has made the development available to the entire industry. The capacity of the paper mills to produce alcohol is estimated as 90 million gallons a year, enough to make 90,000 tons of rubber.

Stepped Up by Distilleries.

America's output of alcohol, stepped up by the recent conversion of gin and whisky distilleries, is estimated at 275 million gallons for 1942 and 500 millions for 1943. The portion that is coming from Hawaiian molasses on the west coast and from domestic molasses on the gulf coast—during the reported sugar shortage—could not be ascertained at the War Production board here. It was said, however, that liquor distilleries, which use mainly grain, would account for 225 million gallons.

The relation of this alcohol production to the farm labor shortage is shown by department of agriculture figures. It takes .4 of a bushel of grain to make a gallon of alcohol and, according to the department's statisticians, it takes 41 man-minutes of labor [one man working 41 minutes or 41 men working one minute] to grow a bushel of wheat and 54 man-minutes to grow a bushel of corn. At this rate, for each 100 million gallons of alcohol from these grains, enough for 100,000 tons of rubber, would require 40 million bushels of grain—27½ million man-hours of labor if wheat is used and 36 million man-hours of labor if corn is used.

Dutch Anti-Nazis Fire Warehouse Used by Nazis

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP).—Aneta, Dutch news agency, learned that a warehouse used by the German army in the Netherlands town of Blomendaal had been set afire by anti-Nazis. The agency said this was disclosed when the German organ, Deutsche Zeitung in Den Niederlanden, published an announcement of the local burgomaster offering 1,000 guilders for information leading to the arrest of the incendiaries.

Meet Bond's new Overcoat "champs"
Their names—Newton Fleece, Sussex Cheviot! Their record—"K.O." every time out. Coats that'll stand up under the rigors of war-time wear, and come back swinging for more. Big and brawny as a Northwoods lumberjack. Jaunty as "Yankee Doodle" himself. Colorful as real "champs" should be—colorful, yet conservative. Depend on subdued Grenade Greys, Bark Browns and soft Camel-Tones for that. And here's the payoff—every one of these handsome overcoats is Rochester-styled and tailored. If you want a true definition of superior quality, that's it! All this is only a pale carbon copy of what you'll actually see—at Bond's, and in your mirror. It's a pleasure you shouldn't put off any longer.

JAP SUBMARINES OR PLANES—ALL ALIKE TO YANKS

Patrol Pilots Sneak Up and Sink Them.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED PACIFIC BASE, Oct. 5—[Delayed].—Even routine search missions in the reliable navy Catalina flying boats have their moments.

For Ensign Gale C. Burkey of Madrid, Ia., it was catching a Jap sub in the moonlight and almost certainly sinking it after a low-level bombing attack.

For Lieut. Francis C. Riley, Winfred, S. D., it was sneaking up on a Jap four engined patrol plane and shooting it down in one slashing surprise assault.

"I was just thinking we had a good chance of seeing a sub if any were on the surface," said Burkey, who's 24 years old, "when my co-pilot, Lieut. [j. g.] William Geritz, Vallejo, Cal., sighted this one in the moonlight. It was just off our starboard bow, and we were at about 800 feet.

Two Charges Hit Sub.

"We went down over the top at between one and two hundred feet in about a 45 degree dive. He was moving slowly, heading for the harbor, when we unloaded all depth charges in a stick. Two hit along the bow and others landed about 50 feet away. I turned as soon as we dropped them, and we could see the charges going off and his nose sticking up as tho he were going down by the stern.

"When the water all settled the sub settled with it. He either made an awfully fast crash dive or we sank him, and we all felt we got him."

A few days before it was Burkey's turn to be the hunted. He had sighted a Jap carrier, three cruisers, and a destroyer, and reported their position when fighters began taking off from the carrier's deck and racing thru the almost cloudless sky.

Seek Cloud's Protection.

"We started for some small cumulus clouds for protection," Burkey said, "and just as we started to enter them the first two fighters were on our tail. We went thru the clouds so fast they were no good at all, so there was nothing to do but go low for as much protection as possible.

"We went down just above the water, where they couldn't dive and couldn't come up from below, and after 15 minutes two more fighters joined the first two. They made about 75 runs, mostly one at a time, and chased us for an hour, scoring 12 or 15 hits. One man got a bullet thru his trouser leg that nicked his ankle, and another had the sight knocked off his machine gun. We knocked a few pieces off one of the Zeros, and finally they all gave up and we gained the safety of the clouds."

Burkey found his plane low on ammunition and oil, and with the regular radio transmitter's generator burned out.

"Due to these facts," his formal report of the incident concludes, "I deemed it necessary that we return to our base without continuing our search."

Sneaks Up on One.

Here's Lieut. Riley and his moment:

"This," he says wryly, "is the one I sneaked up on, not the one that sneaked up on me.

"We had just finished eating and were flying along fairly close to the water when we spotted a plane between the horizon and the clouds about eight miles ahead. I assumed that it was a Jap flying boat and went up to 2,500 feet. As soon as we were close enough I went up to about 3,100. He was at about 500 feet and apparently hadn't seen me. My intention was to attack if he didn't see me and not to if he did, since attacking isn't our job.

"We closed rapidly, and as we got nearer I nosed over and started picking up speed. I got in quite a good position on his starboard quarter and told the men not to open fire and give us away with long range shooting. We were within four or five hundred feet when he started shooting, and I immediately told the boys to open up.

"The bow gunner got in a very good string of hits in the engine and the waist gunner fired at the waist gunner in the Jap plane, then shifted his fire to the engines. As we passed over the tunnel gunner got in a few, and as we got over I turned so the other waist gunner got in a few.

Japs Take to Boats.

"My aviation pilot [F. F. Kinseler of Oakland, Cal.] said:

"'He's on fire! He's on fire! He's landing!'"

"As they settled in the water we fired a few rounds to make sure they didn't put the fire out or shoot back at us. In a short while one wing burned off and fell in the water, and then one of the gunners said he saw people in the water, so I told 'em to hold their fire. Then either the oil or gas exploded and we circled until there was only a burning spot on the water and smoke that went up to 2,000 feet. We thought the Japs were in small rubber boats when we left—seven or eight of 'em."

WOMAN PICKS BROOKS AS BEST GUARDIAN OF 5 FIGHTING GRANDSONS

Mrs. Philip Hesse.

A gray haired grandmother whose five grandsons are all in service will cast her vote for Sen. Wayland Brooks tomorrow. She is Mrs. Philip Hesse, 7120 Eggleston avenue, who says she has been a "dyed in the wool Republican" all her life.

"But that doesn't mean I don't study the candidates' records carefully," Mrs. Hesse, who is a member of the South Side Republican Women's club, said yesterday. "I follow all their activities. Sen. Brooks' war record and his record in the senate prove to me that he is the right man for the job. He surely will be best able to watch out for our boys."

The "boys" are: Lieut. William B. Suthers, armored tank division, Camp Hood, Texas; Officer Candidate Owen H. Gleeson, Fort Belvoir, Virginia; Capt. Philip B. Grover, signal corps, Fort Philip B. Grover, signal corps, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey; Ensign Robert E. Grover, Newport, R. I., and Pvt. Donald Grover, armorer, Camp Goodwill, Texas.

Lieut. Suthers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers, 11111 Hoyne avenue. Mrs. Suthers is founder and president of the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs. Gleeson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Owen M. Gleeson, 8127 Harper avenue, and the Grovers are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Grover, 6929 Stewart avenue.

SAYS SUBS SANK 10 TO 15 SHIPS IN ST. LAWRENCE

QUEBEC, Nov. 1 (AP).—Justice Minister Louis St. Laurent said last night that between 10 and 15 ships have been sunk in the St. Lawrence river this summer.

The justice minister said that "we are completing our effective forces and developing our navy to a point where next season we will be able to stop submarines from coming to flaunt us as they did this year." St. Laurent said he had obtained his figures on ship sinkings in the St. Lawrence from Navy Minister Angus L. MacDonald.

BUSINESS WEEK

CYCLOPS was not management material

Eyes come in pairs, because perspective depends upon two angles of vision.

The same principle works in your daily life, if you manage a business, or a department. Management-men make decisions by blending two points of view. They study their internal control records in the light of external conditions. To do this they need answers to questions like these:

Will manpower allocation complicate my labor problems?... What are the week's new Washington directives?... Will the War Production Board's plans for industrial concentration hit my business?... What are the business implications of the elections?

Giving the answers is the exclusive job of the magazine with the familiar red and black cover, that you see on most desks where decisions are made. Its highly descriptive name is Business Week.

Business Week gives perspective on business problems. Read it for help in making your own decisions . . . Advertise in it to influence the decisions of other management-men.

Business Week reaches more management-men readers per advertising dollar than any other general business magazine, general news magazine, or general magazine of any kind.

"[b] During the morning seven Grumman "Wildcats" attacked the enemy at Rekata bay. Three "Zero" float planes and two biplanes were shot down and buildings and a fuel dump were strafed and set on fire.

"[c] During the morning United States surface ships bombarded enemy positions on Guadalcanal. The cannonading lasted more than two hours and some artillery and several buildings and boats were destroyed."

Ten Miles from Field.

The scene of the attack on two destroyers which were put to flight near Tassafaronga was about 10 miles northwest of the Matanikau river, the western defense line on Guadalcanal. The Russell Islands, where destroyers were attacked, are about 30 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

The last time United States warships were reported in action against enemy shore positions was Oct. 17. This attack was followed by announcement of the loss of two American destroyers. Japanese fleet units were reported by Secretary of the Navy Knox Friday to have withdrawn from the area. This withdrawal may have opened the way for the American attack.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, said today that he believed the navy department did not receive word of the actual sinking of the second United States aircraft carrier in the battle of the Solomons until after he had made a statement Wednesday that all major sinkings up to then had been announced.

When asked about the situation today, Davis said "it is my belief that the navy didn't know until quite recently" of the actual loss of the carrier.

"Airdrome Taken," Says Paris.

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP).—The German controled Paris radio broadcast a wholly unsubstantiated report today that the Japanese had captured "the largest airdrome on Guadalcanal Island," which, if true, would refer to Henderson field.

No such claims were heard from the Tokio or any other axis radios, altho the broadcaster credited a Tokio dispatch. The Paris station has been the source of frequent unreliable accounts of war operations.

Sees Guadalcanal Saved

BY WALTER B. CLAUSEN.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Nov. 1 (AP).—Japan's first major effort to crush American strength in the south Pacific by the recapture of Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons has failed.

From a naval viewpoint, the battle of the Stewart Islands Oct. 26 [last Sunday Chicago time] turned out to be an action of attrition costly to both sides, but it proved that the most powerful forces Japan ever placed in action was insufficient to achieve its objectives, which included movement against other key American bases.

In land action on Guadalcanal, Japanese forces more than twice the strength of American defenders have failed. The enemy, with control of the air and a superiority of land troops and artillery supported by naval bombardment, has not broken the wall of steel made by American marines and army troops around a small patch of some 18 square miles.

Nimitz Is Borne Out.

While Japanese forces continue to filter down thru the Solomons in landings on Guadalcanal, American defenders of the island and Henderson air field likewise have been reenforced.

The situation, which as far as Guadalcanal was concerned only a few days ago appeared to be almost hopeless, now bears out the prophetic words of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet.

"When things look bad for our side, remember that the prospect may be, and probably is, tougher and blacker for the other fellow," Nimitz told his fighting men two months ago.

Officers who are directing operations feel today that Guadalcanal will be held against the enemy.

The attack on Japanese sea forces Oct. 26 by American units under the command of Vice Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., commander in the Solomons area, appeared to have saved Guadalcanal.

Planned Battle Late.

The Japanese naval bombardment of Guadalcanal Oct. 13 evidently was designed to cover the landing of some 20,000 enemy troops with heavy artillery and tanks, with a major land assault planned for the future.

The appearance of two Japanese naval task forces in the vicinity of the Stewart Islands and New Hebrides 13 days later was a screening action to permit battleships to move in for a second bombardment, which would serve as a prelude to a mass assault by Jap land troops.

40 JAP SHIPS FLEE

[Olen W. Clements, Associated Press correspondent now with American forces in the Solomon Islands, gives in the following story the first account direct from the battle area of the damage to Japanese sea forces detailed in yesterday's United States navy communique issued in Washington. Clements' dispatch was filed last Wednesday. Secretary of the Navy Knox on Friday said the Jap fleet "had retired from the scene."]

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS.

HEADQUARTERS, UNITED STATES FORCES IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Oct. 28 [Delayed]—(AP).—A huge Japanese armada has limped away from the Solomon Islands licking wounds inflicted on it during the last two days by the United States Pacific fleet.

At least one large enemy aircraft carrier of a new class was heavily damaged, another smaller carrier was hit and a heavy cruiser badly damaged in the fight.

American dive bombers and torpedo planes also pounded the enemy ships, estimated to have numbered from 40 to 50, which were sent from two directions to attempt a knockout blow against United States marines and army units at Guadalcanal Island.

The battle cost American forces one unnamed carrier and the destroyer Porter, both destroyed, and some damage to other warships. Personnel losses were light, however.

Come from Northeast.

The Japanese fleet came at Guadalcanal from the northeast. Two heavy task forces moved in 150 to 200 miles apart. Dive bombers from Guadalcanal and Flying Fortress planes from land bases spotted the enemy.

The advancing enemy fleet was strung out from the Stewart Islands southward to Florida Island, which is northeast of Guadalcanal, and east to Santa Cruz Islands, north of the New Hebrides. Japanese cruisers and destroyers off Florida Island were hit by Douglas Dauntless dive bombers from Guadalcanal.

One Japanese cruiser was damaged and stopped by a direct bomb hit. A few minutes later Flying Fortresses led by Maj. James Edmundson, Santa Monica, Cal., bore down on the Jap forces. An enemy light cruiser or heavy destroyer was left burning by these B-17s.

Dogfights Fill the Air.

Farther away, American carrier based torpedo planes and dive bombers began working on the Jap carriers with heavy bombs. One American pilot said later the flight deck of the big new Jap carrier was completely smashed and she appeared to be sinking.

While the air battle roared, Japanese dive bombers hit the Guadalcanal air field. The navy said five attacking planes were shot down. A few minutes later, nine Jap bombers came over, causing slight damage to the field.

Then Jap Zero fighters attacked. Our Grumman Wildcats rose to meet them. The air was filled with dogfights as the Japs were driven off.

On the ground, Jap forces attacked our marines and soldiers, but our foot troops repulsed the enemy. The marines described the action in this manner:

"The Japs attacked us and we suffered 85 casualties. Two thousand Jap bodies present a disposal problem."

Ships May Have Fought.

The American carrier which was sunk was first attacked before noon Oct. 26 off Santa Cruz Island by 26 planes. The carrier was heavily damaged, but was taken in tow. A short time later enemy planes returned. This time the carrier was hit below the water line and began to list. The men were taken off and the carrier sank a few minutes later.

No indication has been given that Japanese and American surface ships made contact, but they may have since the battle extended over a wide area.

Today [last Wednesday, Chicago time], American scouting planes found remnants of the Jap fleet far north of the Solomons. The Japs were headed away from the battle area—evidently retiring for repairs or to form for another stab at retaking Guadalcanal and Tulagi Islands.

One of the Jap forces was spotted by army Lieut. Mario Sesso of New York, who was on the first scouting mission in this area. Sesso and his B-17 crew saw 14 Japanese warships and were attacked almost immediately by six Zero fighters.

As the Japs came out of the overcast, the Flying Fortress' guns opened up and one Zero spiraled to the sea. Two other enemy planes were smoking. A shot from a Zero killed Sesso's bombardier.

Dive Bomber Sees Battle.

Another army bomber, piloted by Capt. Carl Wuertele of Denver, got a glimpse of the battle. Radioman Sergt. Norman Watson of Hinton, Okla., said he saw American dive bombers working over two Jap destroyers.

"I saw a big flash and one of the destroyers burst into flames," Watson said. "Then the Americans attacked the other, which began to smoke."

Watson said the Fortress didn't tarry long in that area, for Capt. Wuertele had been wounded in the ankle in action over Rekata bay and was losing blood. The plane landed safely at its base.

YES-MAN FOR JAP WAR CLIQUE GETS NEW ASIA BUREAU

Cabinet Shuffle Indicates Army Will Rule.

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Kazuo Aoki, a minor burocrat and yes-man to Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo since the latter's Kwantung army days, emerged today as the head of Japan's new superministry of greater east Asia.

The 53 year old Aoki became the first minister of the new government department being created in Tojo's sweeping government reorganization in a ceremony in the imperial palace in the presence of the emperor and premier, Japanese broadcasts reported.

Press conference remarks by Aoki hinted that the Japanese army henceforth will not confine its interest to military affairs in the conquered territories of east Asia, but also will dominate Tokio's economic, industrial and political relations with the new empire.

Stresses Army Coöperation.

The Berlin radio quoted the new minister as stressing "the necessity of close coöperation between the government and the chief of command of Japanese forces, which was one of the reasons for forging the greater east Asiatic ministry."

"The building up of greater east Asia is absolutely inseparable from continuance of the war," he said.

The internal conflict between the Japanese military and Japanese business interests desirous of preserving a liberal, individualistic economy in the conquered territories thus appeared to have been resolved further in the direction of the army, large elements of which favor a form of army-state socialism.

This interpretation was accented by a Domei news agency broadcast which said Aoki's first act had been to create a "greater east Asia liaison committee" within his new ministry on which the army and navy will be represented. Vice ministers of other ministries, the secretary of the cabinet and the director of the legislative bureau also will be on the committee which will be headed by Aoki.

Served Under War Clique.

Aoki's record leaves no doubt that he will be amenable to the influence of the Tojo military clique. After a career in various subordinate posts in the finance ministry, he served in 1936 and 1937 as vice president of the Manchukuo affairs board, one of the government agencies his new department absorbs.

In this post he worked closely with Tojo who was then chief of gendarmery headquarters, chief of Kwantung police and chief of staff of the Kwantung army in Manchukuo. It was in the two former posts when he headed the "Japanese Gestapo" that Tojo laid the foundations of his present power by compiling inside information on many personalities in Japan's upper stratum.

Later, Aoki was president of the cabinet planning board, responsible for formulating plans to make Japan industrially self-sufficient, and in Aug., 1939, he was appointed finance minister in the cabinet of Gen. Nobuyuki Abe.

After serving as financial adviser to the Chinese puppet régime at Nanking, he was named a minister of state by Tojo last September in the same cabinet reshuffle that saw Shigenori Togo go out as foreign minister and Masayuki Tani take his place.

Togo reportedly resigned because he disagreed with plans to set up the ministry now headed by Aoki.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Coronado, Cal., Nov. 1 (AP).—Ensign William Howard Warden, 25, who had been mourned as dead, is getting acquainted with his daughter, Wilma Grace, born while he was fighting in the Solomons.

Almost three months ago Warden's fighter plane was shot down in the Solomons battle. He was given up for lost but came home to read the death notice his wife, Nola, had received.

For two days after his plane hurtled into the ocean, Warden floated in a rubber life raft. He lived on an uninhabited island for several days on rations salvaged from his plane and on coconuts. Then he sailed to Guadalcanal, where he landed four days later, but separated from the United States marines by 30 miles of jungle.

He lived in an Australian coast watcher's hut for six days. Then, aided by natives, he gradually worked his way along the coast to Henderson field, the United States air base on Guadalcanal.

M'ARTHUR'S MEN DROP 33 TONS OF BOMBS ON JAPS

Seven Ships Are Sunk or Damaged by Flyers.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 2 [Monday]—(AP).—Allied bombers pounded Japanese bases in the northern Solomon Islands with 33 tons of bombs in two heavy raids last night and were believed to have sunk or seriously damaged seven vessels, a communique said today.

The Japanese ships were attacked at Buin, at the southern tip of Bougainville Island, and near Faisi, a small island just south of Bougainville and also in the Solomons.

Bomb at Low Altitude.

The allied bombers, including both medium and heavy units, struck at the target from a low altitude in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire, but it was impossible to observe the results accurately because of weather conditions. One allied plane was lost.

Another allied bomber formation made an early morning attack on Lae, New Guinea, dropping 10 tons of bombs on airfield runways, supply dump areas, and dispersal bays.

Battle 20 Zeros.

A formation of allied attack planes, accompanied by a fighter escort, was intercepted by 20 Zero fighters south of Lae, the communique said, and during an aerial battle three Japanese planes were shot down and one allied fighter lost.

Three Japanese planes raided the allied base at Port Moresby, New Guinea, but there was no damage, it was announced.

Meanwhile, the communique said, Australian ground forces had made new advances down the northern slope of the Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea.

'SEA GUERRILLAS' SINK 2 JAPANESE VESSELS OFF CHINESE COAST

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 1 (AP).—Chinese "sea guerrillas" operating along the Fukien province coast have destroyed two Japanese transports, the Central News agency reported today. Traveling by junk in darkness the guerrillas planted mines in the path of enemy ships.

Japanese planes bombed Kienow, river port and highway junction in north Fukien on Friday and Saturday, killing 20 Chinese. The attacks were believed to have been spurred by Japanese fears that Kienow might be used as a base for air raids on Formosa. Three enemy planes bombed Kweilin yesterday.

Massed on Yellow River.

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—The British tonight quoted a Chungking correspondent as reporting five Japanese divisions have been concentrated along the north bank of the Yellow river, presumably in preparation for a new offensive along the Peking-Hankow railroad.

YANKS IN BRITAIN GET FIRST ISSUE OF ARMY PAPER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 2 [Monday].—The first edition of Stars and Stripes, a daily newspaper published by the United States armed forces in the European theater of operations to give American soldiers news from home as well as war news, appeared this morning. The paper is of tabloid size, with eight pages of five columns each. But because of the paper shortage the rest of the week except Sunday it will be limited to four pages.

The main headlines on the front page dealt with war news. The front page also carried a story by a staff reporter, Corp. Ralph Martin, on Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, headlined "Soldiers Greet First Lady with 'Ain't She a Honey.'"

On page six there was an editorial headlined "Eleanor" telling of the active part Mrs. Roosevelt plays in American life. Another editorial "Criticizing Critics," poohpoohed "so-called constructive criticism of America's war effort by all 'critics,' paid and unpaid."

Of home and sports news there was an appreciable variety from a number of American cities.

3 EARTHQUAKES FELT IN IDAHO AND WASHINGTON

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 1 (AP).—Three earth shocks, the second strong enough to frighten churchgoers from houses of worship in Sandpoint and Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, and cause a temporary shutdown of Northern Pacific railway operations east of here, were felt today in the mountain region east and north of Spokane.

There were no reports of injuries or damage.

The Northern Pacific reported its shutdown was merely precautionary and that operations were resumed as soon as crews could determine the road was free of slides.

CANTERBURY DIGS IN RUINS OF NAZI RAID FOR VICTIMS

Searchers Spend Sabbath in Grim Hunt.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Canterbury, ancient shrine of English Christianity, instead of enjoying the sacred quiet of a normal Sabbath, was hard at work today digging itself out from the ruins left in the wake of a heavy German air raid just before sunset yesterday.

Soldiers and defense workers, many of whom came from distant townships, dug thru the débris of buildings in search of dead or living victims. Other workers cleared piles of rubble away from what formerly were picturesque narrow winding streets instead of going to church.

Scan Casualty Lists.

All day long a silent crowd of grim faced men and women gathered outside the public library scanning the casualty lists for names of relatives. Authorities were unable to issue a complete list of casualties, but some observers believed the number would be small in camparison with the severity of the raid. Officials declined to permit publication of news as to whether Canterbury cathedral had been hit.

The archbishop of Canterbury was in York when the raid occurred. The dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, was at Maidstone but sped back to Canterbury in an automobile and arrived while enemy planes were still overhead.

"I am quite sure that the German bombers had taken notice of the places Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had visited Friday," he said, "and that they thought if Canterbury is able to be visited by Mrs. Roosevelt it had better have another dose."

33 Planes in Raid.

One bomb fell only a few yards from a women's voluntary service mobile canteen which Mrs. Roosevelt inspected Friday.

First reports indicated 50 planes were engaged in the raid but revised figures today placed the total at 33, all of which were Focke Wulf-190's. Thirteen planes were shot down during the day, nine of them over Canterbury.

Homes, stores, and other structures were wrecked. Eight passengers and the woman conductor of a bus were killed by one bomb. Nearly every house in one street was demolished and six inhabitants were killed there. Four were killed when a bomb hit a garage.

No raiders appeared over Britain today. During the forenoon RAF Spitfires shot up canal barges in Holland and Boston bombers blasted a factory and an air field in northern France. One fighter and one bomber were missing from these operations.

Reprisal Raid, Nazis Say.

BERLIN, Nov. 1 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Germany's big bombing and machine gun raid on Canterbury last night was "in retaliation for the unscrupulous bombing of German cities," Transocean agency said tonight, quoting a "semiofficial German statement."

Numerous houses were said to have collapsed, starting big fires. The bombers then "machine gunned concentrations of motor vehicles and railway facilities."

The bombers first struck at 6 p. m. at low level, and returned later, dropping explosives in "the burning town." Factories near Deal and Dover also were attacked, the Germans said. The bombers were said to have destroyed three Spitfires. German losses were not stated.

TOKIO PROMISED REPRISALS IF FLYERS SUFFER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—The current issue of the Army and Navy Journal said in a leading editorial that "reprisals which the Japanese people will never forget" would be carried out if Tokio punished imprisoned American flyers for alleged "inhuman acts" in their bombing of the Nipponese capital.

The editorial also praised the war and navy departments for the manner in which they released news on flyers lost in the Tokio raid and ships lost in the Pacific.

Public opinion in Japan, the editorial continued, "forced Tojo to go to the length of court martialing the American aviators for alleged inhuman acts." The Americans then were given suspended sentences. It added that the wording of the army press release on the Tokio raiders "reaching their destination" served to throw the Japs off the track of the real base from which the Tokio bombing flight was launched.

LEGION HEAD HITS YEAR'S TRAINING PROVISO IN DRAFT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—The American Legion "is unalterably opposed" to the proposal which would deny the army the use of 18 and 19 year old conscripts for combat duty until they had received a year's training, National Commander Roane Waring said tonight.

In a broadcast address Waring declared the amendment to the 'teen-age draft bill sponsored by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel [D., Tex.] would compel the army to concentrate these draftees "into separate units and earmark them as not available for combat duty until 1944."

"It is not a sound military policy to have so called élite divisions made up entirely of very young men," he continued. "It might have a very disastrous effect and in battle would probably result in these divisions suffering far heavier casualties on account of the natural daring of youth and the lack of older men to furnish the steadiness, stability and experience of battle."

Morgenthau, on Clipper, Arrives from Europe

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau arrived at La Guardia field tonight aboard a trans-Atlantic Clipper. Morgenthau, who has been abroad for about three weeks, was one of 32 passengers in the ship.

The Disabled American Veterans organization was incorrectly listed in THE TRIBUNE Oct. 25 as one of 11 war veterans' groups whose officials branded Rep. R. S. McKeough as a slacker in the first World war. The organization was mentioned as the one represented by A. W. Kuehne, who is past service officer of the Disabled Emergency Officers of the World War. George Brown, state adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans, said yesterday that his organization takes no part in politics.

TRIBUNE PHOTO SHOWS NEPHEW IN TULAGI FORCE

Mrs. L. Robert Mellin, a member of the board of education, recognized a United States marine in a photograph showing marines receiving communion on Tulagi Island in the early editions of today's TRIBUNE. He is Lawrence M. Cadey, Mrs. Mellin's nephew. She had not heard from him since Aug. 7. Cadey, who was in the battle of Midway, attended Loyola university, and enlisted here. He is a brother of Mrs. Robert Lorentz of 7641 Eastlake avenue and Miss Nellie Cadey of the Bryn Mawr hotel, and he is also a nephew of Mrs. H. O. Lindstrom of 1100 Pratt boulevard. His father is Martin J. Cadey of Delavan, Wis., where the marine was born and reared.

RICKENBACKER'S PLANE HUNTED BY ARMY BOMBERS

Search for Ace on Way to Solomons.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—Army planes en route to the southwest Pacific have joined the search for Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, war department officials disclosed today, in the hope that the missing World war ace still may be found.

Bombers and other planes headed for the Solomons have been directed to break usual formations and fan out over the Pacific south of Honolulu to cover as much area as possible.

Northbound air traffic presumbaly follows the same procedure, further supplementing the search by surface vessels which started when Rickenbacker's plane was last heard from by radio 11 days ago. The naval search was still in progress last week, but whether it continued today was not disclosed.

Not Yet Given Up.

Altho nothing has been heard of Rickenbacker and the seven air force officers and men who accompanied him since his plane reported Oct. 21 that sufficient gasoline remained for only one hour's flying, the war department has not added them to its list of missing.

Flyers have been picked up from rubber rafts after floating in the Pacific for more than a month, and Secretary Stimson said Thursday he clung to hope. Rickenbacker, he noted, was "an exception to the usual rules."

Southwest of Honolulu.

Rickenbacker, president of the Eastern Air Lines, was en route to the southwest Pacific as a confidential adviser to Stimson to make a survey of army air personnel and facilities like that which he had just completed of air forces in Great Britain.

The last radio message from his plane was received when the craft was somewhere southwest of Honolulu. In the group was Capt. Hans Adamson of the air force, who accompanied him on his survey trip to Britain.

Rickenbacker, as commander of the 94th "hat in the ring" aero squadron in France, was credited with shooting down 21 German planes and 4 balloons.

2 GALLANT YANKS TACKLE SWARMS OF JAP AIRCRAFT

One Killed Protecting Air Bases in India.

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 1 (AP).—Two American pilots flew fearlessly into an overwhelming number of Japanese planes en route to bomb United States bases in northeastern Assam province a week ago, and one died a hero's death.

The story of the dramatic and gallant interception reached here tonight. The Americans, Col. Homer L. Sanders of Houston, Tex., and Capt. Charles W. Dunning, West Los Angeles, Cal., were on a patrol mission to the Japanese base in Burma at Myitkyina when they sighted a great force of Japanese bombers and fighters. Not for a second did they hesitate.

"They fought the Japs all the way back to Assam," said Lieut. Col. Samuel Moore of New York, attached to the 10th air force. "Dunning fought for half an hour until two Jap Zeros shot him down and killed him. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Dorothy Dunning.

"Sanders, who was group commander, fought for another half hour until he ran out of gas and had to land. He escaped unhurt." Col. Sanders' wife is now living at Tucumcari, N. M.

Pilot Saves Transport.

"Both men got in some good bursts, but they claimed no victories," Col. Moore said.

Col. Moore said that the Japs ganged up on one American transport as it was taking off and shot the tail full of holes, but the pilot, Lieut. Joe Walker, of Doyline, La., managed to get into the air and he landed safely at his destination in China.

Headquarters for United States forces in China, India, and Burma today announced that a "considerable number" of Jap planes again attacked airdromes in the Assam area Wednesday, causing slight damage to ground installations.

American fighter planes destroyed two Jap planes, probably shot down another and damaged six more. No allied planes were damaged "either on the ground or in the air."

Japs Claim 53 Planes.

BERLIN, Nov. 1 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Tokio dispatches today said 53 British planes were shot down or destroyed on the ground by the Japanese air force in three raids on airports along the Burma-India frontier since Oct. 25. Five Japanese planes were shot down in the three attacks. Ninety-five Jap planes participated in the first attack.

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR ENSIGN KROPF, A VICTIM OF AIR CRASH

Ensign R. J. Kropf.

Funeral service for Ensign Raymond J. Kropf, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kropf, 1301 Boeger street, Westchester, will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at 201 Lake street, Maywood. Ensign Kropf was killed Oct. 29 in the crash of a dive bomber at Jacksonville, Fla. His parents and a sister survive. Ensign Kropf was commissioned in the naval reserve on Aug. 6 after completing training at Glenview and at Corpus Christi, Tex. He had attended Northwestern university and Cornell college at Mount Vernon, Ia.

Belgian Patriots Attack Factories Serving Germans

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP).—The Free Belgian news agency, Inbel, quoted a German communique today as saying that at least one factory guard had been killed and several other persons injured recently in attacks by Belgian patriots on factories and other facilities serving the Germans. Transport and communications services in the districts of Brussels, Liege, and Mons also have been attacked, it was said.

MIGHTY BARRAGE PAVES WAY FOR EGYPTIAN PUSH

Front Line Reporter Tells of Battle in Night.

BY FRANK L. MARTIN.

A FORWARD ARTILLERY BATTERY OBSERVATION POST IN THE EGYPTIAN DESERT, Oct. 31 [Delayed] (AP).—Bayonet-flashing British infantry smashed forward under an earth-jarring barrage last night and in savage hand to hand fighting flushed the Germans and Italians from another strong point on the El Alamein front.

The allied troops swarmed upon the shell flattened enemy position and as they continued their forward rush a stream of Nazi and Fascist prisoners began pouring to the British rear.

I arrived at this most forward observation post for an artillery battery late in the afternoon in time to see American and RAF medium bombers and Kitty bombers set the stage for the approaching night assault. This post is some distance in front of the enemy position and the attack came in from the left and the right of me.

Planes Arrive on the Dot.

Exactly on time the first large formation of B-25 "Billy Mitchell" medium bombers flown by Americans and Bostons piloted by RAF men arrived and the sand under them seemed to boil as tons of explosives landed directly in front of the target area.

The other three flights followed in the same perfect formation and let go with their bombs. The tin roof over our head rattled at the impact.

A single enemy 75 pounder meanwhile had been annoying our sector. Taking a bearing, the command post decided it must be in an abandoned pit shown on our maps so British 25 pounders took a crack at it for a few minutes.

The Job of the Artillery.

First all guns would join for the general barrage and then each battery would turn its guns to special tasks, first knocking out a path and then concentrating on individual sectors in enemy territory ahead of the advancing infantry where the enemy's strong points were.

Just before the firing began I remember hearing a man shout, "Battery ready to engage!" In the battery post officers were checking their watches with headquarters and other battery posts by telephone as the zero minute approached.

Then within 60 hellish seconds it seemed that the end of the world might be at hand. Out in front, in an area 5,000 yards by 400 yards, more than a thousand shells exploded in that brief minute.

The attack started at 10 p. m. The infantry began moving forward a few moments later. Our battery was assigned to fire on 28 positions before morning. The combined barrage reached a rate of more than 1,500 shells a minute.

Sees Infantry Advance.

Back in the command post a phone message reported five big fires, one of them believed to be an enemy ammunition dump. The heaviest guns behind were sending shells over that sounded like the laundry whistle at home.

After an officer reported that the infantry was on schedule and a little later that it had gained its objective, I returned to the observation post.

Machine guns crackled continuously, every fifth bullet being a tracer to help the gunners find and stay on their target.

Victory lights burst from time to time, indicating an objective had been reached. The moonlight failed to untangle the confusion on the battlefield. I could only tell that our troops were moving by, which meant the advance was going well.

A little retaliation came back from our shelling. After the artillery halted just before dawn Stukas [dive bombers] sneaked out to drop a few bombs in the vicinity of our guns, but they failed to score. Other enemy planes machine gunned us until sunup.

"YOU'LL NEVER BE BALD, SON, BECAUSE WE ARE GOING TO CONSULT JOHN E. WARNER"

When father lost his hair 18 years ago, he was sure that his baldness was inherited and he had no one to turn to but various quacks who offered to regrow hair on a bald head. Science has never discovered a way to regrow hair on a bald head—and baldness remains a permanent condition except in very rare cases to the unfortunates so afflicted, but rapid strides have been made by John E. Warner and his Associates in the prevention of baldness. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected if caught in time. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through the Warner method of treatment, but no case is ever accepted unless beneficial results are certain.

FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN, NOT IN ADVANCE. There is a separate department for women.

An Open Letter to the Men and Women of Plant 1 and Plant 2 Gas Mask Division

Johnson & Johnson

Friends:

Today the Army and Navy are bestowing upon you the highest award within their power—the "E" for high achievement in the production of essential war equipment.

The Army-Navy "E" is a badge of honor—not lightly bestowed. It expresses appreciation from the Armed Services of your country for your vital contribution to all-out Victory.

You men and women who made this award possible by your devotion to duty, determination and loyal effort, are working for more than public recognition.

We, who know you individually, are fully conscious of the driving force within you—the knowledge that somewhere on the broad face of the globe, fighting their hearts out for the right of all mankind to live in freedom, are grim, determined men whose very lives may be spared by the products you are making.

Their gratitude cannot be expressed in words, nor is it measured by awards. You aren't working for their applause but for their lives.

Sharing this high honor are others—many others—who are not among you. They are the men and women, no longer working side by side with us, who helped to make this award possible by their earlier efforts and achievements. Some are in the Armed Services, some in other war work. Wherever they are, we hope this tribute reaches them, to spur them, as it must spur us, to greater achievement on the road to Victory.

To you men and women of Johnson & Johnson, believing that we speak for all Americans, we offer our sincere congratulations.

THE MANAGEMENT,

Gas Mask Division,
Johnson & Johnson

To the Mother of a boy who will soon be going to war

In every war, the bravest soldiers always are the Mothers.

Only a Mother knows what it means when the boy who was her baby yesterday must march away.

But war is war—and every real American Mother fully realizes that her son must do his part to help keep our beloved homeland uncontaminated and untrammeled.

And what finer choice of a career in the service of his country could any boy make than to become a flying officer in the army? You can help much by encouraging him in his purpose, Mother, if flying is what he most wants to do.

It's easy to become a Flying Officer in the Army Air Force—even for a boy whose schooling is limited. No special formal education is required as a condition for admission to the course in pilot training for Aviation Cadets.

A boy simply needs good eyes, good health, average intelligence. The age requirements are not less than 18 nor more than 26.

As an Aviation Cadet your boy will receive $75 a month while training. He will be well fed, well clothed, well housed and get a $10,000 insurance policy—all at the Government's expense.

He graduates with the Silver Wings of a Flying Officer, proudest distinction in the Army. His pay can be as much as $327 a month.

Your son can obtain full information without obligation simply by calling at Room 283, Old Post Office Building, Clark and Adams Streets, Chicago, Illinois. Encourage him to do so if you feel he wants to fly.

All This YOUR Son May Have . . . .

As An Army Aviation Cadet:
- $75 per month, plus $1 a day ration allowance
- FREE uniforms, clothing, medical care, quarters, and equipment.

REDS PUSH AHEAD IN 2 SECTORS OF STALINGRAD LINE

Nazis Again Score Gains in Caucasus Battle.

(Map on page 12.)

70

tack in the big battle of Stalingrad, made advances both in the northern and southern parts of the city yesterday, but the Germans again forged ahead in their offensive on the plains of Nalchik at the foot of the Caucasus mountains, the soviet midnight communique said today. Stalingrad was under siege for the 70th day.

The Germans launched an attack in the northern factory district of Stalingrad in an attempt to regain the initiative, but the communique said an enemy regiment was thrown back and the Russians counterattacked and "occupied several enemy strong points."

"In the southern sector of the city's defenses," it said, "one of our units broke thru the first line of German trenches."

Several Hundred Nazis Killed.

Several hundred Germans were said to have been killed during the Russian attack, while soviet artillery and mortars were reported to have dispersed and partially wiped out two regiments of enemy infantry.

Northwest of Stalingrad, on the German left flank, the Russians continued to consolidate their positions and carry out reconnaissance raids. No changes in the situation in this sector were reported.

On the Black sea front, northeast of the port of Tuapse, the Russians again were attacking. One soviet unit was said to have captured a strategically important height, killing about 300 Germans.

Farther up the coast, in the area of Novorossisk, Russian marines carried out a raid behind German lines, killing about 100 Germans, destroying six blockhouses and some ammunition and supply dumps.

Strike Powerful Blows.

But the center of gravity of the widely separated Russian battlefronts was the high Nalchik plains at the foot of the 18,000 foot Caucasus mountains where the Germans were striking powerful blows on the approaches to the Georgian military highway across the mountains, less than 60 miles away.

The communique said that in one sector the Germans had succeeded in driving a wedge into soviet positions and that the Russians had retreated to new positions after protracted fighting.

The military press went beyond this, however, and reported that the concentrated fury of German troops, tanks, and dive bombers had forced the Russians into further retreats at two places.

The Germans were thrusting at Ordzhonikidze, where the mountain road winds thru 16,000 foot gorges for 100 airline miles to Tiflis, from whence the Germans could fan out east to Baku and its oil treasures, or west to Batum near the Turkish frontier. But between, the Caucasus range is piled deep in snow and studded with strong Russian defense points.

Step Up Aerial Activity.

Russian planes stepped up their activity in both the Nalchik and Stalingrad battles. In the Caucasus, Red bombers raided enemy reserves moving to the front in an effort to hold off the enemy until Russian ground forces could stabilize the fluid front. At Stalingrad, Russian planes bombed the German front and rear contributing to the slackening of Nazi operations.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said the force of German attacks at Stalingrad had dropped off considerably in the number of troops and tanks engaged and in intensity. This was attributed to grave German losses without compensating ground gains. In two days, Red Star estimated German losses at 2,000 dead and 10 destroyed tanks.

CLAIM ATTACKS REPELLED.

The Germans said they overran Russian positions west of the Terek river near Nalchik after crossing several rivers. Nearer the Black sea, further soviet strong points were claimed in the Tuapse sector and Red counterattacks were reported repulsed. Nothing was said of fighting inside Stalingrad, but the Germans said Russian counterattacks were resumed without success south of the city.

North of Stalingrad, the Germans said they crushed several Russian battalions which tried to cross the Volga. Near Astrakhan, at the mouth of the Volga, 13 trains were reported bombed. The communique said nine large transports, tankers, and freighters were set afire or sunk on the Caspian.

Report 3 Nazi Officers Killed in Lille, France

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—The Moscow radio, heard by CBS, reported tonight that two grenades thrown among a group of German officers in the streets of Lille, occupied France, killed three officers.

REDS PLAN NEW WINTER THRUST, BERLIN ASSERTS

BERLIN, Nov. 1 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—There are "more and more indications that the Russians are planning to launch a second winter offensive on the eastern front in order to wrest the initiative from the hands of the German high command," Transocean News agency said tonight.

In a commentary on the military situation Transocean said German reconnaissance had discovered the Russians were concentrating fresh ground forces and air strength at several points on the central front, west, northwest and southwest of Moscow. The ground forces were said to include at least two army corps—one a special formation known as the "Stalin corps" and another an armored corps consisting of motorized brigades and a rifle division.

"The soviet air force in the central part of the western front likewise has received reinforcements which must be regarded as considerable," Transocean said, adding that about 200 planes were reported to have been transferred to these sectors from the north.

TURKEY IN DANGER OF ATTACK, INONU WARNS COUNTRY

Tells Parliament War Is Close Now.

ANKARA, Nov. 1 (AP).—Ismet Inonu, president of Turkey, in an address at the opening of a special session of parliament today, said Turkey stands in danger of attack.

President Inonu.

"Turkey is closer to war today than at any time since the present world conflict started," Inonu told the legislators in the course of an address on the state of the nation.

The parliament, he warned, must give serious consideration to a possibility that Turkey might be attacked after having succeeded in remaining neutral for three years.

Freedom, Turkey's Policy.

"With the war spread over every quarter of the globe one begins to understand that political institutions founded on domination by a single power cannot be maintained," the president said.

Freedom for every nation, big and small, is the aim of Turkey's foreign policy, Inonu continued.

The year 1943, he said, would see "greater and crueler battles," and he could detect no disposition on the part of any of the belligerents to quit.

Loyal to Alliances.

He asserted Turkey would remain loyal to her alliances and would follow policies aiming to strengthen national security.

Turkey in the coming year will continue her neutral "national policy both internally and externally in a straightforward manner and will defend this policy energetically," the president said.

"We will follow our national policy, remaining faithful to our pacts and friendships and taking every precaution not to be drawn into some entanglement against any country."

De Gaullist Sub Sinks Ship in Norwegian Fjord

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP).—A "Fighting French" submarine was reported today to have slipped into a Norwegian fjord, sunk a large German supply ship with two torpedoes, and damaged another which had to be beached to avoid complete loss.

THE WRECKERS.

The end which the Communists seek is the dictatorship in which all the traditional sanctities of home life, all the freedoms, all religion, and all private property will be outlawed and destroyed. That is the goal and the war can provide the opportunity to reach it.

The Communists recognized from the first that the Republican party must be rendered impotent if the plot is to succeed. The Communist strategy calls for such a disorganization of the nation's economy, such a cleavage along class lines that the people, in despair, will accept the revolutionary leadership. Accordingly, months ago the smear campaign directed against Republicans was started. The Communists knew that the New Deal party would be helpful to the revolutionary cause. The Democratic leadership had repeatedly shown that it had no faith in the willingness or ability of the citizens to coöperate in the war effort. The imposition of rationing and a host of compulsions and restraints, many of them unneeded, was the New Deal's method. It is also the Communist method. The revolutionists, led by Browder, hope that the people of this country will have become so conditioned to government by the burocracy during the war that they will not too strongly resist the Communist tyranny when the moment comes to impose it.

After the war there will be a difficult period of reconstruction. The Communists are confident that the New Deal will seek to retain the controls it now exercises in the name of war emergency and that economic disorganization and widespread resentment will be the unavoidable consequence. Those are the conditions which the agitators must have if they are to seize power. The strengthening of the Republican influence in congress can thwart all these plans. That is why the Communists plunged into the campaign months ago. They know that a Republican congress will speed the victory and by promptly releasing the energies of the people of this country after the war will minimize the distress of reconstruction. It is because the Communists want turmoil and misery that they oppose the Republicans.

The Communists have no scruples, of course. Their doctrine demands the destruction of religion and of the ethical principles which sprang from it. They believe in dishonesty as a policy. They would destroy the home, the church, the free press, and free assembly, and they would close the courts to the citizen. They pose as American patriots tho they take all their policies from abroad.

There is nothing in the recent record of the Communists in this country which should occasion surprise. They are playing the game today as they have always played it—without scruple. What should and does occasion surprise is that the Democratic candidates have shamelessly accepted their support.

AMERICANS DO NOT SURRENDER.

A propaganda poster, circulated by one of the numerous federal agencies which conceive their functions to include the stimulation of morale, pictures an American as a prisoner in a Nazi camp. It was considered, no doubt, that this would arouse anger and dissipate the "complacency" over which the boondogglers of Washington are so concerned.

It is a highly undesirable poster, even leaving aside the fact that the number of Americans in German hands can probably be counted on the fingers. The picture implies that Americans surrender. They do not. The only considerable number of our troops who are in enemy hands were made prisoners after they had fought themselves to exhaustion and after they had been abandoned by the authorities in Washington. That can hardly be called surrender.

THE PURPOSE OF PAPER RATIONING.

The American and Canadian governments have frozen the production rates of paper mills as a preliminary to further reduction in paper production and rationing.

This is the second attempt to ration paper. The first was the phony paper shortage of last spring. The housewives of the country exploded that fiction within a few weeks. They dug up so much wastepaper that within a short time dealers refused to buy it. Talk of a shortage evaporated, and with it the burocrats' hope of rationing.

Now it is said that the latest move is designed to conserve labor, power, transportation, and materials. The program does not make sense. There is no shortage of pulpwood for paper; the cutting of the wood is the winter occupation of northern farmers who would otherwise be idle until spring plowing. In the paper mills themselves the ratio of labor used to the volume of the product turned out is one of the lowest in industry. Nor does paper machinery require a significant amount of raw materials for its maintenance.

The proposed rationing of paper—rather, of newsprint paper—obviously is nothing but another attack upon the freedom of the press. It is designed to put the burocracy in a position to coerce newspapers, and to punish or destroy those that expose its blunders or resist its tyrannies by denying them the paper necessary for their publication.

The weakness of the assault upon the Associated Press was amply demonstrated by the replies of the AP and THE TRIBUNE to the anti-trust suit designed to subject the news services to government control. Despairing of destroying the free press and the free government that depends upon a free press by this method, the administration is on a new tack.

It has brought pressure on the Canadian government to limit the production of paper. This it has been able to do because lend-lease and other war obligations of that country and the British empire to the United States have given our administration the whip hand. The course dictated to the Canadians is as injurious to their own economic interests as it is to freedom on this side of the border. It would not be adopted by them if they were free agents.

The facts in the matter are so plain that the American public, and certainly American newspapers, will have no difficulty in seeing the truth. The newspapers will be weak indeed if they do not react vigorously against this attempt to destroy them.

MacARTHUR TO THE RESCUE.

The news that the Japanese fleet had retired from the Guadalcanal area, at least temporarily, coincided with an announcement that Gen. MacArthur's long range bombers had flown a thousand miles from Australia to deal out heavy damage to Jap surface units in the northern Solomons. An aircraft carrier, two large warships, and a fourth ship sustained the punishment of these air blows.

It is significant that MacArthur's air force resumed operations over the Solomons just after a news report reached this country that for almost three months he had been frozen out of direct participation in the Solomons campaign. This dispatch, written from Australia by Jack Turcott, New York News correspondent, presumably was passed by both the Australian censorship and MacArthur's own censors.

Between last April 21 and Aug. 1, Turcott stated, MacArthur's bombers struck at the Japs in the Solomons 25 times. Then the navy moved in and put ashore a marine landing force, and no more was heard of MacArthur's planes over the Solomons. It had been accepted at MacArthur headquarters that the Solomons operation was a "navy show," and the general, strictly delimited in his zone of operations by divided command which placed a navy admiral in charge next door to him in New Zealand, evidently felt himself bound to stand aside and let the navy gain glory in the Solomons.

After the navy and marines went into the Solomons Aug. 7 MacArthur's air assistance was confined to raids on the provisional Jap base at Rabaul in New Britain, which apparently was considered within his sphere. The raids of his airmen were heavy and repeated, and undoubtedly choked off a good deal of Jap shipping going south to the Solomons. In 31 raids 320 tons of bombs were dropped, sinking at least 15 warships as well as large cargo ships, damaging at least 20 other ships, and resulting in the destruction of more than 100 Jap planes.

Not, however, until the American position in the Solomons had grown desperate, and not then until press reports had indicated how MacArthur was being hampered by the restriction of divided command, and, further, not until the general had felt it necessary to issue a statement disavowing any Presidential ambitions in the future, were MacArthur's bombers sent back into the Solomons. Who was holding him back and why?

The circumstances all suggest that political considerations had hamstrung our ablest military leader because his popularity and the faith he commanded among the American people were resented. All that was ever suggested by any one was that Gen. MacArthur be given the military authority and the resources to conduct a winning offensive against Japan. The "MacArthur for President" campaign would seem to have existed more in the fears of the New Dealers than anywhere else.

If the strings have been loosened so that MacArthur's airmen can help to save the beleaguered garrison on Guadalcanal, it is at the price of a quitclaim on his future, which would have been in the hands of his fellow citizens in any event, and not in his own. What the general has already been able to do may have tilted the balance in the Solomons by giving us time to get thru supplies and reënforcements, and to bring up air and naval forces necessary to thrust back the Japs.

While most of our strength has been diverted from the Solomons to Africa, Britain, Russia, and everywhere else on earth, MacArthur devotes his slight resources to a gallant effort to rescue the sailors and soldiers on Guadalcanal. And to gain liberty to do it he first had to satisfy the little men that he didn't want to be President.

Editorials of the Day

KAISER ON COMPETITION.

[New York World-Telegram.]

Henry J. Kaiser has reduced the man hours of labor in constructing a 10,500 ton victory ship from 900,000 to 375,000. That's how the 10 day record was set. He expects to reduce the man hours to 300,000. And here is his most interesting and significant comment—that he doesn't expect to hold the record.

"I don't think we will be out in front very long," he says. "I certainly hope not. This is something America can do. It is America. That's what we live on—free competition, something we have on all our enemies. And that is how we will beat them. We constantly devise new means of producing with less work so we can produce more.

"For example, right now we have a cement plant producing five million barrels a year. We have every method and time saving device available and are constantly advancing. Even if Japan furnished labor free for a competitive plant we could still compete."

Stressing that costs are lowered in ratio to the competitive system's ability to reduce the man hours required for building a product, Kaiser warns of industry's tendency to depend on "help from some one, or from government, or protection," and he also warns of the deadening influence of monopoly.

Free play of the competitive system, unhampered by government subsidies on the one hand or monopolistic privilege on the other, is indeed the American way. And Kaiser, with his 10 day 10,000 tonners, is the living example of that.

BUROCRACY'S ARMY.

[Idaho Statesman, Boise.]

The flood that frightened Washington undoubtedly failed to clean out one well anchored burocrat. The President asked flood controlers to spare "neither money nor effort" to protect the city, and that must have worked magic, because it is well-set routine, the unlimited money being particularly expendable.

Really, the place needs a strong detergent that will wash away the deadwood and hangers-on. It's likely hopeless to expect improvement during the war, pity that that is, but right afterward we expect the voters, their craws full of New Dealism, to loose the flood gates. A current report states:

"The United States now has 2,571,500 men and women on the federal government pay roll . . . and 3,017,632 working for state and local governments. . . . Total burocracy: 5,589,132—or about a half million more than now serve in the armed forces."

Observingly reported Congressman Mulroney, Oklahoma:

OVER THE COFFEE CUPS.

Now is the time for all good men to begin brushing up on the lore of coffee. Talking about it will be a consolation when we sit in miserly enjoyment over our one cup a day to keep the yawns away.

* * *

The world-wide use of coffee was started by Mohammedans in Arabia and Egypt. Their religious services were long and tedious, and they discovered that this drink was a devotional antisoporific. [We would be proud of this magnificent phrase if we had not borrowed it from an encyclopedia.] Therefore coffee drinking annoyed the clergy, who claimed that the stuff was intoxicating. A religious book we have never read called the Koran is said to prohibit this indulgence. Thus we learn where the prohibition movement started.

* * *

We once knew a man who would not touch a drop of liquor, but every 15 minutes or so he darted into an armchair restaurant for what he called "a scoop of Java." He did not live to a ripe old age.

* * *

Before the Michigan avenue bridge was built the most characteristic thing about the old site of Fort Dearborn was the smell of roasting coffee. Its source was a coffee merchant's establishment on the present location of 333 North Michigan avenue.

* * *

The world's championship for coffee drinking has been awarded by researchers to the inhabitants of Ardennes, a district in northeastern France. It was their custom to take ten cups after dinner, and each cup had a name and a quality of its own. Their names were:

Café, Gloria, Pousse-Café, Goutte, Regoutte, Surgoutte, Rincette, Re-rincette, Sur-rincette, and Coup de l'Etrier. [This last one may be translated as "stirrup cup."]

Café was coffee with milk; Gloria was coffee with brandy instead of milk, and the others contained increasing quantities of alcoholic drinks.

* * *

Coffee, gambling, and literature were boon companions in London during the Georgian period. See the history of coffee houses.

EARTH'S GOLDEN GOWN.

Against the dull gray autumn sky
Great pyramids of gold mount high,
And flakes come gently floating down
Till all earth wears a golden gown.
The mountain ash, the poplar tall,
Elm, locust, maple, birch, and all
Their kin give freely to the store.
At last they stand upon a floor
Of varied shades of molten gold—
A joy and wonder to behold.
At eventide come boys and men
To rake the gold in heaps, and then
The bonfires gayly glow by night,
Whose pungent smoke is pure delight.
At dawn, the gold—alas, alack—
Is but a little mound of black.
But some there are a bit more wise,
Who keep this wealth dropped from the skies
And hoard it in some nook a spell,
Till Nature, who does such things well,
Has worked her magic alchemy.
Then, after seasons two or three,
To Earth, our mother, they restore
The riches hers by right once more.

Another Good Guy Leaves Town.

Honored Linemaster, contributors, and both of my public: I deadhead into a Texas town a couple days ago ready for a bath and a couple yards of hay when I gets a wire, "Come to Chi imm."

So I comes to Chi imm., grabs a Chicago haircut [them cow town haircuts are weird things], goes to the boss' office and throws in my hat. The hat don't come back, so I know the boss is out or I'm "in," so I meekly steps inside and says:

"Did you send for me, boss? I see by the papers that State street is all fixed up now; saw a picture of sailors actually walking down the middle of the street."

"Yes, I sent for you, and State street isn't what interests you now, son. Market street will be your locale for the next few years, so grab a hunk of choo-choo Frisco bound, and git outa here permanent!"

So the wheels are singin' clickety-clack on the railroad track and Chicago gets farther away every clickety. I wonder does they have Tribs in Frisco? Wonder if Uncle Looie or Incunabulus might be out there in the service? Wonder if the 15 contribs I know will miss me? Mr. Mac and Mr. Devlin and the Boss' Gal will stay in Chicago until spring and then they will never see snow again except when they gaze at the high Sierras. Wonder what a black-out is like? Imagine me bein' homesick when we ain't passed Fort Madison yet.

Does any of you get to San Francisco, bring a Trib withya and just ask for

LETTER TO A "VETERAN."

(Inducted Nov. 3, 1941.)

Twenty-three when you left for war,
A boy, just starting to meet his fate.
A boy who but two short years before
Had entered manhood's supposed estate.

Just a boy when you went away.
A year of hardening discipline, then
Out of the storm-winds, out of the fray,
Our "boy" has emerged a "veteran."

What can we say, not said before,
To mark your "anniversary"?
Your own words, laughter-spoken, soar
Over the land and across the sea:

O, valiant one, we trust that it's so!

Need I remind you of the next-to-the-last page of E. M. Forster's novel, "A Passage to India" [1924], where his chief Indian character cries out: "Until England is in difficulties we keep silent, but in the next European war—aha, aha! Then is our time." H. H.

PHYSICAL THERAPY IN CHRONIC AILMENTS.

CHRONIC disease is our chief destroyer of efficiency. It takes a tremendous toll, exacting not only suffering but undermining earning power. In this connection, we think of those insidious maladies which creep on slowly and which demand more and more of the patient's time, effort, and money to make life worth while.

MINERAL SPRING

It would be difficult to estimate the total volume of disability which may be charged to arthritis. It is such a universal malady—particularly in the north temperate region—that scarcely any one past the age of 60 will fail to be affected to some extent. Then, there are damaged kidneys, blood vessels, and other vital parts. Their owners, for the most part, are doing pretty well but ofttimes they lack the vigor necessary for the accomplishment of important tasks.

Naturally, as life's span lengthens, we will encounter more and more of these ailments. But this does not signify that we should surrender to their ravishments. Recognizing that a battle is on, every means at hand must be employed to slow down the invader or vanquish him utterly.

In managing these disorders, emphasis must be placed upon the healing influence of watering places, of baths taken at home, sunlight [natural and artificial], of heat in its various forms, of massage, and of certain electric currents. Natural mineral springs have been known for generations to possess restorative properties. Elimination is increased via the skin and the bowel, the circulation is flushed, and boatloads of toxins are thus washed away. With many individuals, there may come a time when the resistance will be increased to the point at which the trigger factor in arthritis, for example, will be banished completely.

The old fashioned "water cure" of two or three generations ago has been forgotten in our rush toward vitamins and the sulfa drugs. Physical remedies must regain well deserved recognition. They have never had a fair chance to demonstrate their full possibilities. If we accomplish nothing more than the rebuilding of the vital fluid, this will be of great value. Especially when coupled with a carefully regulated diet and moderate exercise, this therapy offers much.

Too few of us are willing to make a persistent attack. We wish to recover overnight from a disease that has been advancing for years. If its progress has been gradual, we may expect its retreat to be equally deliberate.

There is such a thing as autointoxication altho the term is misused frequently. A bowel may become so wearied from abuse that it will rebel with vigor. Poisonous products may be absorbed instead of nutritious elements. In other words, the colon may have lost its ability to discriminate. In such cases, prolonged immersion in a warm [not hot] bath [30 minutes to one hour] exerts not only a sedative effect but hastens the departure of toxins. Such a procedure is an aid to better health.

SLEEP IS SLEEP.

H. D. writes: You stated recently that sleep before midnight is no better than sleep at any other time. Yet this theory is believed by many. How about it?

REPLY.

There are millions of workers on the graveyard shift. They seem to be just as healthy as those who are off at 4 or 5 p. m. and who have plenty of opportunity to go to bed at 9 p. m.

No. In this connection nurses may prefer the night shift, as it permits their hours of recreation to fall in daylight.

The heart, lungs, and liver do not care much about the hours of rest—just so they are plentiful.

FORESEEING VISION.

Mrs. W. writes: I am nearsighted and so is my daughter. She is engaged to a nearsighted man. Should they have children, what may be expected in the way of vision?

REPLY.

Shortsightedness is present in about 2 per cent of all newborn babes. It should not, therefore, be considered congenital. The defect is likely to increase as age advances, particularly if the eyes are used for close work. Altho there will be an hereditary tendency, the abnormality may not be in evidence. Should it develop, corrective measures may be adopted.

RESTORATION.

J. L. writes: In your recent article you stated that iron should be taken for a few weeks after donating blood. Has this plan been adopted generally?

REPLY.

If it has not, it should. A recent editorial in the British Medical Journal emphasizes the value of iron in returning the hemoglobin to normal. The statement is made that when ferrous sulfate is administered in proper doses, the red coloring matter is replaced eight times as quickly. Furthermore, the recovery period is shortened.

RAISIN LOVERS.

G. H. writes: We are very fond of stewed raisins and use about four tablespoonfuls daily. Is this harmful at the ages of 60 and 73?

REPLY.

LARGE BONED.

N. O. writes: What is acromegaly?

REPLY.

A disorder of the pituitary gland characterized by overactivity. Enlargement of the bones of the face, hands, and feet ensues frequently. Occasionally the condition accompanies giantism.

SHARING ESTATE.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died in November, 1941. He left no will. Case is now in probate. I am the eldest of the family and was appointed administratrix with bond. I was asked to name all living sisters and brothers, which I did. Two brothers have not been seen or heard from for over 17 years, but one does write; the other deserted the family and never writes and has changed his name.

When told by my aunt of my father's death this brother said he wanted no part of his money but [1] said it could be paid to his other brother.

2. Can I as administratrix ask to have this money divided between all other sisters and brothers?

3. I have a letter from a lawyer in Canada where he lives stating his wish.

G. H. J.

1. If he will execute an assignment to his brother, you should honor the assignment. If he refuses to coöperate in any way, you should pay his share to the county treasurer.

2. Not on the bare facts stated. See 1.

3. The mere fact that he "wishes" something is not enough. You should have a definite writing for your protection.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SAVINGS ACCOUNT.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Sixteen years ago at the time of my birth a dollar was deposited as a savings account at a bank for me. Recently I went to this bank wishing to withdraw same and was informed that the dollar was charged off, due to the fact that the account was too old.

2. If this is the general procedure I cannot see the fairness in an incident of this sort. S. B.

1. The Illinois limitation period on contracts in writing is 10 years. Hence your rights would appear barred.

2. Some banks would not assert the statute of limitations defense where the amount involved is substantial but where only a dollar is involved the bookkeeping costs, etc., make it hardly worth while to bother with the item.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RIGHT TO ESTATE.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My sister, deceased, had been married twice. Her first husband died and the second still lives.

1. This sister left a will giving the house which was her own property from her first husband and herself to me. She left $100 to the second husband on sale of the property. They were together two and one-half years and lived in the house of this man, who also has property. After her death I paid all hospital bills and kept up the house, etc.

2. The second husband did not let the deceased wife share in any of his property but he wants to share in all her property. I now have a buyer and would pay off his $100 but [3] he insists that he is entitled to a third.

4. Is that so? A. K.

1. Her surviving husband could renounce the will and take instead his statutory share.

2. The law permits this.

3. Rights depend in part on what probate steps can be taken and whether the husband has made an election.

4. Probably yes.

1. The American sport that has been handicapped by the draft laws of another country is Baseball Football Hockey Bowling.
2. Marathon, Hastings, Blenheim, and Saratoga have what in common? All are Seaports Capitals Decisive battles Race tracks.
3. Which state borders on only one other in this country? Florida Texas Washington Maine.
4. Which one of these civilians is coöperating most patriotically with the soldiers at the front in defending American democracy? The person who Knits sweaters Studies first aid Displays the flag Votes for able congressmen.
5. Recent research seems to suggest that the eating of animal flesh other than muscle tissue helps to prevent cancer. Of the four recommended organs below, which is rated first in value? Brain Pancreas Kidney Liver.
6. Tomorrow is one of the most critical election days in American history. You are entitled to one point for each correct answer to this True-False problem.
   T F [a] Tomorrow 96 United States senators are to be elected.
   T F [b] The membership in the national house of representatives is 435.
   T F [c] A United States representative's term of office is six years.
   T F [d] A United States senator's term of office is two years.
   T F [e] The immediate will of the people is more likely to be expressed by the representatives than by the senators.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

THE MEN WHO ARE LOSING THE WAR.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Your front page editorial about giving MacArthur command this morning strikes a responsive chord in the minds of many of us who have viewed with increasing apprehension the blundering conduct of the war in the Solomons.

How long will we have to put up with the bumbling, inefficient 20 per cent secretary of the navy [$15,000 from the United States, $60,000 from his newspaper]? How long will crackpot New Dealers, political hacks, and dictator minded radicals be permitted to sabotage the war effort under the plea of maintaining social gains? Isn't it about time to place the direction of the war effort in the hands of those who will concentrate on winning the war?

There is just one way to do this, and that is to elect to congress men who will be something more than mere rubber stamps; men who are more interested in winning the war than in further curtailing the liberties of the average citizen. The only way to accomplish this is by sending to congress men who will ruthlessly uncover the blunders and dictatorial policies which are now retarding the conduct of the war.

If Japan is permitted to consolidate its gains in the southern Pacific, regardless of the outcome in Europe, we will be in for a long bloody war, and the cost in men and money will be tremendous. Let us find out why men are being poured into the British Isles, Africa, in fact everywhere except where real results can be obtained, while MacArthur is given little or no assistance in the area where real results can be obtained by an offensive supported by all the men, planes, tanks, and guns which are now diverted to side shows. If the average citizen can be brought to realize how critical the situation has become, I believe that we will be able to get rid of a lot of those who are now deliberately sabotaging the war effort. OBSERVER.

FOR A BALLOT-BOX REVOLUTION.

Kenton, O., Oct. 17.—While the citizens of the United States still have the right to vote, and there is still time to do this, let us all engage in a silent revolution on election day, Nov. 3. Let every intelligent voter cast his ballot against every legislator who has in any degree allowed the legislative function of the federal government to be annulled in even the smallest manner. Let us be done with the "Bread and the Circus" idea and show to the next generation that we are not willing that they shall march to the crack of a dictator's lash.

READER.

RECOMMENDS AN INDELIBLE PENCIL.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—I hope you can warn the people to bring an indelible pencil to the polls with them on Nov. 3, and to mark each candidate individually for whom they wish to vote. Otherwise, these "patriotic" Democrats are likely to do much cheating. They realize, or should, that defeat is ahead, and, from what has gone on during this campaign, they will stoop to anything to regain the votes they are going to lose.

ONETIME DEMOCRAT.

CONTRAST IN CAMPAIGN LITERATURE.

Crystal Lake, Ill., Oct. 24.—It is refreshing to note the clean campaign literature sent out to the voter by the Republican candidates, as against the Winchell type used by the Democratic candidates. Yes, Mr. Brooks, we're for you 100 per cent around here. FRANCES B. EHLEN.

UNITY THRU COUNTERPOISE.

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 30.—It boils my American blood to hear the bombastic, unprincipled mouthings of the mayor of your city and the way he takes advantage of a wartime situation by trying to get the public to infer that whoever lines up with any political faction except the Kelly-Nash outfit is at least in the same cheering section with the axis.

The French statesman, Jules Ferry, once suggested that in order to stay united a great nation should try to stay disunited. His paradox points to a truth which is too often overlooked by the prophets of nationalism—namely, that any volatile mass, when it grows large enough, will get out of hand unless there are forces operating from different directions to keep it stabilized. This law of counterpoise does not restrict itself to the universe of nature alone. It holds for the social structure as well.

I seem to recall some court ruling that it is slanderous and libelous to call another man a Nazi or a Jap. If this is true, then the American people have a case against Mayor Kelly and his whole smug crowd. A. E. CAMPBELL.

THE NEW DEAL PEACE.

Freeport, Ill. Oct. 29.—Study Mr. McKeough's record and you will find that the kind of peace he wants is a New Deal peace. According to the New Republic, which is his friend, he was a New Dealer before Franklin Roosevelt. He is even accredited with being the father of the purge. He has persistently favored reading out of the Democratic party all who oppose the New Deal.

We might as well face the fact now that if Mr. McKeough and his friends are permitted to control the peace conference we shall have a repetition of the disastrous results that followed the sabotaging of the London economic conference by the same crowd. A just and lasting peace that will in no way minimize our obligations to other nations will be much safer in the hands of men like Sen. Brooks—men whose patriotism has been proved on the field of battle rather than in the political caucus. SQUARE DEALER.

RESENTS ADAMOWSKI'S SLURS.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—As an American citizen, born here, and of Polish descent, I resent people like Ben Adamowski telling people how to vote and trying to smear a man who kept his word—Sen. Brooks' only sin. Where is this fighting Pole now? Is he in the trenches fighting for America and the land of his ancestors? No. He is out smearing a true patriot.

I wonder if Ben is still getting paid $6,000 a year as an attorney for the election board?

Never before, but now a Republican.

LILLIAN PULASKI.

"YES" TO THE BOSSES; "NO" TO THE PEOPLE.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—In a transcribed speech yesterday, R. S. McKeough said that all Democrats on the ballot are pledged to go along with the President. The truth is out! The Democrats must check their brains outside, and once inside, they must keep nodding: Yes-yes-yes. With that pledge, their vocabulary will consist of two words: "Yes" to the President, and "No" to the people.

A REPUBLICAN.

HOW THEY MISS HIM.

Skokie, Ill., Oct. 29.—A large billboard sign on the Outer drive reads: "Our soldiers need Raymond S. McKeough for United States senator." My observation on that is: The soldiers need McKeough about as badly as they need cooties.

WHEN you shop for shoes or slippers take a tip from the trade itself, now in Chicago attending the National Shoe Fair. Before they invest millions of dollars in stocks these buyers come to the big market place where offerings are complete. You follow this sound shopping method when you make the Tribune your guide to style and values in footwear.

Because the Tribune enables retailers to extend helpful shopping service to so many more people, department stores and specialty shops place more than twice as much shoe advertising linage in the Tribune as they place in any other Chicago newspaper—and more than they place in any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

To get the most in style and value, to make sure you have the widest selection from which to choose, make the Tribune your footwear shopping guide.

ELEANORS MEET; ONE IN RED CROSS, OTHER ON A TOUR

Two Mrs. Roosevelts Get Together in Britain.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on page 12.)

AN AMERICAN CAMP IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, Nov. 1.—The two Eleanor Roosevelts—the President's wife, who has been sojourning here as a guest of royalty, the American embassy and the army, and the late Theodore Roosevelt's daughter-in-law, who has been busily administering the Red Cross Service club—met today. It was their first meeting since six months ago in New York, and each said she was delighted to see the other.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr.

The women are cousins, but politically their two families have been far apart. The ex-President's daughter-in-law and her husband, Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., have been dubbed the Oyster Bay, N. Y., "out of season Roosevelts."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's motorcade, burning many gallons of gasoline on her jaunts over the English countryside, came to the door of an old house where Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. supervises for the Red Cross.

Escorted by Army Officials.

The latter momentarily dropped her task of planning entertainment and preparing food for soldiers and greeted her visitor, who had an escort of United States embassy and army officials including Maj. Gen. John C. H. Lee, commander of the service of supply in the European theater. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. was trimly dressed in her blue-gray Red Cross uniform while Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt wore a black coat and raincoat.

After saying how glad they were to meet again, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. inquired how her mother-in-law, the ex-President's widow, was convalescing in America. Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt said the older woman's condition seemed satisfactory.

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt then greeted soldiers who sang "Home on the Range." She told them it was the President's favorite song and that she wished he were with her to hear it.

Attends Church Services.

When she had left the soldiers returned to their pleasant chores of devouring doughnuts and drinking pop.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt attended services at a United States army post church and inspected the barracks, mess halls, kitchens, bakeries, and military hospital.

Among Chicagoans she met during the day were Capt. John Hoffman, 5316 Drexel boulevard, former senior surgery resident at the Cook County hospital; Pvt. Ben Shapiro, 659 Roscoe street; Pvt. Haward Shutan, 5129 Harper avenue; and Second Lieut. Joseph M. Boyle, 471 Hillside avenue, Glen Ellyn.

Other midwesterners she met were Miss Mary Jean Daugherty of Fergus Falls, Minn., and Mrs. Mary Black Fraser of Algona, Ia., military welfare service workers; Miss Mary Skeoch of Marquette, Mich., supervisor of a convalescent ward, and Corp. Don Bencher of Peoria, Ill.

'WE LEAD WORLD IN PRODUCTION,' IS BRITISH BOAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Proclaiming Britain's productive war effort on the home front as one of the greatest achievements in British history, Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison in an address at Cardiff this afternoon boasted that British shipbuilding workers show an output twice as great per capita as those of any other country.

At the same time, he paid tribute to America's industrial accomplishments and added that even among friends and allies a little healthy rivalry was stimulating.

Morrison disclosed that following the August holiday month when production sagged slightly, practically everything but ships and aircraft rose by 14 per cent in September, and the output in weight of aircraft rose 18 per cent, which he said meant almost six tons of aircraft in September for every five tons in August.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

G. R. S. writes: "Mother and I own a two flat building with a mortgage on it. When I go into the army, will I have to keep up the monthly payments? The taxes? There is no other income but rent from one flat and my salary."

ANSWER: The provisions of the soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act regarding mortgages apply only to obligations secured by mortgage, trust deed, or other security of a similar nature. If the obligation was entered into prior to service, and payment is made in instalments, the obligation may be suspended by a court during a Yank's service and paid off after service in instalments over a period equal to the length of time the Yank is in active service. That is, if the Yank is in service for four years, these instalments will run for an equal period after being discharged, and in addition to any unexpired time of the original contract. Interest payments also may be suspended during the Yank's service, but are added to the debt. Taxes and assessments falling due either before or during the Yank's service may be treated in the same way. The Yank may be required by the court to prove that his ability to meet the obligations "is materially impaired by the fact of his service," and the court may make such adjustments as may be fair to conserve the interests of all parties.

E. D. I. writes: "I am just past 20 and I returned my questionnaire last week and received notice today that I am to report next week for examination. Can I enlist in any other branch of service?"

ANSWER: Yes, you can enlist in the navy, coast guard, or marines up until the time you receive your induction papers.

N. S. asks: "What military laws are there, if any, relative to our boys from the U. S. A. marrying Australian girls? My son wrote me he plans to marry an Australian girl he has known only five weeks. Can he bring her back with him?"

ANSWER: Under the present law, citizenship is not conferred by marriage. To bring his wife back with him, she would have to obtain a visa from the nearest American consul.

J. L. P. writes: "I am a high school graduate, 23 years old, in good health, and my present classification is 3-A. Am I eligible for cadet officers' training in the merchant marine?"

ANSWER: To be eligible for appointment a candidate must [1] be between the ages of 18 and 23, [2] be unmarried, [3] possess at least 12 units of credits from accredited schools, and [4] be able to pass a rigid physical examination.

C. G. S. writes: "I am now employed as a draftsman with two years of actual experience. I had three years of high school and am now attending a technical college studying machine drafting and designinf. Is there some branch I could join and follow this work?"

ANSWER: If you can qualify physically, you might be able to enlist in the construction battalion of the navy. Inquire at the nearest navy recruiting office.

DOUGHERTY ASKS SACRIFICES TO ACHIEVE VICTORY

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP).—Warning America against the fate of conquered nations, Cardinal Dennis Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, called today for unity and sacrifice in the war effort and declared "we are resolved to meet, with God's help, every danger; to overcome every obstacle and to vanquish every foe."

"We must, we will win the victory," the second-ranking American prelate of the Catholic church said.

The mass was offered for victory, a lasting peace and for the repose of the souls of war victims. Cardinal Dougherty's address, a message from President Roosevelt, and a sermon by Auxiliary Bishop Hugh L. Lamb of Philadelphia were broadcast nationally and by short wave.

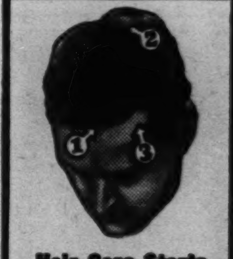
WE KNOW HOW TO REMOVE YOUR DANDRUFF SCALES

"WE forty-five Thomas hair experts know exactly how to remove those ugly, itchy dandruff scales from your scalp. We know, too, how to give your scalp that pleasant, clean, healthy feeling. We know how to bring these pleasures to your scalp, because each day we administer more than 1600 Thomas treatments. Our knowledge is based on The Thomas' experience in treating more than a quarter-million persons."

Your hair is an important personal appearance asset, and you owe it to yourself to give it the best possible attention and care. The Thomas' 20 years of successful experience endows them with unusual skill and ability to help you. You'll find Thomas treatment a pleasant, stimulating experience.

Come in today for free consultation and advice—in private. Let the Thomas expert show you exactly what Thomas treatment is—and how it works. You'll readily see for yourself why so many other persons consider Thomas "tops" in proper, hygienic hair care.



Hair Care Starts at These Points

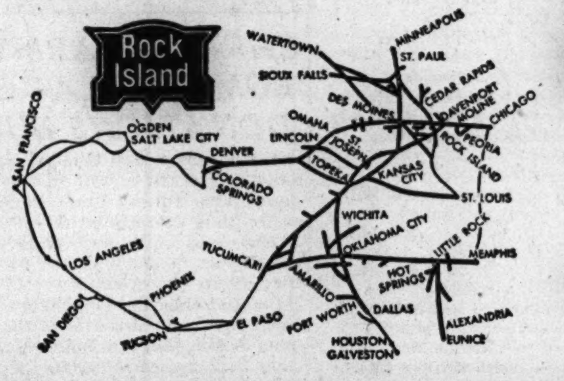
MODERN AS UNCLE SAM'S LAND BATTLESHIPS
PLANNED PROGRESS HAS MADE ROCK ISLAND ONE OF AMERICA'S GREAT RAILROAD SYSTEMS

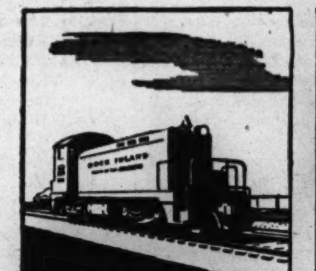
Today Rock Island is hauling millions of ton-miles of vital war freight every 24 hours. And we are equipped to carry even more! For Rock Island was prepared for war.

We were ready, because our program of Planned Progress, embracing expenditures of millions of dollars, has made Rock Island one of America's most modern railroads. That these were wise expenditures is clearly shown by our ability to rush unprecedented shipments of men and war materials to their destinations with maximum speed and efficiency.

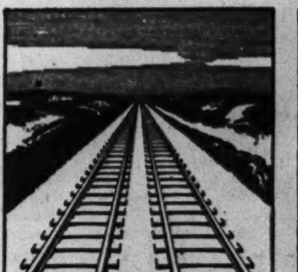
During the past six years many important improvements have been effected to make Rock Island the great railroad it is today. Among them are . . .

Buy War BONDS





DIESEL SWITCH ENGINES which, due to their flexibility and ease of operation, have simplified switching problems of vital shipping in classification yards.



"STREAMLINED" TRACK. Mile after mile of curves have been eliminated or "eased"; heavier rails, ties and ballast have been used; grades have been reduced.

NEW EQUIPMENT has been added to rush vital war shipments to their destinations. When materials now on order are received, this efficiency will be further increased.

WARTIME TRAVEL—Because of troop movements and increased travel, we urge early ticket purchases and reservations. Cancel promptly if plans change.

CHRISTEN ARMY BOMBER LABOR DONATIONS BUILT

A new army A-20 bomber, built at a cost of $100,000 contributed by members of the Illinois State Conference of Building and Construction Trades [AFL], was christened yesterday at the airport in honor of the AFL and the Illinois conference.

Before cheering onlookers, Mrs. Patrick F. Sullivan, wife of the president of the Chicago Building Trades council, smashed a bottle of champagne against the nose of the big bomber. Sullivan dedicated the plane as the weapon with which "Union Labor Salutes America's Invincible Fighting Men,"—a slogan painted on the bow.

Brig. Gen. Arnold N. Krogstad, commander of the army air forces technical schools in Chicago, accepted the bomber on behalf of the army, praising the union members for the contributions that produced it. Norman Collins, state administrator of the treasury's war saving staff, officially thanked conference members for purchases of 25 million dollars in war bonds.

OCTOBER PROVES CRIME SAFER IF WOMEN ON JURY

Conviction Percentage Is Down, Records Show.

Women predominate now on Criminal court juries, usually at a ratio of eight to every four men. This is especially true in the last month since men are being excused by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro of the Criminal court from jury service in favor of the fighting forces or war industries.

The percentage of convictions in jury trials was less in October than for any similar period in many years, according to a report rendered yesterday to Judge Sbarbaro by Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of the Criminal court. Immediately the subject of women jurors became the topic of conversation in the criminal courts, but none of the prosecuting authorities or the judges would directly accuse the women of being totally responsible in the slump of convictions.

Crowley Not Sure Yet.

The statistics provided by Bowler show that up to and including Oct. 30, 20 cases were tried in the criminal courts by juries, including one by a complete women jury. The jurors returned 10 acquittals as compared with 7 convictions; three cases ended in disagreements.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said he was not ready to give a definite opinion on the subject. However, he said that women would have to be educated in the difference between "the prankish and the criminal act." Women as a rule, he said, are too prone to forgive and forget.

Chief Justice Sbarbaro said that so far he has no kick against the women jurors. If given sufficient evidence and properly presented by the prosecution, he said, women in his court at least act as intelligently and sternly as men jurors. This is also true, he said, of women grand jurors.

Slayers Treated Lightly.

During the last month women jurors were called on to decide murder cases, among them that of Eleanor Williams, blonde slayer of Gordon McNaughton. The former "26" girl escaped with a manslaughter verdict. In another an all woman jury treated two slayers of Policeman Walter Storms with leniency. One slayer was given 35 years imprisonment and the other 14 years. The state had asked the death penalty.

Judge Sbarbaro said he was satisfied with the monthly report, except as to the poor jury conviction record. It shows that Criminal court judges are gaining rapidly on the docket, disposing of 49 more cases than were returned by the grand jury. At the start of the month 346 cases were pending as against 297 on Oct. 30. The chief justice himself disposed of 82 cases during October.

The chief justice said he is confident now that he and his five associates will be able to handle the court without the help of additional udges.

The report of Clerk Bowler shows that during October Criminal court judges returned a total of 121 convictions as compared with 26 acquittals. These were either on pleas of guilty or bench trials.

SHOW PORTRAYS NECESSITY FOR PRESS FREEDOM

The necessity for preserving freedom of the press was dramatized over W-G-N yesterday in "Mightier Than the Sword," a program based upon experiences of Stanley Johnston, war correspondent of THE TRIBUNE. The drama portrayed the fall of France after the French people had been deluded by a shackled press into believing their nation was invincible. Johnston was in France the last days before she fell.

EXCHANGE FLAGS OF U. S., MEXICO AT CHICAGO FETE

An exchange of American and Mexican flags, symbolic of international friendship, was made at a Pan-American fiesta held yesterday in Hotel Hamilton by the Chicago lodge of the B'nai B'rith.

Principal guest at the fiesta was Professor Ramonz A. Rivera, representative of the Mexican government, who came from Tlatlauqui, Pueblo, Mexico, where he is an instructor of English at the Federal Secondary school No. 1. The school has been adopted by the Chicago lodge of B'nai B'rith to foster better relations between the Mexican middle class people and the American public.

LINDA'S FIRST LOVE
9 to 9:15 A.M.
Monday Thru Friday

ARLINE BLACKBURN

There's a weird combination of wartime events entangling Linda's love affairs in this week's series of "Linda's First Love"—events that you will want to follow in every nerve-stirring detail . . . The mysterious disappearance of Captain Danny Grogan, for instance . . . the comforting arrival of the FBI . . . the question of the Barclay fortune and the hopeless love for Linda of Tom Jordan. Here is climax and anti-climax, plot within plot to disperse the drudgery of those early morning housekeeping hours.

JONE ALLISON

You wouldn't believe that a foundling baby could alter the course of so many lives—yet that is exactly what happens in this week's absorbing episodes of "Hearts in Harmony" starring Jone Allison. Affairs seem in an inextricable state—climaxed by the arrival of a strange woman named Ruth (actually the baby's mother) before truth and justice finally prevail. You can't possibly realize how entertaining a radio serial can be until you've gotten deep into "Hearts in Harmony." Heard five days a week on W-G-N, it is a tale of human happenings in which every episode strikes a new and interesting note.

Two to one you've always been intrigued by the lives of newspaper men and women—and well you might be—for no background offers more opportunity for swift, unexpected action. This week's exciting episodes of "Mary Foster" run the full gamut of human experience, not excluding murder. Every broadcast is a thrill-packed chapter patterned from life as an editor's daughter might easily find it. Heard 5 days a week with Joan Banks in the lead role, it is a tale to delight every story lover.

"NOT since a coalition of loyal citizens responded to Abraham Lincoln's appeal for national unity to preserve the Union during the Civil War have so many Illinoisans put patriotism above politics to stand by our Commander-in-Chief. Join these patriotic Republicans, Democrats and Independents by voting for McKeough. McKeough's defeat would bring jubilation to Berlin . . . His election will bring Berlin despair. NAVY'S GREATEST AIR SCHOOL HUMS ON SOUTH SIDE

The reasons why a navy bomber can be expected to take off swiftly but smoothly, release a bomb or torpedo that will strike home and explode, beat off enemy aircraft with machine guns that don't jam, and find the way back to its base by unerring instruments, are illustrated daily in a mammoth school at 87th street and Anthony avenue.

The building, which houses the navy's largest advanced aviation school in the United States, was erected two years ago at a cost of 3½ million dollars for the vocational training of Chicago's high school boys. Now its vast, modern facilities are devoted to training some of the thousands of machinists and metalsmiths who are needed to keep navy planes flying over all the oceans of the world.

Complete as a Battleship.

A tour of the school discloses it is as complete and self-sufficient as a battleship. Besides scores of shops and classrooms, the building includes a barracks, a hospital, a gymnasium, a theater-auditorium, a library, and a postoffice. Four miles of corridors run thru the structure, which covers 27 acres in the shape of an incomplete right triangle.

Eating, sleeping and studying at the school are more than 2,000 sailors and about 250 marines. In addition, there are 600 civilians who are being trained to teach primary aviation courses. By the end of the year, Lieut. Comm. Elmer L. Carlson, commanding officer, expects full capacity which means about 1,000 more students.

Most of the sailors and marines are learning primary aircraft maintenance in the "A" school or advanced aircraft maintenance in the "B" school. There also are a few courses for the future cooks and bakers of the navy who are turned loose in the school's enormous "galley." In many senses it is a real school for the youths. Last Saturday night they celebrated Halloween with a dance in the gymnasium and soon they will undertake a basketball schedule.

Practice for Gunners.

Even a casual visit to the shops is sufficient evidence that all the maxims concerning exactness, thoroness, and attention to detail have been observed. One shop is full of large plastic hemispheres under which blue denimed students are practicing aiming 50 calibre machine guns as they revolve in the turret. The mechanisms, which are demounted, are called "ball turrets" and are used in heavy navy bombers.

In another shop are rows of depth charges and 1,000 pound bombs. Here the sailors and marines learn how to load, fuse and aim a bomb, the various types, their modifications, and the different markings. Before students are graduated, Carlson explained, they are able to hoist bombs into racks and load and unload machine guns in darkness.

In several shops, students are busy taking apart and putting together electric and hydraulic propellers, then synchronizing them with machine guns mounted on the engines. Farther down the corridor, youths may be seen testing carburetors for Grumman F4F's. Each carburetor is about the size of a small automobile engine.

Precision Instruments.

Not all the shops are exhibits of whirring machines and deadly weapons. Certain rooms are full of students working over tiny precision instruments for recording the plane's rate of climb, altitude, bank and turn, and other maneuvers. Many of these students are former jewelers, Commander Carlson says.

Altogether 50 aircraft are available for students to work with. Four of them, recently shipped from Quonset Point, R. I., are in thousands of small packaged unassembled parts.

Commander Carlson emphasizes that the students need no morale building, but if they did they'd find it in their instructors, many of whom are unpublicized heroes of fighting in the Pacific.

One is Thomas W. Merritt, 23 years old, an aviation chief radioman whose home is in Detroit, Mich. He was awarded the distinguished flying cross for his work as a radio gunner in the battle of Midway. His plane, a scouting dive bomber, was credited with direct hits on two Jap "flat-tops."

Another laconic veteran at the school is James L. Shinn, 21, of Sturgis, Mich., who was Lieut. Comm. "Butch" O'Hare's maintenance man when the latter shot down five Jap bombers in five minutes. Shinn's squadron still has the record for the total number of Jap planes downed and his own estimate of Commander O'Hare is "4-0"—the supreme compliment from navy men.

GETS FIRST DAY OFF IN MONTH; KILLED BY GAS

Yesterday was Edward L. Seedorf's first day off in a month from his defense job as a construction engineer on the Inland Steel company's new addition at Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Seedorf, 46 years old, began his day by going to the garage at the rear of his home at 5717 North Menard avenue to tune up the motor of his automobile.

His wife, Gertrude, entered the garage when she saw smoke seeping under a side door. Seedorf was dead, police said, apparently asphyxiated by exhaust gas as he worked on the motor.

GLOBE TROTTING U.S. DO-GOODERS HIT BY TYDINGS

Urges They Turn Efforts to Aiding Americanism.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—Unofficial laymen such as Wendell Willkie would serve their country better by remaining at home and being a little more "pro-American than pro-this and pro-that," Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] declared today in a radio blast against globe trotting good will builder-uppers.

The senator's remarks were considered here to be among the most scathing and effective criticism so far uttered against Willkie and other "world savers" who have been complaining that the United States is not doing enough for other countries. His criticism of this trend of thought was particularly significant because Tydings supported the administration's foreign policies prior to the outbreak of war.

Losing Good Will Reservoir.

He quoted from Willkie's recent speech in which the President's bearer of good will messages to other nations declared that the United States is losing its "reservoir of good will" thruout the world and ought to do something about it.

"Just why we are losing this good will of our allies, if we are losing it, is difficult for me to understand," commented Tydings. "Heaven knows that we are in the process of raising the biggest army on the face of the earth. We already have the largest navy and are building vessels to duplicate that in size. We are already producing more airplanes than any other nation in the world.

"We are giving great quantities of weapons, planes, and equipment, under the misnamed lend-lease act, to each nation in the world that is fighting on our side. We are sending them food and, more than that, we are soon to send this great army and this great navy and this great air force to aid these nations which Mr. Willkie says is our reservoir of world good will.

Biggest Debt, Too.

"I don't know what we will have to do to get the full good will of these nations if what we are already doing will not achieve it, for in addition to all that I have mentioned in the way of bigness, we will have, when it is over, the biggest national debt of any country on the face of the earth.

"As I see it," Tydings continued, "we will have made all of this contribution in a struggle which, while world-wide and threatening all nations, is certainly of greater and primary concern to the people in allied foreign countries who compose this so-called reservoir of good will.

Urges Thinking of Ourselves.

Tydings said that all of this leads him to believe that while it is proper to think of the welfare of other nations—"and heaven knows we are doing that in a big way," he commented—it might be appropriate now and then to contemplate what the United States is doing and expects to do.

"I think it is time for many of us to be a little more pro-American than we are pro-this and pro-that. As I have seen this picture, the Russians are pro-Russians, the British are pro-British, but some people in the United States are pro-Russian and pro-British as well as faintly pro-American on many occasions," the Maryland senator declared with emphasis.

"There is a good bit of realism about this war and we will live longer, be happier, and have less disillusionment when it is over if occasionally we have the realization that we are first Americans and, by any rule I know, are citizens of the greatest, the finest, the most unselfish, the most idealistic, the most spiritually-minded of any nation on the face of the earth," he said.

Doubts Willkie Is an Authority.

"If these attributes will not take care of our reservoir of good will in the light of our contribution in more material things as well, then that reservoir of good will is not worth having. I do not believe that Mr. Willkie's three week's journey, with a short visit in each country, equips him to analyze the emotions and thoughts of the several hundred million people who make up the countries he visited.

"Further than that, as far as I am concerned, these visits of our unofficial laymen, who fly here and there about the earth, and who disgorge publicity from the various foreign capitals, like a maple tree in November sheds its leaves, would better serve the purpose of good will all around if they remained at home in the United States."

LODGE BLAST FATAL.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 1 [Special].—Franz Calmer, 55 years old, who was injured last Thursday when a compressed air tank exploded, died Sunday morning. Calmer was a member of a Shrine committee preparing for an initiation and was assisting in filling the tank when the explosion occurred.

INSURANCE FIRMS TO FIGHT BRITISH SOCIAL SECURITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Big insurance companies are preparing to assail Sir William Beveridge's social insurance proposals which are expected to be made public this month, according to the industrial reporter of the Communist Daily Worker. The Beveridge scheme will provide for a minimum pension or weekly allowance of two pounds [about $8] for a man and wife, with graduated allowances for all children after the first child.

Insurance companies are said to be particularly concerned with a proposal to include accident and death benefits, which will automatically put an end to their profit making.

The Daily Worker contends that altho there can be no quarrel with their anxiety to protect their own interests and those of their members, there can be no defense of a system which allows big insurance companies to make millions out of the poverty and insecurity of the working class.

HOW YOU CAN GET A $25 LOAN
FOR 2 WEEKS FOR 29¢
Here's a quick, simple way to get cash to tide yourself over —No endorsers or guarantors needed

WANT to get a loan quickly and without asking favors of friends? Household Finance offers a simple, private way for men and women with jobs to borrow $20 to $300. No endorsers or guarantors are ever needed.

Repay by the month— or in full at any time

You may repay your loan in monthly instalments arranged to fit your income. Or you may repay in full at any time and pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. A $50 loan, repaid in four monthly instalments of $13.30 each, costs just $3.20. A $25 loan, repaid at the end of two weeks, costs only 29¢.

See the table below for popular payment plans. All payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month. You pay nothing more. We have no hidden charges.

3 ways to get a loan

We make three kinds of loans. 1: Salary loans—for the convenience of folks who have no car or furniture on which to borrow. 2: Auto loans—a loan on your car may suit your needs. 3: Furniture loans—hundreds of families get furniture loans. We will make your loan the way that best fits your own situation.

You may get a Household loan to pay up old bills, medical or dental expenses, repairs, taxes, insurance—for almost any purpose. If you need a loan, phone or visit us today.

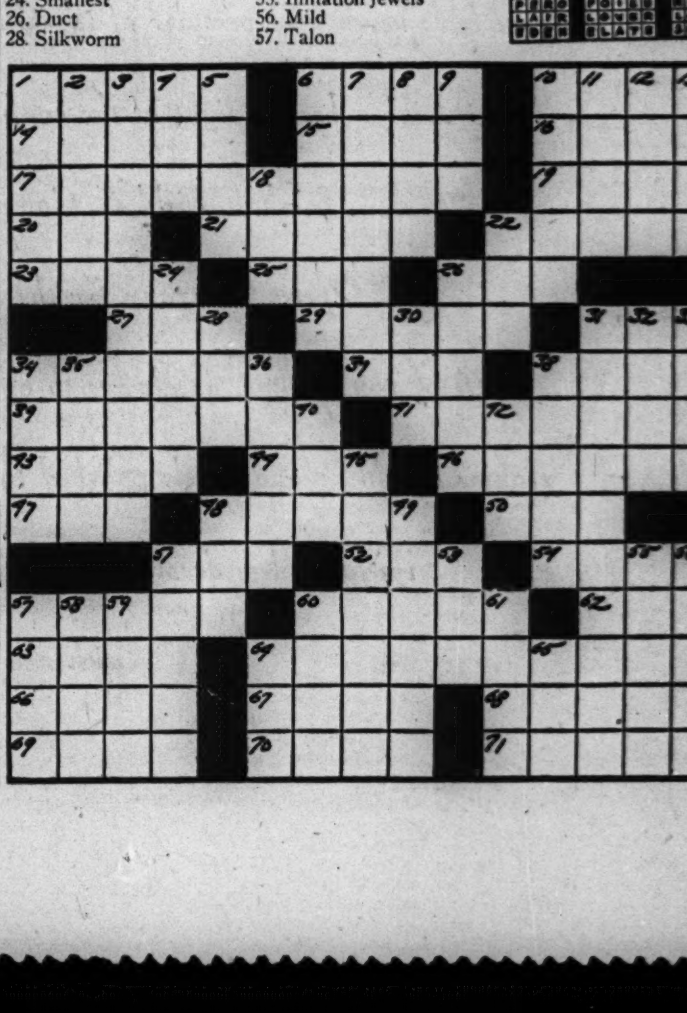
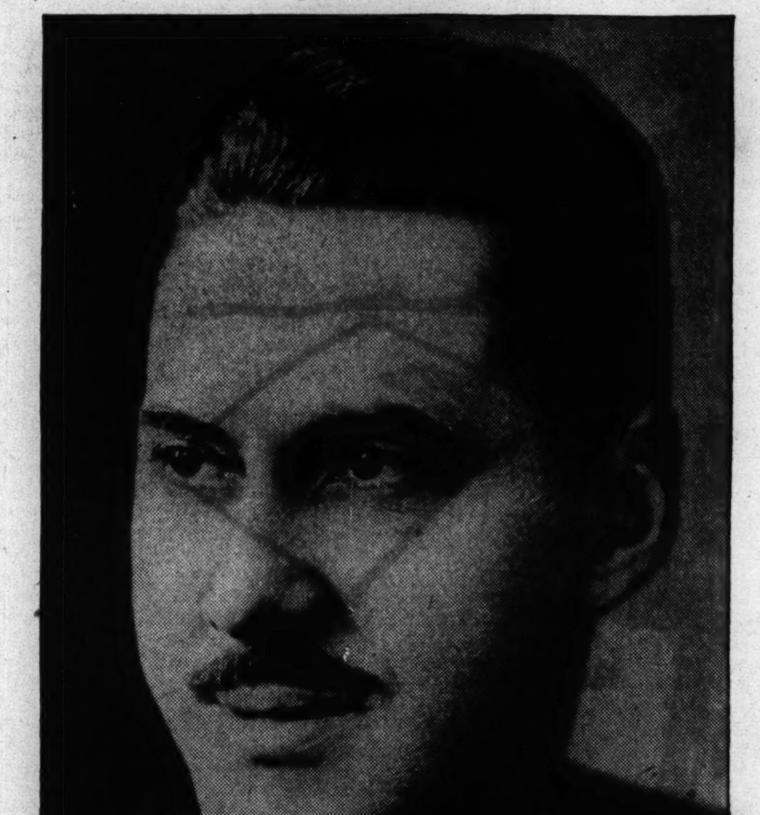
PUZZLE OF SATURDAY, OCT. 31, SOLVED





[ADVERTISMENT]

Samuel L. Workman came up from the ranks. He is a likable, friendly, kindly person. He has had business training in every known business field. He is highly regarded for his clear thinking, his honesty, his ability to get things done. He is a member of Rotary, Union League and Executives Clubs, and Chicago Assn. of Commerce. He founded the Workman Calculating and Typing Service. It is used by more than six hundred of the nation's great corporations for higher bookkeeping and statistical services. Here is incomparable ability and background to direct involved tax collection operations, to reduce to a fair basis your taxes.

Tomorrow, when you vote, look for this name and office

☒ SAMUEL L. WORKMAN—County Treasurer
AND . . . VOTE . . . FOR . . . HIM

If you'll vote for Samuel L. Workman, you'll leave the polls tomorrow with a sense of satisfaction. You can say: "Well, there's one vote for my kind of a man."

Your kind of man means: a dependable man. It means you've elected a man with the ability, the intent and the integrity to administer the great office of Cook County Treasurer to the advantage of this community, to the advantage of its people.

6 Ways to Lower Taxes
1—Eliminate tax delinquency — collect from all.
2—Adopt uniform accounting.
3—Strengthen, then enforce the budgetary laws.
4—Recommend more equitable assessment methods.
5—Recommend reduction of the number of local governmental units.
6—Regular audits of the books of the County Treasurer made by independent auditors.

Your taxes can be lowered. Don't give up. They CAN be! There are SIX ways. If you will help, they WILL be lowered!

Please, don't be careless, don't be thoughtless TOMORROW. Mark your ballot for Samuel L. Workman. Elect a man who pledges honesty . . . a man who pledges the use of business training and known executive ability in a public office.

Junior Red Cross Opens Campaign in Schools Today

The annual enrollment drive of the Junior Red Cross will be opened today in public, private, and parochial schools thruout the United States and will continue thru Nov. 15.

James T. Nicholson, vice chairman of the American Red Cross and former manager of its Chicago chapter, predicted that the present national membership of more than 14 million boys and girls and the Chicago area membership of 593,000 will be surpassed.

Junior Red Cross members in Chicago have made more than 200,000 comfort and recreational articles for the armed forces, 25,000 articles for civilian defense, and more than 40,000 garments for foreign refugees, James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, announced.

Baritone Exhibits Good Voice, but He Lacks Technique

William E. Johnson, Negro bass baritone, brought a good voice and an interesting program to Kimball hall yesterday, but not the vocal technique to do justice to either. His voice is attractive in quality, with a suggestion of shadowy depth worth encouraging, and he is ambitious enough to tackle Russian songs in the original. But his singing is a tentative business because faulty production blurs the vocal line and makes diction guesswork. Like so many other talented young singers Mr. Johnson has put the cart of performance before the horse of preparation.

BRAVO!

FOR MUSIC AS USUAL

SATURDAY NIGHT, OPENING NIGHT ... AND LILY PONS IN LAKMÉ

You have never been prouder of the Chicago Civic Opera Company than you are today, this week, this year. Like a beacon light in the confusion of war it brings you once again the eternal truth of music. Marshall Field & Company salutes you and the Board of the Chicago Civic Opera Company for the staunch beliefs that are reflected by this Music as Usual. And you'll come, as always to opening night, to Monday nights, in your best bib and tucker, with sequins sparkling and jewels polished to reflect the brilliance of the occasion. But your gowns will show a new restraint, less decolletage, for all their sweeping skirts. And the Bell Song will ring forth with new meaning as you hear Lily Pons sing it again.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Many years ago Frank Stockton wrote a story called "The Lady or the Tiger?" It left the reader guessing as to which emerged from a certain den where both had been immured—the lady, or the tiger.

"The Talk of the Town" is like it in that up until the last scene, you don't know which man wins Jean Arthur—Ronald Colman or Cary Grant. . . . Neat idea for keeping a reader's interest at high pitch.

This picture is gay, suspenseful and as talky at times as a George Bernard Shaw opus. . . . Its heavy entrée, presented on a laughter garnished platter, has to do with what is known as "the letter of the law."

Should a law always be conscientiously observed even when to do so seems human injustice? . . . Cary Grant as a fugitive and Ronald Colman as dean of a law school—later appointed to the Supreme court—fight out the subject in words and deeds—with pretty Jean Arthur siding with and against both men as occasion seems to demand.

Most of the action occurs in a small town. . . . Here, in a pretty house Miss Arthur has to let, the dean comes to rest and write. . . . In the same house hides the fugitive, escaped from the penitentiary where he's been serving sentence for a crime he didn't commit. For some time the latter's presence isn't known to the former—who grows very, very fond of Miss Arthur's "gardener." . . .

Miss Arthur's comedy, sometimes a bit too exuberant, is toned down nicely by Mr. Colman's sweet irony. The latter handles a many faceted characterization with the grand old Colman assurance and intuition. . . . Mr. Grant is a raucous—but intelligent—unbeliever, gives you—and himself—no end of a good time. . . . Other players are clever—especially that vurr' smart Edgar Buchanan.

Direction by George ["Woman of the Year," "Penny Serenade"] Stevens was as astute and photography and settings are the last word.

See you tomorrow.

Wartime Brings Women's Shoes Down to Earth

Get down off your high heels, girls, if you want to be well shod this season. Gone are the frivilous days of thin "spike" heels on your favorite pumps. "Frenchy" creations with a touch of the bizarre in daringly high 4 inch heels have disappeared.

Shoe styles are "down to earth" with low heels, members of the National Shoe Retailers association and the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers association said yesterday. The two groups jointly sponsor the national shoe fair, which will open here today. Advance styles in shoes will be displayed at the Palmer House, the Morrison hotel, and the Hotel Sherman during the four day convention.

"American women need comfortable, durable shoes these busy days," said L. E. Langston, executive vice president of the National Retailers Association of New York.

"They'll all be walking instead of hopping in and out of cars. Low heeled oxfords will be their favorite shoes. Women war workers, too, want low heels," he said.

There's still plenty of leather, said shoe manufacturers, but the government has asked them not to waste any. Consequently, they are manufacturing leather shoes in only six colors, offering a choice of russet, turf tan, town brown, white, black, or bluejacket blue. There can be no extra leather bows on shoe toes, either.

Manufacturers and retailers are happy about the new shoe styles. "Restrictions certainly are improving the looks of women's shoes, which were getting pretty wild," they agreed generally. "Simplified patterns enable us to concentrate on the fit and comfort of shoes."

Exhibits of official shoes for WAACs, WAVES, army, and navy also will be displayed at the shoe fair.

Asked about changes in men's shoe styles, one dealer replied, "We can't do do much about the men's shoes. Most of them will be changing to the official army or navy styles anyway."

Thru the Looking Glass

The skin that laps up oil the way a blotter absorbs moisture is just the one for which a delightful fluid cleanser was created. It's superlatively rich, but so beautifully blended that it isn't heavy or even particularly gooey—the consistency is just about that of rich table cream. But as a cleanser it's excellent and, best of all for the dry skinned, it has the charming quality of softening, of relieving that parched feeling and endowing the pulled, maddeningly dry skin with at least a semblance of that dewyness of a baby.

This is the kind of cleanser we think the women with paper thin, extremely sensitive skin should use a couple of times a day. It serves her well for her quick cleanups and changes of makeup because it accomplishes more than mere cleansing, and hers is the epidermis that needs all the lubrication it can possibly be given.

Being a lotion it's a mite handier to use for the quick pickup than a cream. It can be smoothed on with the finger tips if you pour a small quantity into the palm of one hand. You won't get it beneath your nail tips, which is one of the minor irritations when you want to clean up in a jiffy.

This fluid cleanser has other merits that will appeal to the woman who prefers cosmetics that are efficient but rather spirit-lifting in the way they're presented. It has a beautiful, delicate scent, is packaged with charm, and appeals in every way to the feminine taste.

Stage Notes

"Porgy and Bess," the celebrated folk opera by Du Bose Heyward and George and Ira Gershwin, opens its Chicago engagement at the Studebaker theater tonight. The title rôles are sung by Todd Duncan and Etta Moten. Among those in the opening night audience will be Mrs. Rose Gershwin, mother of the late George Gershwin; Cheryl Crawford, producer of the present revival, and John J. Wildberg, associate producer.

Restrictions upon railroad transportation will force the company of "Priorities of 1942" to ride on three separate trains in order to get from Boston to the Erlanger theater in time for tomorrow evening's opening. In normal times, a special train would have been chartered. Now that the government has banned all such special trains for the duration, the personnel of "Priorities" can obtain sleeper reservations only by scattering themselves thru three trains.

John Pollock, John Golden's general manager, was in town over the week-end, looking after preliminary details in connection with the return engagement of "Claudia" at the Selwyn theater beginning Nov. 30.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 1.—While Martin Kosleck was still in the hospital with that eye injury, Bette Davis phoned him about a one act play by Arch Oboler she wanted him to do with her. It's called "Adolf and Mrs. Runyon," has only two characters, and Bette's idea was to do a bond-selling tour and entertain army camps with it. But Warners can't spare her from the studio that long, so Bette and Martin may make it as a patriotic short. . . . Jennifer Jones, who was announced elsewhere as selected to play the virgin in "The Song of Bernadette," arrives today to be tested for the part, along with 39 others. There's a little girl named Beatrice Pearson [she was "Claudia's" understudy on the stage] who's made a mighty fine test. But when they've counted all the noses, it's my hunch that the one who'll be starred in it will be none other than Teresa Wright, who was born for the part.

Jennifer Jones.

Sure to Be Wrong.

It's seldom you hire a technical adviser to see that the background of a picture is wrong instead of right, but that's just what Director George Stevens did when he got Newspaper Man Cliff Potter for "Merry Go Round" to see that the characters don't resemble any living person in Washington today. . . . While Dick Thorpe is around Ventura looking for locations, Joan Crawford and Fred MacMurray are talking about their coming movie, "Above Suspicion." No, Joan's husband won't be in it, but he did take a test the other day at Metro, in which they "co-starred." . . . Hear Thomas Mitchell now has the inside track for the life of Winston Churchill which Warners will do. . . . Lee Tracy leaves Hollywood Nov. 7 for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., to report as a first lieutenant in the military police. He's stopping off at Chattanooga to make plans for a personal appearance at the première of his last picture "The Pay-Off."

Leave It to the Kids!

Fate plays funny tricks on you. Doris Dudley, Bide's daughter, has made three attempts to make a big name for herself in the movies. But the one who's making the hit is her son, who's Mickey Rooney's pal in "The Human Comedy." . . . Wait till you see little Margaret O'Brien in "Journey for Margaret." She's a knockout. Her mother has quite a story, too. She wanted to have a career. In fact, at one time she was a dancer. She still wears the shortest skirts on the Metro lot, but it's her daughter Margaret who's made the success. . . . Nine year old John Donat, Robert's son, just started his first picture job in "This Land Is Mine," and got the let-down of his life when he found out he had to keep on going to school, too. But he took it like a man, and said, "Well, I guess I can handle both jobs!"

Holding Up Production.

With the shortage of typewriters in our studios, Virginia Van Upp says she's been sharing hers with two other writers. And you can imagine the laugh that went up in the writers' building the other day when she opened her door and screamed down to the end of the line, "Hey Joe! Hurry up with my typewriter! I'm in a frenzy of fecundity—you know, like water over Niagara—my villain is choking the heroine to death, and if I don't get the hero in there quickly, they'll have no movie! So bring in my typewriter!" . . . One of Red Skelton's comedy writers, Jack Douglas, has written a book titled "Gags of Royal Raiment." Well, if they're good he can wear that royal raiment; if not, he'll just have to continue going around in that zoot suit. . . . Hope it's true that Olga Petrova's new book, "Butter for My Bread," will be done as a movie. . . . Did you know that Dancer Frank Veloz had recently sold a story to Esquire and is now working on a war story called "Spawn of the Sky?" . . . Maureen O'Sullivan's proud as punch over husband John Farrow's new book, "Pageant of the Popes," which sold out its first printing before it hit the book shops.

Chit-Chat.

Mimi Chandler, 16 year old daughter of Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, got in town Friday to make a test for a rôle in "Dixie," with Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour, and Marjorie Reynolds. . . . Jane Wyatt will make her first personal appearance tour with "The Navy Comes Through." . . . I understand Walter Kane will contest Lynn Bari's divorce suit. . . . Now that the Don Barrys have squelched those divorce rumors, they've moved into a brand new home. . . . While working in "The Youngest Profession" at Metro, Aileen Pringle ran into Michael Arlen and they had a grand talk-fest about old times. When he arrived in America years ago Aileen was the first woman he met. . . . Because Irving Pichel lives at La Canada and he won't get enough gas, he's going to sleep at the studio while he's making "The Moon Is Down." And that puts the studio in wrong with its insurance people!

Story of a Song.

That song, "He's My Guy," by Don Raye and Gene De Paul, which is now on the hit parade and has been sold for two pictures—"Laugh Your Blues Away," at Columbia, and "Passing the Buck," at Universal, was originally written for Helen Morgan, just before her death. The boys have been trying to sell it to studios ever since. Finally Harry James got hold of it, and Diana Shore, Ella Fitzgerald, and others made recordings of it. Then the ditty was on its way.

Parties in East Reveal Troth of 2 Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO announcement parties given this week-end in the east are of interest to Chicagoans, because the romantic news told involves a Winnetka girl and a young man from Highland Park. The engagement of Miss Ann Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin D. Jenkins of Winnetka, to Richard Prouty of Brookline and Worcester, Mass., was revealed at a gathering yesterday in Brookline. At a tea on Saturday in Summit, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Black announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Mallery Miller Boynton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Perry Boynton of Highland Park.

Miss Jenkins was graduated from Smith college in 1937 and made her debut in Winnetka three years earlier. Both she and her sisters are easterners by adoption—she has been teaching in Providence, R. I., Mrs. Willard L. Munro lives in Chatham, N. J., and Miss Janet Jenkins attends Wheaton college in Massachusetts.

Miss Jenkins' Fiance Now Serving in Navy.

Mr. Prouty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis I. Prouty of Brookline, prepared for college at Milton academy. He was graduated in 1935 from Harvard university, where his clubs were the Hasty Pudding, the Institute of 1770, and the Fox. Until he entered the United States navy he was in business in Worcester.

The Boyntons didn't go east for Saturday's party, as their son, a private first class in the army air corps, had been awaiting orders momentarily for transfer from the Philadelphia airport, where he has been stationed. His fiancée is a graduate of the Summit schools and of Lasell Junior college in Auburndale, Mass. Pvt. Boynton attended Ridley college in Ontario, Woodbury Forest in Virginia, and Kenyon college. Both his brothers, Woodward and Frederick P. Boynton Jr., are married.

Handbills Printed in Red Announce Annual Sale.

Old English style handbills printed in red are being received today in Chicago and north shore homes, announcing the annual Christmas sale of the Woman's Exchange of Chicago. The sale will be held again this year on Nov. 10 in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel, where attractive toys, Christmas cards, wrappings, and gifts for brides and babies will be among the articles on sale from 9 to 5 o'clock. An innovation this year will be gift suggestions for men and women in the service, and there will be a number of articles marked "No more stock" to give shoppers a chance to buy objects which soon will not be available.

Miss Helen Gurley and Mrs. Adele Harris Whiting are in charge of the buffet luncheon, for which reservations may be made by telephoning the shop at Superior 3969. Chairman of the sale is Mrs. James Ward Thorne and some of her helpers are Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. Stanley Keith, Mrs. Robert Tarrant, Mrs. Allyn D. Warren, Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, Mrs. Alden B. Swift, and Mrs. William M. Spencer, president of the Woman's Exchange.

Arts Club Will Exhibit Work of 13 Young Mexicans.

The Arts club has cards out for the opening of its exhibition season from 4 to 6 o'clock on Friday. The exhibiting artists will be 13 young Mexicans from the modern school: Alarcon, Anguiano, Beloff, Costa, Echauri, Morado, Gutierrez, Ledesma, O'Higgins, Pana, Soriano, Zalce, and Zuniga. The showing was arranged by Lieut. Paul Schweikher, co-chairman of the exhibition committee, on a recent trip to Mexico, and in honor of the occasion members of the Mexican consular staff are being invited to the tea, along with Pan American and Latin American consuls. Mrs. Arthur G. Cable is in charge of tea arrangements, and Mrs. George A. Kelly will "do" the tea table.

Members of the Arts club will cast ballots for new directors during the annual meeting on Thursday afternoon. Tea will be served.

Mrs. Frank A. Haskins of Park Ridge announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Virginia Gordon Haskins, to Dr. Harold Hunter Scudamore of Billings, Mont. Miss Haskins, a niece of Mrs. Rawleigh Warner of Winnetka, attended Northwestern university, where Dr. Scudamore received his Ph. D. degree. He is on the staff of the university's college of liberal arts and is studying in the medical school. The wedding is planned for December.

Miss Defebaugh was graduated from the Faulkner school and attended Gulf Park college and the University of Chicago. Her fiancé, who is stationed in Chicago, studied at Northwestern Military academy and Lake Forest academy.

Antique dealers from Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, and Pennsylvania will be exhibiting their wares this week at the second Wilmette Antiques show and sale, which opens at 10 o'clock today in the Wilmette Woman's club and continues thru Thursday. From 10 o'clock each morning until 10 at night old glass and china, early furniture, silver · pieces, lamps, copper and brass pieces and old jewelry will be on display. Among the exhibits will be a collection of 400 old food molds belonging to Mrs. John A. Clements of Chicago. Luncheon, tea, and dinner will be served on each of the four days, and among those entertaining today will be Mrs. Charles T. Morrison, chairman of the show, whose especial guest will be Mrs. Clements.

Busy Raising Money for Community Fund

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. is a member of the women's division of the Community Fund and together with the hundred or more workers in that division is busy calling on friends, acquaintances and others to contribute to the fund this fall. The women, who are headed by Mrs. William H. Mitchell, expect to raise $175,000 as their part of the nearly $4,000,000 budget needed by the fund. This week-end Mrs. Mitchell reported that the women's division had passed its halfway mark.

Letter from a Soldier to His Wife.

". . . Life goes on, even if I am not with you, even if we do not see each other for several years. Life goes on. I do not suggest you will not see me, but I do suggest that when we meet again, it come as a delightful surprise rather than as a culmination of a century of yearning. I am not with you. That is a stubborn fact. Our lives cannot be the same as they were. Certain things must be bottled up and certain energies must be spent in other channels.

"You must not brood. You should live as fully as possible. If you want to do me a favor, then you must work to be happy. If you are not happy, I know it, and it upsets me. You must laugh a lot, honey. If you will, the time will not be long. If you cry, something inside of you will die.

"I think it was I who taught you that it was your duty to be happy. You haven't forgotten, have you? I hope, honey, that you won't think of me just as your husband but as that guy who taught you that life could be swell under all circumstances. . . ."

Respectability.

The White Elephant Rummage shop here, a catchall operated for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital, is holding a party Thursday for which admission is a package of rummage. The other day the shop telephone rang and a lady with correct inflections asked the price of admission. "Rubbish?" came her horrified cry when told. "What kind of people are giving the party? Are they respectable and is it a respectable party to go to?"

Signs of the Times.

An ancient piano, with its metallic content of wire, rods, and sounding board, has been deposited in a scrap pile in Highwood. Yesterday a little Italian girl was sitting at it, her mop of black hair barely perceptible above the conglomeration of bed springs, garden tools, and radiators as she laboriously picked out, with one finger, "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

The Very Young.

Our Fashion Ed. Says, Ladies It's Dress Up Time

BY REA SEEGER.

Fashions provide not only occasional escape from wartime grimness but give a lift to the spirits, Hence there is no legitimate reason for a buying alibi. And since men in uniform have been vociferous in their demands for feminine fashions, not more uniforms, when they are on leave, it's only using intuition to dress up. Perhaps the most feminine fashions of the last 20 years are now offered in the fall and winter showings. At least the dresses and even the costumes, suits, and coats have a softer, flattering streamline, details of bows, ribbons, braid, and beadwork, to mention only a few of the accents. Color, too, plays a tremendous part in yanking you out of the great sag.

Short dress parade costumes and dresses are going strong. Suits of the slim skirt and decorative companion jacket variety are no longer merely tailored precisely and of fine materials, but the jackets have a definitely softer outline, a more flattering swank, and, with fetching fur collars, deep cuffs, or gleaming jet, or fanciful Victorian braid work, they certainly hit a new high for the dress-up look.

Some of the most effective dresses are of brilliant color with a printed or brocaded pattern outlined in contrasting beadwork. Metallics and handsome two colored brocades are striking examples of what you wear under either a bright or dark coat and these coats assume unusual elegance with very swank shawl tuxedo or exaggerated notched collars and lapels matched to deep cuffs of such superflattering furs as oppossum, mink, beaver, black fox, or the stunning contrasts of sleek moired caracul in either black, steel gray, or brown.

The Chicago Congregational club will open its 59th season tonight with a concert by the Siberian Singers, a Russian ensemble of twelve voices conducted by Nicholas Vasileff, in the Walnut room of the Bismarck hotel. Preliminary to the 8 o'clock program, Charles S. Stewart, president, will conduct a brief business conference. The club is composed of members of Congregational churches in the Chicago area. With Mr. Stewart, the officers serving this year are the Rev. Oswald S. McCall, Mrs. Walter M. Fuller, the Rev. William F. Slade and Orrin F. Nash.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Attention will be focused on women war workers on Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House, when workers at the Chicago division of Philco corporation will receive the army-navy "E" production award.

Virginia Bowden.

Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, and top ranking army and navy officers will attend and the WAACs and WAVES will, for the first time, participate in the ceremonies. A girl worker, Virginia Bowden, will accept the "E" banner for the employés.

Plans had been to hold the ceremonies at the Philco plant, but a committee of women workers requested instead that the award be made at a time when it would not interfere with production. Ninety-five per cent of the plant's employés are women.

Acting as aide to Col. F. E. Eldredge, commanding officer of the Chicago signal corps depot, at the presentation ceremonies will be Third Officer Roma A. Scott of the WAACs, and Ensign Verona L. James of the WAVES will be aide to Lieut. Alexander Maley of the navy. On the employés committee to accept the pins will be Miss Bowden, Antoinette Spila, Rose Kolpak, and Colleen Dettinger.

"Since these women workers were largely responsible for winning the honor for Philco," said Howard Allen, plant manager, "we thought it only fair to have them represent the employés in accepting the award. The committee suggested that representatives of the WAACs and WAVES be invited; and instead of throwing the plant open to visitors, thus interfering with full blast production, they elected to receive the award during their leisure period in the evening."

An interesting sidelight in the winning of the award is that more than 80 per cent of the women workers at Philco had no previous training in precision work before being employed there. Now they handle all of the company's complicated machinery,, even the final testing equipment.

The average worker is 20 years old, a high school graduate, and without previous technical experience, yet plant records show an exceptionally low percentage of rejected or faulty work. It is on the basis of this performance and the plant's training record that the army-navy "E" is being awarded.

⸻

As the plans of the Committee on War Problems develop, schools will be asked to make facilities available so that children of mothers working in war industries need not be left alone or under incompetent supervision.

It was unanimously agreed at the committee's recent meeting that it is equally important to supervise school age children, as well as preschool youngsters. The rising delinquency rate of girls and boys left untended is one of the major sociological problems of the war.

"Local women's clubs and Rotary and Kiwanis organizations in the community of each war production plant will be asked to coöperate in financing nurseries and providing volunteer workers," said Mrs. Charlotte Cole Cooper, executive secretary of the committee. "Schools would be the ideal solution, since they are centrally located in residential rather than manufacturing districts."

Many children would be sent to these war nurseries only for the few hours when both their mothers and fathers are away from home. The suggestion also was made that an unmarried woman war worker might live with a working mother, and supervise the children in exchange for room and board.

Anticipating the problem of providing competent supervision for war workers' children, the committee will prepare maps showing where workers live in relation to their plants and what facilities for child care are available.

Dr. Ernest W. Burgess of the department of sociology at the University of Chicago has been elected chairman of the committee to succeed Dr. Ralph Hamill, and John S. Miller, a director of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene, has been made vice chairman.

⸻

There will be a meeting of the Navy Mothers club this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Medinah club, with Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, chairman of the women's division, Chicago and Cook county war savings staff, as the speaker. Other special guests will be Chaplain E. C. Andrews Jr., executive secretary of navy relief for the 9th naval district, and Mrs. Anita Tidball of the Traveler's Aid society.

One of the club members, Mrs. George Sutton, has had so much success as head of the bond and stamp booth desk at 333 North Michigan avenue [where the club is housed] that she has been given an additional assignment in the 20 North Wacker drive building.

A song was dedicated to the WOWs, Women Ordnance Workers, Inc., Hurley machine division, yesterday morning on the Soldiers of Production radio program on the Blue network. Their president, Mrs. Josephine Novak, received the program's weekly "Blue and Gray" award.

In acepting the award, Mrs. Novak told how the WOWs were started at the Hurley Machine company, where she is employed, to provide recreation and companionship for girls who have come from small towns to do ordnance work. The WOWs have grown from a group of 5 women to more than 500 members, Mrs. Novak said.

SYNOPSIS.

For eight years, Julia Hadfield has been separated from her husband, Blake, who has refused her a divorce for fear she will marry Philip Courtney, their lawyer. Two years after they separated Blake, president of the M. T. & T. Co. that failed, was shot and blinded by James Sprague, a ruined depositor, who afterwards committed suicide, according to police. Now their son, Seth, is engaged to Sprague's daughter, Elise. But after a quarrel one night, Seth gets drunk and goes to his father, who takes him down to his old office to show him something. After getting out a tin box and a bottle of Scotch for his father from the office safe and each having a drink, Seth goes out in the hall and connects the telephone. But, in a drunken stupor, he stops by Elise's desk in the same building, where she works as secretary for Bentley, controler for the receivership. There he goes to sleep. In the meantime, Blake calls Julia and Philip, asking them to come down to his office. Then he calls Inspectors Archer and Davis, telling them, if they will come down, he will show them a neat way of murder. Philip sprains his arm and doesn't arrive, but just as Julia enters the lobby of the building, Blake plunges from the eighth floor balcony to the lobby to his death. Davis and Archer arrive immediately and a careful search of the building reveals only Dan O'Hare, the night watchman, who was running the elevator at the time of the plunge, Seth, and Julia. Sybella Ford, left a legacy by Blake, and Lawson of the state insurance department, in charge of the M. T. & T. Co., ask Capt. Duncan Maclain, blind detective, to investigate. A fountain pen, loose change, a paper weight, and a highball glass are missing from Blake's office. A ball of twine, missing from Bentley's desk, is found in Blake's desk. Maclain says Blake and Sprague were both murdered and by the same man who also blinded Blake at the time of Sprague's murder. The highball glass has been replaced by a copy traced to Sybella's firm. Lawson says he ordered it made to keep inventory correct. Meanwhile Doxenby, a crooked lawyer, tries to blackmail Philip. Afterward Doxenby's girl friend, Sophie Munson, is seen with Bentley. Then Doxenby is killed by a fall from his apartment window and the missing glass is found in his apartment with Doxenby's and Sprague's finger prints on it. In the office, after hours, Lawson hears some one at the vault. He finds Bentley slugged nearby. Police are dubious about Bentley's story of some man hitting him.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

ELEVATOR SHAFT.

Archer laughed. "Capt. Maclain has another dog that same size that I'd hate to have after me. Don't let the captain fool you, Dan. He's blind, but there's nothing he doesn't see." The sergeant paused while Dan O'Hare used another key. "Did you ever find out how that front door came to be open, Dan?"

"No more than you," said Dan. "Unless the boy went downstairs while I'm on me rounds—went out and come back in."

"Well, I'll be an Orangeman's uncle!" said Archer. He took out his notebook and wrote something down. "Speaking of Maclain, Dan, his partner's in town and leaving tonight from the airport. The captain asked me to tell you that after his partner left he might come down."

"Here?" asked Dan with a frown. "Him and the little dog?"

"Who else?"

"Should I let him in, sergeant?"

"Of course."

"I have orders," said Dan, "to leave no one in here prowling around."

"You have our okay on Maclain, and two little dogs if he happens to bring them. Tell him anything he wants to know."

"That will be nothin'—for that's what I know, sergeant."

Archer clapped him on the back. "I'll run on down the stairs. I have to report back in."

Archer stopped at the elevators and pointed to the indicator of the other car still at the 9th floor. "Isn't that thing fixed yet?"

"That it is," said Dan.

"Why don't you bring it down?"

"Because 'tis better up and out of the way. Them accountants is always riding it up themselves in the day, and leavin' it unexpected on some floor. That's what broke it before."

They got in the other car and rode down. Archer paused halfway out the little door. "Don't forget about Maclain. Try to let him in quickly, Dan. Remember, he's blind."

"It's meself will run when I hear the bell."

"Good-night, Dan."

"An' the same, sergeant." Dan closed the little door and made sure the lock was on. For a while he stood staring at it, then he went into his little cubbyhole and dialed the phone.

Steam hissed gently in the basement as he started his 9 o'clock round. Dan looked at the gauge and saw that the proper pressure was on, scarcely enough to keep him warm. Mr. Bentley was forever kicking about the bills.

He took a look at the fire door. Queer now, that business of Mr. Hadfield. That fire door hadn't been opened in years before the police tried it. They had it well sealed now—little pieces of lead with twisted wires and strips across the bolts. Yet some one had slipped out somewhere, unless Hadfield had jumped or the lad had pushed him down.

Drunk, the lad was. Aye, Dan knew! 'Twas himself, a good man in years long gone, that the fiery stuff had brought down.

The vacant desks on the lobby floor stared at him as he passed, another mute reminder of other days long gone.

He took the elevator up to the third floor, skirting the invisible spot on the lobby floor. Two and three were vacant, great vast lofts of space without so much as a carpet to cover the shameful nakedness of the floor.

Up to five and walk a floor back down.

Seven and six—like the money in an old Irish song!

Up to nine and walk a floor back down. Desks and chairs and files, and the thought of a blind man crashing to death over a balcony railing. The thought of a blind man sitting in his office and watching a watchman make his endless rounds.

Light again, and the comforting feel of the crawling bird cage. Coffee on the electric ring in the snugness of his cubbyhole. Dan O'Hare at the lever.

The coffee bubbled up, savory and warm. Dan switched off the electric ring, reached for his bread box, and cursed as a large gray shadow scurried across the floor.

Well, he'd get the spalpeen now! That was himself—the one who'd eaten his bread for weeks, who'd not let his dinner alone. He'd hung his gun on a peg while he ate, but he couldn't be shooting at rats with a gun. He took a heavy nightstick from a hook in the corner and stalked his quarry into the lobby.

He had it there, cowering in a corner by the elevator. Dan made a rush. The rat squeezed itself into the thinness of a mouse and vanished thru an opening in the grill. Dan heard a startled squeal and scratching feet as the rodent tore around. It was trapped in the solid concrete well of the elevator shaft.

Dan clutched his club more firmly and opened the door to the vacant shaft. The ancient elevators ran no lower than the lobby floor. He shone his light down into glittering red eyes, and shut it off again. Mr. Rat would bother him no more. On hands and knees he backed until his legs were hanging in the shaft, and lowered his frame into the pit.

Standing on the bottom of the shaft, he moved the beam of his flashlight about the oil-covered floor, and crossed himself quickly. It was a single eye glaring back at him now, a big eye winking at the torchlight with a million blazing streaks of color as tho the end of a rainbow had been caught in a single crystal ball.

Rats were never the best luck, and the Wee Ones had put things into his head. He must be hearing things, too, in the quiet of the night, soft movements like, echoing down from the overhead darkness of the lobby's dome.

Close by him, a spark flashed blue with a startling electric sputter, and machinery began to whirr its clanking song.

"Holy mother, protect us!" whispered Dan. "'Tis the elevator above me coming down!"

Spud Savage came into Rena's bedroom early Sunday afternoon. The captain had bought tickets for the symphony concert at Carnegie Hall—four tickets. Spud stretched himself out on the bed, lit a cigaret, and watched his wife arrange her dark wavy hair which was beginning to show the faintest streaks of gray.

He smoked his cigaret half down before he said, "Lovely gal!"

"Thanks, old dear," said Rena. She blew a kiss into the dressing table's triple mirror.

"Self-complacent, aren't you?" Spud returned her aerial caress and gave a derisive grin. "You know I'm not referring to you. You're just—well, skip it, before I slop over!"

"Sybella Ford, I suppose?" Rena half turned her head and expertly patted her hair.

"What do you think, Rena? Is it serious? Dinner last night, concert this afternoon—he's even asked her to go to the airport to see me off tonight."

"She bullies him, darling. He was dancing last night, remember?"

"Nuts," said Spud. "You've bullied him for years—and me."

"And you married me," Rena reminded him.

"Well," said Spud. "I never thought of that before."

"Not any more than you've thought of marriage in connection with Duncan Maclain. He's a man, Spud, strong, handsome, brilliant. Both of us have been so close to him we've begun to regard him as a machine."

"He's sensitive as the devil. If she hurts him—" Spud crushed his cigaret in the tray.

"So sensitive that it's an armor, darling, a shield against anything false or tawdry. I haven't been his secretary all these years not to know that much."

"You must like her."

"I think she's wonderful, and so do you."

Hunters have been out for ducks in Illinois for several weeks now. The season for wild ducks and geese lasts until two days before Christmas. Pheasants, quail, and rabbits had better be looking for good hiding places, for on Nov. 10 there'll be more hunters out for them. The pheasant season is only 10 days long, but quail may be shot for a month, and rabbits until Jan. 15.

If there's a hunter in your family or among your friends, perhaps you'd better prepare yourself for that duck dinner you hope will be forthcoming. "How to Cook Wild Game," a booklet which is available for 5 cents in stamps, by mail, has the answers to the problems of cooking wild birds and animals.

Connoisseurs of cooked wild fowl decry the practice of soaking these birds in salt water or vinegar water, and I don't believe that many good cooks do this any more. It does remove the "gamy flavor"—yes, indeed, it removes practically all of the flavor! Why should any one want to remove the wild flavor of wild game, when that is its distinguishing quality and the very reason it is considered so rarely delectable?

Fish eating game birds usually are simmered before cooking to remove some of the fishy flavor, but this is quite a different matter. These birds aren't so choice in the first place. The wild duck eats grains and aquatic plants and develops fine flavored flesh as a consequence.

Wild rice is an important food for ducks, and an important accompaniment for roast wild duck. There just isn't anything better for stuffing or accompaniment than wild rice. Wild rice, unfortunately, is expensive, and only fancy grocers carry it, as a rule. If you can't afford it, try brown rice, which is more expensive than the polished grain, or, if that is still too much for your pocketbook, the plain, common, ordinary variety of rice.

Steam the rice, season it with onion, salt, pepper, a little sage and thyme, and pour melted butter over it. This dressing can go into the duck for roasting, or beside it when it's served.

It's also good for geese, pheasants, and quail. The tiny quail hasn't room for stuffing, except perhaps a fat mushroom, but the other birds will be better if you fill their cavities before roasting them. An apple or an onion is a good filler for duck or goose if you don't use the rice stuffing.

Wild birds are dry meated and need protection in the oven. An oil or butter brushing, or a coat of bacon strips will protect the flesh. Don't use any water in the roasting pan, and leave the pan uncovered except for elderly birds which may need braising to make their flesh tender.

Duck is at its best when served rare. Half an hour to an hour in the oven, depending upon size, is sufficient time to allow. The oven temperature should be kept at 325 degrees. Baste the bird several times with butter. Giblet stock and drippings make excellent gravy.

Dedicate Bells in DAR Carillon at Valley Forge

In the Washington Memorial chapel at Valley Forge, Pa., is a carillon of 49 bells, emblematic of the states and the nation, erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution and known as the Peace chimes. Last Saturday Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general of the DAR, the national board of managers, state regents and donors held ceremonies in the chapel to dedicate the New Mexico and Florida bells and three stars in the circlet rimming the national bell, one of which was the Illinois star. The other two were for Maryland and West Virginia. Representing Illinois at the dedication was Mrs. Otto H. Crist of Danville, state regent. Mrs. Samuel J. Campbell of Mount Carroll, treasurer general of the society, also was present.

Academy of Pediatrics to Hold Clinical Program

An all day clinical program will be held Wednesday at the Children's Memorial hospital, 707 Fullerton avenue, for members of the American Academy of Pediatrics. The day also will be observed as reunion day for staff and resident doctors and their wives.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Savory Baked Carrots.
[Six servings.]

12 medium sized carrots
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons minced onions
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon cream

Grate carrots, or slice thin. Cook the minced onion in butter and add salt, parsley, and carrots. Bake in a buttered casserole, covered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

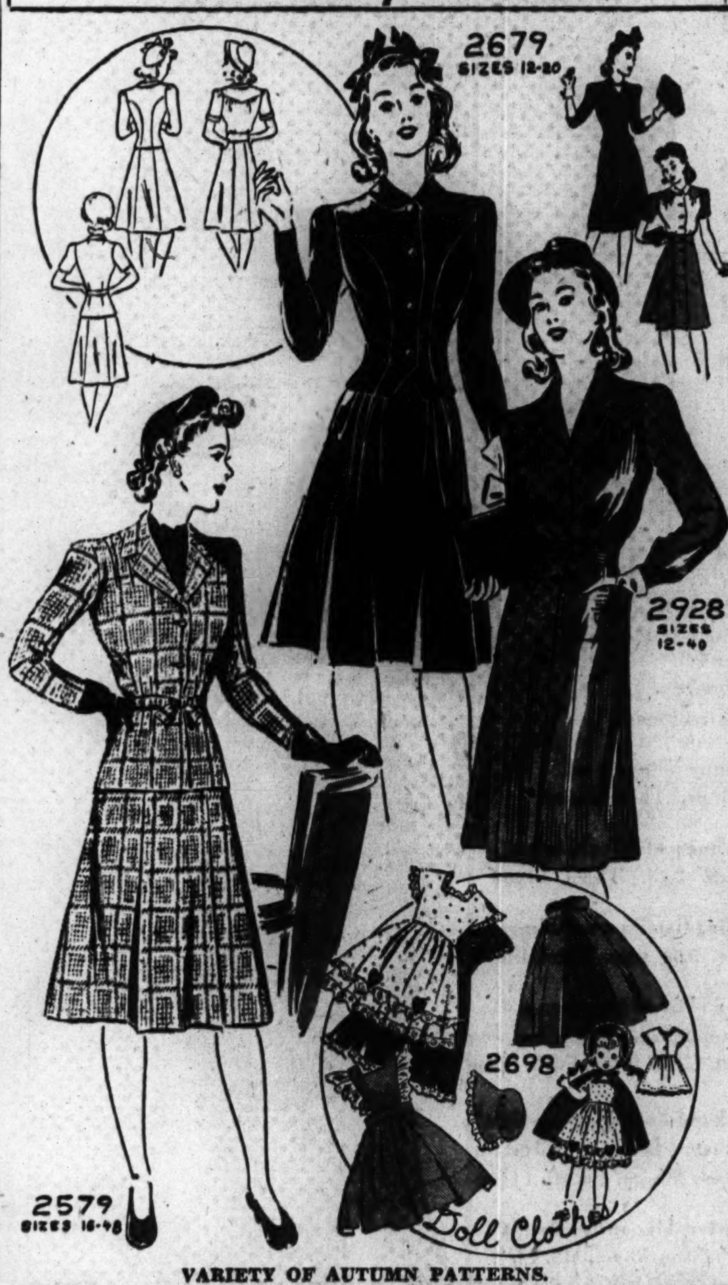
Four Timely Patterns



VARIETY OF AUTUMN PATTERNS.

Several fashion moods are interpreted in these four patterns. Two adopt the two piece effect, the third combines shirtwaist and button-down-the-front lines, and the fourth goes diminutive—doll clothes.

Style No. 2579 is designed for sizes 16, 18, and 20; and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 2¾ yards of 54 inch material.

Style No. 2679 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 35 inch material.

Style No. 2928 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20; and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 35 inch fabric.

Style No. 2698 is designed in sizes for 12, 14, 16, and 18 inch dolls. See pattern envelope for fabric requirements.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents for mailing (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The autumn pattern book is 15 cents—10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Small Child Not Naughty, Just Learning

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Before your baby was born—in those long months of anticipation—there wasn't much you could do—and certainly nothing direct—about the manner in which your baby grew and developed.

Of course you lived as the doctor ordered, ate properly, walked, got lots of fresh air and sleep, and reported to him regularly. But the baby did his own growing and developing without your assistance. Nature took the job over and did it superbly.

Even after the baby was born, when he was quite little, you didn't take over nature's job. You did your part, to be sure, but in a way it didn't consist of much more than what she, thru the baby's actions and reactions, indicated should be done.

But when your baby began to walk and talk, and became very much a person, you began to take the lead away. At least I know a great many of you did because you tell me how much trouble you have run into.

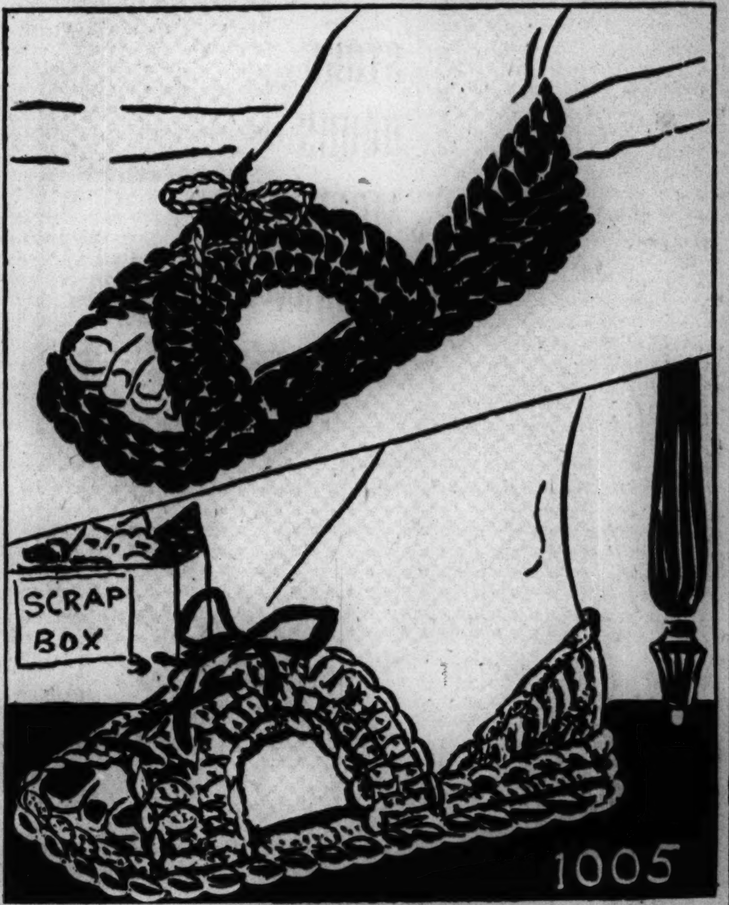
Naturally, as your baby turned into a small boy or girl, more and more was required of you. But you didn't understand quite what it was. Where before you had been following along, doing just as much as the baby seemed to need, now you decided how this little human being should behave, what he should know, and when he should know it. At least, many of you who are in trouble with your small ones did this. And the result was friction and confusion, and whisk! most of the joy of life for both of you flew out of the window.

Now if mothers of the littlest boys and girls could drop that attitude, hand the running of the ship over to nature again and be willing to act as first mate, the voyage thru those early years would be infinitely smoother.

What I'm saying is only this: That what is happening to your small child after babyhood is past is a continuation of the simple but nevertheless tremendous process of growth. And of development, for the two are not the same. Everything your little son or daughter does is the result of these processes, of these urges. The labels "good" and "bad" as applied to his behavior don't belong.

So now your interesting job is chiefly to provide legitimate outlets for the energy and curiosity and experimentation of this vital young human being, channeling these impulses and checking them only where it is actually best for your child or his family or both.

Crocheted Sandals



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted sandals made from castoff bits in the scrap bag create not only an unusual play shoe, but a most comfortable house slipper to be worn at any time. The sole is crocheted, and may be shellacked when completed to furnish a more durable foundation.

For instructions in crocheting the sandals, No. 1005, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Wartime Activity of World Council of Churches Told

Dr. Henry Smith Leiper of New York, American secretary of the World Council of Churches addressed two meetings yesterday in which the wartime work of the council was outlined. The afternoon meeting was at Fourth Presbyterian church and the night meeting at the United Church of Hyde Park. Dr. Leiper described the Christian church as the only universal body left in the world, but he warned against the contradictions involved in a world made up of 60 nations and 200 denominations. Pointing to England, he cited incidents in which Catholic, Protestants, and Anglican leaders worshipped together as they faced a common crisis.

LAST SATURDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 6: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 hearts	Double	?

You are South, and hold:

♠Q J 10 8 7 4 ♥5 ♦J 5 2 ♣J 6 3

What call do you make?

Answer: Two spades. Rescuing partner by bidding the opponents' suit is correct only in rare cases, but this decidedly is one of those cases. Your hand does not figure to produce a single trick at a heart contract, whereas it might easily be worth four tricks in spades. At any rate, the situation is so desperate that some effort should be made to better it, even at the risk of increasing the contract and the possible penalty. North should realize from our two spade rescue that we have a suit that can stand on its own feet, and only in the event that he can logically bid diamonds or clubs, either of which would be an improvement on hearts, should he "disturb" our two spade call.

[Fifteen points demerit for a pass; 50 points demerit for any other call.]

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	2 diamonds	Pass	Pass
2 spades	3 diamonds	Double	Pass
Pass

South lost two spade tricks, two hearts, two diamonds and one club at his ridiculous contract. The 800 point penalty was scarcely worthwhile to keep the opponents from making a part-score.

There is too much of this sort of thing at the average table. Thousands of players are just like South: They are lulled into a false sense of security when their first overcall meets only lukewarm opposition, and decide to bid again to show additional length in their suit, or some such inconsequential value. What on earth could South gain by bidding over two spades? If he was lucky he would make three diamonds, worth about 110 points including the value of a part-score; if [as was actually the case] either opponent was lying in ambush, he would "go for" a substantial penalty. Certainly, not a good investment!

Beat Savagery by Faith, Says Francis Sayre

Francis B. Sayre, former high commissioner to the Philippine Islands, pleaded before the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night for the recovery of a dauntless, dynamic Christianity which is strong enough to overthrow the greatest revival of materialism and savagery the world has ever known.

Sayre, who escaped from Corregidor Island after spending four months on Bataan, cited the selflessness of battered Bataan troops as one of the marks of the kind of Christianity needed if the war and the peace are to be won.

"The strength of America is in her men," Sayre said. "I have seen them fight and I know. They are invincible even in what seems to be defeat. Ultimately, there is not a problem of the war they will not solve. It is a thrilling time in which to live. It is in a day of trial that men's souls are uplifted and great achievements wrought. The great moments of history are those like Valley Forge and Corregidor."

Another evidence of the Christianity needed is that of serenity and confidence, Sayre said.

"The Christian doesn't worry; he doesn't fear," he asserted. "He knows who fights on God's side will win. He has an inner strength and cheer to which all men instinctively turn as to 'a shadow of a great rock in a weary land.'"

United Lutherans Hold Reformation Day Service

Twenty-six hundred members of 54 United Lutheran churches in the Chicago area attended a union Reformation day service in Orchestra hall yesterday. The service also marked the 200th anniversary of the landing in America of the Rev. Henry Melchoir Muhlenberg. The Rev. Charles B. Foelsch, president of the Chicago Lutheran seminary at Maywood, preached the sermon. Massed choirs of 700 voices sang under the direction of Dr. Olaf Christensen of St. Olaf's college, Northfield, Minn. The service was conducted by Dr. Frederick W. Otterbein of North Austin Lutheran church.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

Value of a Complaint.

Long ago this white collar girl pinch-hit for the head of the adjusting department for electrical appliances. It was one of those unruly situations that arise thru the proximity of two desks and one telephone—and it lasted two bewildering days. From it I learned much: Namely, that there is no one on earth capable of the cold fury of a bustling woman who has put her clothes to soak of a Monday morning . . . to discover the washing machine out of order: that the only customer whose wrath approaches the Monday morning complainant is the husband who has purchased a vacuum cleaner for his wife's birthday . . . and it doesn't arrive.

Well, it was some time ago, but the memory lingers on and with it the conviction that the expert handling of adjustments is a gift in a class with Lily Pons' high E.

Consequently a story of Mrs. Walter B. Wolf's adroit treatment of a complaint holds special appeal. Into the office of the treasury department war savings staff walked a man who said he had a complaint to register. He was polite about it but firm. He had something to say. Unabashed in the presence of Mrs. Woolf and other members of the staff he made known his errand. He knew something about selling; no salesmanship, he said, was being used in the booths for the sale of war bonds and stamps. No one asked him to buy as he stood around the booths admiring the posters. He knew. He had purposely gone from one booth to another. No salesmanship! And bonds, he said, could not be sold that way any more than any other kind of merchandise.

Mrs. Wolf listened attentively and when he finished asked him to do her a favor. "Go home and make a list of things you think our workers in the booths can do to promote sales," she told him. He agreed. Two weeks later a small, attractive booklet arrived at the war savings headquarters, compliments of the man whose suggestions had met with such courteous response. The booklet—a little manual of instruction for the sale of war bonds has now been adopted thruout the United States.

The moral? It's this: Whether you're in Uncle Sam's business or in private business, it pays to listen.

Secretarial Test.

A secretary writes: "Who originated the custom of having a stenographer take a test when applying for a position? Surely this is unnecessary except in the case of a beginner. If an applicant has had several years' experience wouldn't it be obvious that she must be capable of transcribing her notes? Such an ordeal is no fair criterion of a girl's ability. No other employé has to take a test . . . why the stenographer?

Shade of Susan B. Anthony.

A woman reports posthaste that she has just received a first rate compliment. It had to do with her job—a pretty handsome job. It seems a long distance call came thru to her immediate superior. In his absence she took it but the man at the other end of the wire obviously was nettled to be forced to "talk to a woman." Reluctantly he stated his business while she furnished the necessary information. "Say," he said admiringly at the end of the conversation, "you talk as intelligently as a man!"

ISBELL HURLS FIVE PASSES FOR TOUCHDOWNS

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 1.—Devastating was the word for the Green Bay Packers' 55 to 24 shellacking today of the Chicago Cardinals, who came up here to avenge an earlier defeat. Devastating was the word for the way Cecil Isbell pitched passes, and you can use the same adjective for the way Don Hutson and Andy Uram caught them.

Isbell tossed five touchdown passes and completed 10 pitches for the record total of 333 yards in choosing this particular afternoon for the greatest performance of his five year pro career. This broke Davey O'Brien's three year old record of 316 yards.

Don Hutson.

Cecil Isbell.

Three of the ex-Purdue star's passes were turned into touchdowns by Don Hutson, who in addition to all the fun he had, made six of seven extra point kicks to tack on 24 points to the 58 he had scored in five previous games. This gave him 82, only 13 under his National Football league record of 95 set last year.

Hutson tied the record he set last season of scoring 10 touchdowns on passes. Don, for the second time this season, beat the record of 180 yards on receptions in one game made by Don Looney, then of Philadelphia, against Washington in 1940. Hutson gained 209 yards against Cleveland two weeks ago and 204 today. The Packers' 427 yards by passes also broke the Bears' record of 376 set last year against the Cardinals.

Isbell Ties League Mark.

Isbell's five touchdown pitches tied the league mark set in 1937 by Ray Buivid of the Chicago Bears. The total production of 79 points surpassed the previous league high of 73 set by the Packers and Cleveland Rams here a few weeks ago.

And here are other league and team marks which went by the boards or were approached in perhaps the most prolific record smashing game ever played in the league:

Hutson's 6 points after touchdowns brought down the record of 5 shared by Jack Manders of the Bears, Clarke Hinkle of the Packers, and Jack McBride of the Giants.

Eleven touchdowns were made in the game, bettering by one the previous record of total touchdowns by both teams set by Philadelphia and Cincinnati in 1934.

Isbell now has thrown 14 touchdown passes, one short of tying the record he made last season. In less than five seasons he has thrown 49 for scores, 2 under former Packer Arnie Herber's league mark assembled in nine campaigns.

Laws Throws Southpaw Pass.

The 55 points was the most the Packers have scored in a league game. The 24 points by the Cards is their highest mark against the Packers for all time.

To top off a day of airmindedness, Joe Laws, the onetime Iowa performer, threw a southpaw pass which Uram converted into his third score of the day. He edged in on the Isbell-Hutson duo by scoring twice on Cecil's throws.

The Cardinals, bent on reversing a

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Sid Luckman, veteran quarter back of the Chicago Bears, showed the Detroit Lions yesterday afternoon that the T formation, and in particular, forward passes from that formation, always work. Luckman led the champions' attack that dealt the Lions their seventh defeat of the National Football league season, 16 to 0, in Wrigley field and in his 35 minutes of competition, Luckman completed seven passes in 10 attempts, one of which went for a touchdown.

Luckman's exhibition of consistently accurate passing was the more remarkable because of the condition of the gridiron and the ball. These circumstances partly accounted for the two tosses the Lions intercepted. The seven completions netted 128 yards. The weather as well as the lowly status of the Lions held the crowd to 12,205.

Step Ahead of Packers.

The Bears' victory was their sixth league triumph of the year and by it they remained one step ahead of the Green Bay Packers for the Western division title. The defending champions now have won 19 consecutive games since their defeat a year ago by the Packers which brought about a playoff for the divisional title.

It may be a bit unfair to Charley O'Rourke, Luckman's substitute, to stress Sid's individual record. O'Rourke threw a 33 yard touchdown pass to Ray McLean for the champions' first touchdown in the second period. But this was O'Rourke's only successful toss of the afternoon and before he took the field with the Bears' junior varsity, Luckman already had four completions in six attempts, and was prevented from directing the Bears' to a score only because Hugh Gallarneau fumbled on a line plunge a yard from the Detroit goal. The ball shot into the end zone where the Lions recovered for a touchback.

45 Yard Pass Called Back.

Luckman also was deprived of a second chance in the opening period when his 45 yard pass to George Wilson, who was tackled on Detroit's 5 yard line, was called back and the Bears were penalized for taking too much time in the huddle.

The champions got the touchdown they needed for victory midway in the second quarter. The drive started from the Bears' 35. Frank Maznicki, who led the Bears' ground gainers yesterday with a total of 57 yards, and Ray McLean picked up 9 yards in two plays. McLean then went around defensive right end for a first down on the Bears' 49. Maznicki dashed thru the line for 6 and Ray Nolting plunged for another first down on the Lions' 38 yard line.

Before us she will show a placid face

But we have heard her sobbing in the night.

MARQUETTE IS VICTOR, 10 TO 0, OVER DETROIT

Titans Are Knocked from Unbeaten Ranks.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 1 [Special].—Marquette university's football team, continuing to improve since recovering from its early defeat by the Wisconsin Badgers, rocked the University of Detroit from the ranks of the unbeaten and untied today with a 10 to 0 victory before 7,000 in the Hilltop stadium.

With Sophomore Johnny Strzykalski again in the starring rôle, the Hilltoppers capitalized on two important breaks. Tom Stidham's team, however, was in command of the situation at all times and never permitted previously undefeated Detroit to penetrate deeper into their territory than the 33 yard line.

Maceau Intercepts Pass.

Detroit received the second half kickoff and on first down Half Back George Ghesquiere tried a pass which Center Mel Maceau of Marquette speared with one hand and was downed on the Titan 29. Strzykalski promptly passed to Quarter Back Ollie Vogt on the 3 yard line, and on third down Full Back Hal Eigner plunged over to score. Bobby Dams replaced Vogt and added the extra point.

The Marquette eleven added to its margin with Dams' place kick from the 7 yard line on the first play of the fourth quarter. Leading up to that play in the third quarter, Tackle John Hart of Detroit, trying a fourth down punt, missed the ball completely and Marquette took over on the enemy 13. The Hilltoppers went 6 yards and then Dams place kicked.

Hilltop Attack Bogs Down.

Marquette had two opportunities in the first quarter, but could cash in on neither. Strzykalski sparked one drive to the Titans' 23 yard line before the Hilltop attack bogged down. End John Harrington of Marquette blocked a punt by Tackle John Hart of Detroit and recovered on the enemy 21. The Hilltoppers went to the 14 on this try.

Strzykalski put Detroit in the hole early in the game on a 67 yard quick kick, and then in the second quarter a pass from Madarik to End Wilber Hintz carried the Titans to Marquette's 33, but they got no further.

O, Happy Day! Badgers Show Way in Big 9 Football Play

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—Happy days are here again—and how! And they may get better. Here's the football season ready to turn into the homestretch and who's leading the Big Nine pack? None other than Wisconsin's currently sensational, wild running, slam bang, up and at 'em Badgers who yesterday grabbed the gridiron world by the ears when they removed the word "undefeated" from the season's record of Ohio State's Buckeyes.

Victories over Camp Grant, Marquette, Great Lakes, Purdue, a tie with Notre Dame, and the stunning blow landed on the Buckeye point collectors now are behind the Badgers. There's a possible conference title in the offing—the first since way back in 1912—but there are some rough spots in the road ahead. Iowa, Northwestern, and Minnesota, yes, the latter always have been heartbreakers for the Badgers, still must be slapped aside.

Badgers Underestimated.

Until the cardinal sweatered battlers boomed forth with the charge that carried away Ohio, there were no boasts that the Badgers, for years the almost forgotten men of the Big Nine, finally were on their way. There was a marked fear that the Buckeyes would have just a bit too much. Also a fear that the Badgers, their string of victories notwithstanding, weren't as good as they seemed. Their manhandling of the Buckeyes fetched the answer. They were underestimated.

Happiness was figuratively pouring down the gutters here today, not a little of it originating in the home of Head Coach Harry Stuhldreher. The seventh season of his régime had brought the sun from behind the football clouds. He had found the few missing parts needed to perfect a point producing machine. Now, he admits, his problem is to keep it perfect for the rough travel immediately ahead.

Hirsch Dazes Ohioans.

The break of the game yesterday? Let Stuhldreher name it. It was that dizzy dash of 58 yards by the jumping kangaroo—Sophomore Elroy Hirsch—that set up Wisconsin's first touchdown. Until then the Badgers had had to wage a superdefense to hold the Ohio power in check. Out of nowhere and without warning came Hirsch, the lad whose hips and knees aren't there when enemy tacklers grab. The Buckeyes were dazed by the suddenness of it all and didn't recover until toward the end.

The Ohioans had built up a name for themselves as men who grew tougher as their battles progressed. They wore down their foes as a build-up to big third and fourth period scoring sprees. The Badgers knew all about this, but seemingly didn't believe it. They and not the Ohioans were the ones who did the wearing down. And they couldn't have given a better demonstration of staying power than they did with the clinching field length touchdown drive just after their own goal had been punctured by the Ohioans' 96 yard assault.

No Physical Blemishes.

The Badgers came thru their severest test almost without a physical blemish. Only rough and ready Pat Harder, whose running and plunging contributed 97 of 242 yards on the ground, failed to escape. Somebody's knee plunked the Milwaukee lad under the eye and he weaved off the field. In a few minutes he was back in there going as strong as before, not alone on offense, but defense.

Stuhldreher will be easy on the boys tomorrow. They won't do much more than loosen up their muscles and then will be permitted to relax while viewing the movies of the struggle.

VILLANOVA BEATS MANHATTAN, 32-0; AL POSTUS IS STAR

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP).—Inspired by Al Postus' 78 yard touchdown run in the second period, Villanova crushed Manhattan, 32 to 0, before 15,000 in Shibe park today. Before Postus got loose on his long run Manhattan thrice had a first down within the Villanova 10, but thereafter failed to threaten.

WEEK'S PROFITS AT SPORTSMAN'S WILL AID NEEDY

Attractive Program Arranged.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Sportsman's Park today launches the week of charity racing which will conclude Chicago's turf season. The long campaign which began last April will have an appropriate end because the proceeds of this entire week will be turned over to local welfare organizations which have been deprived of their normal sources of revenue on account of the war. The week is sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., which will disburse the proceeds among the United, Jewish, and Catholic charities and other recognized local groups.

Thru the coöperation of track officials, horsemen, jockeys, and the Illinois Racing board, it has been assured the extra week will be conducted on a par with any other period of the Sportsman's Park seasons. President John L. Keeshin has kept the operating staff intact, the horsemen have been glad to remain over and some of the nation's leading jockeys will be there to handle the mounts as usual.

In addition to turning all the profits over to charity, the track has cut its operating costs to a minimum. The officers will work without pay and there will be no fixed overhead charge levied against the receipts.

Horsemen Accept Reduction.

The horsemen have accepted a reduction of approximately 15 per cent in total purses as their contribution to the charity fund. Even with the reduction, the purses will total $7,000 daily and about $7,400 on Saturday, which is more than is distributed at many of the nation's full mile tracks.

Chicago race fans are expected to turn out in force to enjoy this added week of the sport before quitting for the winter. In other years they have come out right up until the last day whether there was rain, snow, or sleet. The track is equipped for any weather conditions. There is a glass enclosed tier in the clubhouse and a heated betting ring on the ground level. There are sheltered portions in the grand stand area.

Transportation to the track, which is located at 35th street and 52d avenue in Cicero, is provided by the Douglas Park elevated. Frequent express trains run to 52d avenue, where they are met by cabs and buses to the track. Another regular bus line which passes the track connects with the Garfield park elevated at Des Plaines avenue and Forest Park.

Two Allowance Races.

Racing Secretary Patrick Galiger has arranged a schedule which has pleased the horsemen and which will be of considerable interest to the fans. The main events this afternoon will be two allowance races, one at 7 furlongs, and the other at a mile and 70 yards. A $1,500 handicap at a mile and a sixteenth is scheduled for Saturday.

Racing associations thruout the country are watching the outcome of the special meeting at Sportsman's Park. This is the first time a full week has been conducted for charity. Belmont Park has a similar event for war relief scheduled at the termination of the regular New York season.

The Turf Committee of America, which was organized last spring in a national convention in Chicago, pledged $2,000,000 in outright cash contributions to war relief agencies. This sum already has been comfortably surpassed.

HAWKS BREAK UP CAMP IN HIBBING; TO RETURN TODAY

The Chicago Blackhawks will open their final days of training for their first National hockey league engagement, with Boston's Bruins here Thursday night, today with a workout in the Chicago Stadium.

The Hawks broke their training camp at Hibbing, Minn., where they have been limbering up for three weeks, yesterday and will arrive in Chicago at 8 o'clock this morning.

BERTELLI'S PASS THAT BEAT NAVY TRULY A MIRACLE

Accuracy Impossible Under Conditions.

Games Saturday

Illinois at Northwestern.
Wisconsin at Iowa.
Indiana at Minnesota.
Great Lakes at Purdue.
Pittsburgh at Ohio State.
Harvard at Michigan.
Notre Dame vs. Army in New York.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Navy's football men tried just about every defensive formation in the book to stop Notre Dame's attack Saturday in Cleveland's Municipal stadium. While the midshipmen's goal line was crossed only once, weather conditions, rather than Navy's defense, were responsible for the low score.

Few games have been played under worse conditions and we never have seen a gridiron to equal the Cleveland field. Rain fell thruout the game. This has happened before, of course, and the collegiate rule, which permits three footballs to be used interchangeably, helped in this situation. A Notre Dame student manager received a ball from Referee James Masker after each play and handed him another that had been wiped free of mud.

The gridiron was a bog at one end—where it had been resodded—and a swamp at the other, the baseball infield. When players fell there they skidded for yards and came up mud covered and indistinguishable. Strips of turf were torn loose and at the conclusion hummocks of grass and mud dotted the eastern half of the gridiron.

Bertelli's Pass a Miracle.

All this made Angelo Bertelli's forward pass to Bob Dove, the maneuver that made possible Bertelli's 1 yard quarter back sneak for the touchdown, a miracle. The pass gained 10 yards and was thrown only for a total distance of 15 or 16 yards, but that it was thrown accurately is a greater tribute to Bertelli's ability than his .500 average for completions up until this game. Before Saturday, Bertelli had completed 38 passes in 75 attempts. Against Navy he completed two in 10 attempts. The second completion gained 5 yards.

Under these conditions Notre Dame's T formation was confined to power plays. There was no threat in a half back in motion for Bertelli wouldn't attempt a lateral and Navy must have realized it. Consequently, the Irish had to rely on power plunges by Corwin Clatt and sharp thrusts into the line by the half backs.

Weather conditions also produced the most unusual play we expect to see this year. On fourth down in the third period Bertelli punted with the ball on NAVY'S 20 YARD LINE. He deliberately kicked out of bounds on Navy's 15, a gain of 5 yards, but Navy then had to put the ball in play in the mud of the baseball diamond.

Five Man Defense by Navy.

Navy began the game with a five man line defense. These men were supported by two backs up close, two half backs, and two safety men in short position. Before the period ended Navy had gone into a six man line. Almost without exception Navy employed a seven man line in the second half and violated accepted defensive principles by having an end cover Notre Dame's man in motion. The vacated flank position then was presumably defended by a back who came up within 4 yards of the line.

Ordinarily this would invite a running play at this end of Navy's line by the full back or a pass to the half back in motion cutting down field. The latter play was impossible under the conditions, but Clatt did plunge occasionally at the shortened defensive line. Notre Dame was protecting a lead, however, and generally was content to keep its attack in close.

Navy was the inferior team and Notre Dame's victory was well earned.

QUARTER BACKS, WAILERS GATHER; PRO HUDDLE OFF

The Quarter Back club and the Wailing Wall will have their regular weekly postmortems today to discuss Saturday's college football games, but the Pro Huddle will pass up its regular Tuesday session this week because of tomorrow's election.

Maj. John L. Dorais and Stidham will discuss the game yesterday between their teams which Marquette won, 10 to 0.

Meeting in the Sherman hotel at noon the Wailing Wall will see motion pictures of the Northwestern-Minnesota game, which the Gophers took, 19 to 7, Saturday. Line Coach Burt Ingwersen and Athletic Director Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson of Northwestern will comment on the pictures.

Fields Bunch More Closely in Pin Trials

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Big single games and high series paid dividends yesterday to several of the 32 bowlers competing for the eight places on the Chicago team in the national All-Star tournament, with the result that completion of the day's round—fifth in seven for each bowler—found the fields at all four recreation centers more closely bunched. Leaders held their places at three houses, while at the fourth, Pla-Mor, Andy Melant, jumped back into first place.

Melant bowled a nice 822 series to take three games from Jerry Steinberg and run his total of points to 90.18. Young Glenn Gersch meanwhile dropped to third when his pal, Barney Grogan, whipped in an 854 series to Glenn's 740 to win three games. Grogan, who Saturday night had considered postponing his match because of a lacerated thumb, finished up with 277, starting out his game with eight straight strikes. He took second place in the squad with 90.13 points, five behind Melant.

Heaviest Firing at Gold Coast.

The day's heaviest shooting was done at Gold Coast, where only two men were under 800 for the four games. Joe Schaeffer and Harry Ledene Jr., a couple of fellows well down in the standings, put on the best match. Harry took the first two games, then Joe came up with 289 and 241 in his last two. Joe spared the first frame and got 9 on his 12th ball for high game of the eliminations. His series totaled 881.

Ben Hellgeth and the squad leader, Ivan Mann, put on another good match there. Ben shot 870, which earned him 19.20 points, while Mann, came up with 842, after opening with 166. He scored 18.42 points. Mann thus ran his total to 96.29 points. Bob Wills crept up on him with an 849 total, good for 19.49 points, which ran his aggregate to 95.38. Jules Sowa stayed in the running by piling up 847 pins, winning three from Al Krbec and splitting a point with him when each hit 192 in the last game.

That split point came up again at Congress recreation where John Munch and Tom Chyzy put on a fast match for three games. Chyzy won the first, 203-201, Munch the second, 187-181, and they tied the third at 201 pins. Then Munch pulled away, finishing with 803, his big series so far. Paul Krumske turned in another 805 series there to run his point total to 96.00, while Ad Plunge, runner-up, was getting only 708 in his match with Jerry Skovie.

Puccinelli Moves to Fourth.

Joe Puccinelli lost his opening game to Rudy Habetler, then won the next three at Garden recreation. Joe dropped 856 pins and scored 20.06 points, to pull into fourth place, four pins behind Adolph Carlson. Troy Voyles, continued to dominate the field at Garden, taking three from Carlson on a total of 826. His 230 gave him the final game by five pins. Norman Nelson, the left hander, continued in second place with a three game triumph over Harold Ploch.

NOMINATIONS FOR 1943 STAKES TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Nominations for the 1943 renewals of Chicago's more important racing fixtures, will close at midnight. These stakes and their values, which will be the same as during the present season, are:

At Arlington park the Classic for 3 year olds, $50,000; the Futurity for 2 year olds, $20,000; and the Lassie for 2 year old fillies, $10,000.

At Washington park the American Derby for 3 year olds, $50,000; the Futurity for 2 year olds, $20,000.

They're Trying for All-Star Bowling Berths

English Bettor Collects $10,400 on Daily Double

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP).—Vic Oliver's 2 year old colt, Colorame, won at Windsor yesterday and the single holder of the daily double collected £2,600 for a 10 shilling ticket—one of the biggest daily double payoffs in English horse race betting. Ten shillings is about $2 and £2,600 is $10,400. Vic Oliver is a son-in-law of Prime Minister Churchill.

New York Roller Derby Team Beats Chicago, 12-10

Dominic Paraelli scored the two winning points in the last two minutes of play to give New York a 12 to 10 victory over Chicago in the roller skating derby last night in the armory, 16th and Michigan avenue. The score for the series now stands at New York, 143; Chicago, 134.

Gomez Heads Card Tonight at Marigold

Sammy Parratto, Pittsburgh lightweight, will attempt to snap Alvin Gomez's winning streak in an eight round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Gomez has won his last four appearances, his victims being Chuck Taylor, Henry Gowatch, Gene Spencer, and Jimmy Joyce.

Parratto also holds a decision over Joyce, scored in the Marigold outdoor arena on Aug. 31. In a previous Chicago start, Sam lost an unpopular verdict to Jackie Nichols of Gary in the Coliseum Feb. 27.

Tommy Lemmon, promising welterweight prospect of Milwaukee, is paired with Thomas James, capable fighter of the south side, in a six round secondary feature. James defeated Tom in an earlier meeting. Another attractive six round match on the card will bring together Hubert Hood, this year's Chicagoland Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, and James Fitzjames of Canton, O.

Hood demonstrated considerable ability in his professional debut against Joe Maxin several weeks ago tho he lost the award. Among Fitzjames' victims is Willie Muldune, the Cleveland star.

George [Kid] O'Kelly, Benton Harbor, Mich., heavyweight, will appear in his first contest in Chicago when he faces Harold Ullmer of Milwaukee in eight rounds. There also will be a four round event involving Johnny O'Brien, Calumet City middleweight, and James Smyles.

Al [Bummy] Davis, eccentric welterweight from Brooklyn, has refused $2,000 for a 10 round supporting match with Tito Taylor in Chicago Stadium Nov. 13. This was revealed yesterday by Jack Begun, who is associated with Irving Schoenwald in the promotion of the impending card, which is headed by Nate Bolden and Johnny Colan. Begun was furious while telling about the incident. He said Johnny Attell, manager of Davis, must have an inflated idea of the worth and ability of his protége.

Hans Steinke, veteran north side heavyweight wrestler, will meet Pete Schu of Argo in the windup bout of Fred Kohler's wrestling show this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . Douglas Warnes, Central AAU boxing inspector, will be inducted into the navy today as a boatswain's mate 2d class. . . . . Doug, a Chicago policeman whose son has qualified for aviation cadet training, will report for duty at Navy pier as a master at arms.

Schmidt Leads St. Bede in 20-0 Defeat of Marmion

Howard Schmidt led St. Bede High school to a 20 to 0 victory over the Marmion Military academy eleven yesterday on Marmion field in Aurora. Schmidt, a full back, scored 19 points on three touchdowns and one extra point. He scored in the first, second, and third quarters.

SPARTAS GAIN REVENGE, BEAT VIKINGS, 3 TO 1

McDermott Stars Against Former Mates.

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta gained revenge for its earlier defeat this season at the hands of the Vikings with a 3 to 1 victory over its arch rival yesterday in Sparta stadium in a game partially abbreviated due to the weather. Referee Fred Klotz halted the match with 30 minutes gone in the second half after the first period had been reduced to 40 minutes.

Jimmy McDermott returned to the scene of his many daring exploits thruout the past several years as a member of the Spartas to score the only goal of the day for the Vikings in the first period. Jerry Rezak counted for the Spartas, also on a penalty shot, to bring the score to 1 to 1 proportions at half time.

Frank Pavlecek's 20 yard shot with 16 minutes gone in the second period furnished the winning margin for the Spartas and Jimmy Wolf rushed in to score another for good measure from five yards out just before the game was halted.

Most of the remaining games scheduled were postponed due to the weather. In the only other Major contest, the Linneas and Kickers played to a 3 to 3 tie. The Italian A. C. defeated the Workers, 2 to 1, in the only First division match. Three matches were completed in the Major Reserve division with the Vikings defeating the Spartas, 4 to 2, the Kickers beating the Linneas, 5 to 2, and the Schwabens whipped the Slovaks, 4 to 0. The Sparta-Viking lineup:

MRS. GEO. HALAS' MOTHER DIES; RITES WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Mary Bushing, 80 years old, mother of Mrs. Minnie Halas, wife of the owner and former coach of the Chicago Bears, died at noon yesterday in the West Suburban hospital. Mrs. Bushing had been in the hospital since Wednesday.

Funeral services will be at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the chapel at 5701 West Division street and burial will be in the Oak Ridge cemetery Mrs. Bushing is survived by six children besides Mrs. Halas; 12 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Lieut. Comm. George Halas is not expected to return from Norman, Okla., where he is on naval duty, in time for the funeral.

LANDIS TO HOLD MINOR LEAGUE DRAFT TODAY

Commissioner K. M. Landis will hold open house in his offices today for the 16 major league clubowners or their representatives, but the response may be slim. The occasion will be the annual draft of minor league players, a proceeding held in previous years on the eve of the world series. With the minor league crop fairly well cleaned up by enlistments and army draft calls, few major possibilities are available for selection and for this reason some of the clubs are not expected to file any claims.

DUDLEY, SANDIG STAR; STEELERS DEFEAT GIANTS

Backs Score on Long Runs in 17-9 Victory.

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Steelers' freshman backs, Bill Dudley and Curt Sandig, went on a pair of long touchdown runs today to beat the New York Giants, 17 to 9, in a National Football league game at the Polo Grounds.

Sandig, up from St. Mary's of Texas, caught a Giant kick and romped 62 yards to score early in the second quarter to put the Steelers out in front after Ward Cuff's 19 yard field goal had given the Giants an early lead.

Dudley Scores, Too.

Late in the game, after New York had cut the Pittsburgh lead to 10 to 9 with a fourth quarter touchdown, Dudley sliced thru his own left tackle, found himself behind body shattering blocking that cleaned up the Giant secondary, and dashed 65 yards for the final score.

In between these distance sprints, Milt Simington, 213 pound guard from Arkansas, kicked a 16 yard field goal from a difficult angle just before the end of the half. This, with Armand Niccolai's two extra points, completed the Pittsburgh scoring.

For the Giants, and the 19,346 Polo Grounds' rooters, Cuff was the star. In addition to his field goal, he caught a pass from Leo Cantor for the Giants' fourth quarter touchdown. The play was good for 35 yards.

He Can Pass, Too.

Dudley accounted for 135 yards in 24 tries, or a 5.6 yard per smash average. He also completed four passes in 10 tries for 40 yards.

The victory boosted the Steelers into second place in the National league's eastern division, over the Brooklyn Dodgers, and left them with a slim mathematical chance of still overhauling the Washington Redskins for the sectional crown.

Detroit 3 to 0 Hockey Victor Over Boston

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 1 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings seized a share of first place in the National Hockey league by blanking the Boston Bruins, 3 to 0, before 10,870 spectators in Olympia stadium tonight. Goalie Johnny Mowers of Detroit turned in the first shutout of the season.

The Red Wings, joining the Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens who won opening victories last night, scored a goal in the fourth minute and got two more in the second period off Frankie Brimsek. The Bruins had only 12 able bodied men in uniform, three under the league limit.

The veteran Mud Bruneteau, taking a pass from Carl Liscombe, fired home what proved to be the winning marker while Herbie Cain of Boston was in the penalty box. Sid Abel and Harry Watson, the latter a $10,000 acquisition from the disbanded Brooklyn Americans, got the other goals.

Manager Art Ross' rebuilt Boston club was without high scoring Bill Cowley, shelved with a leg injury, and young Bill Shill, who was unable to get immigration clearance at the border today.

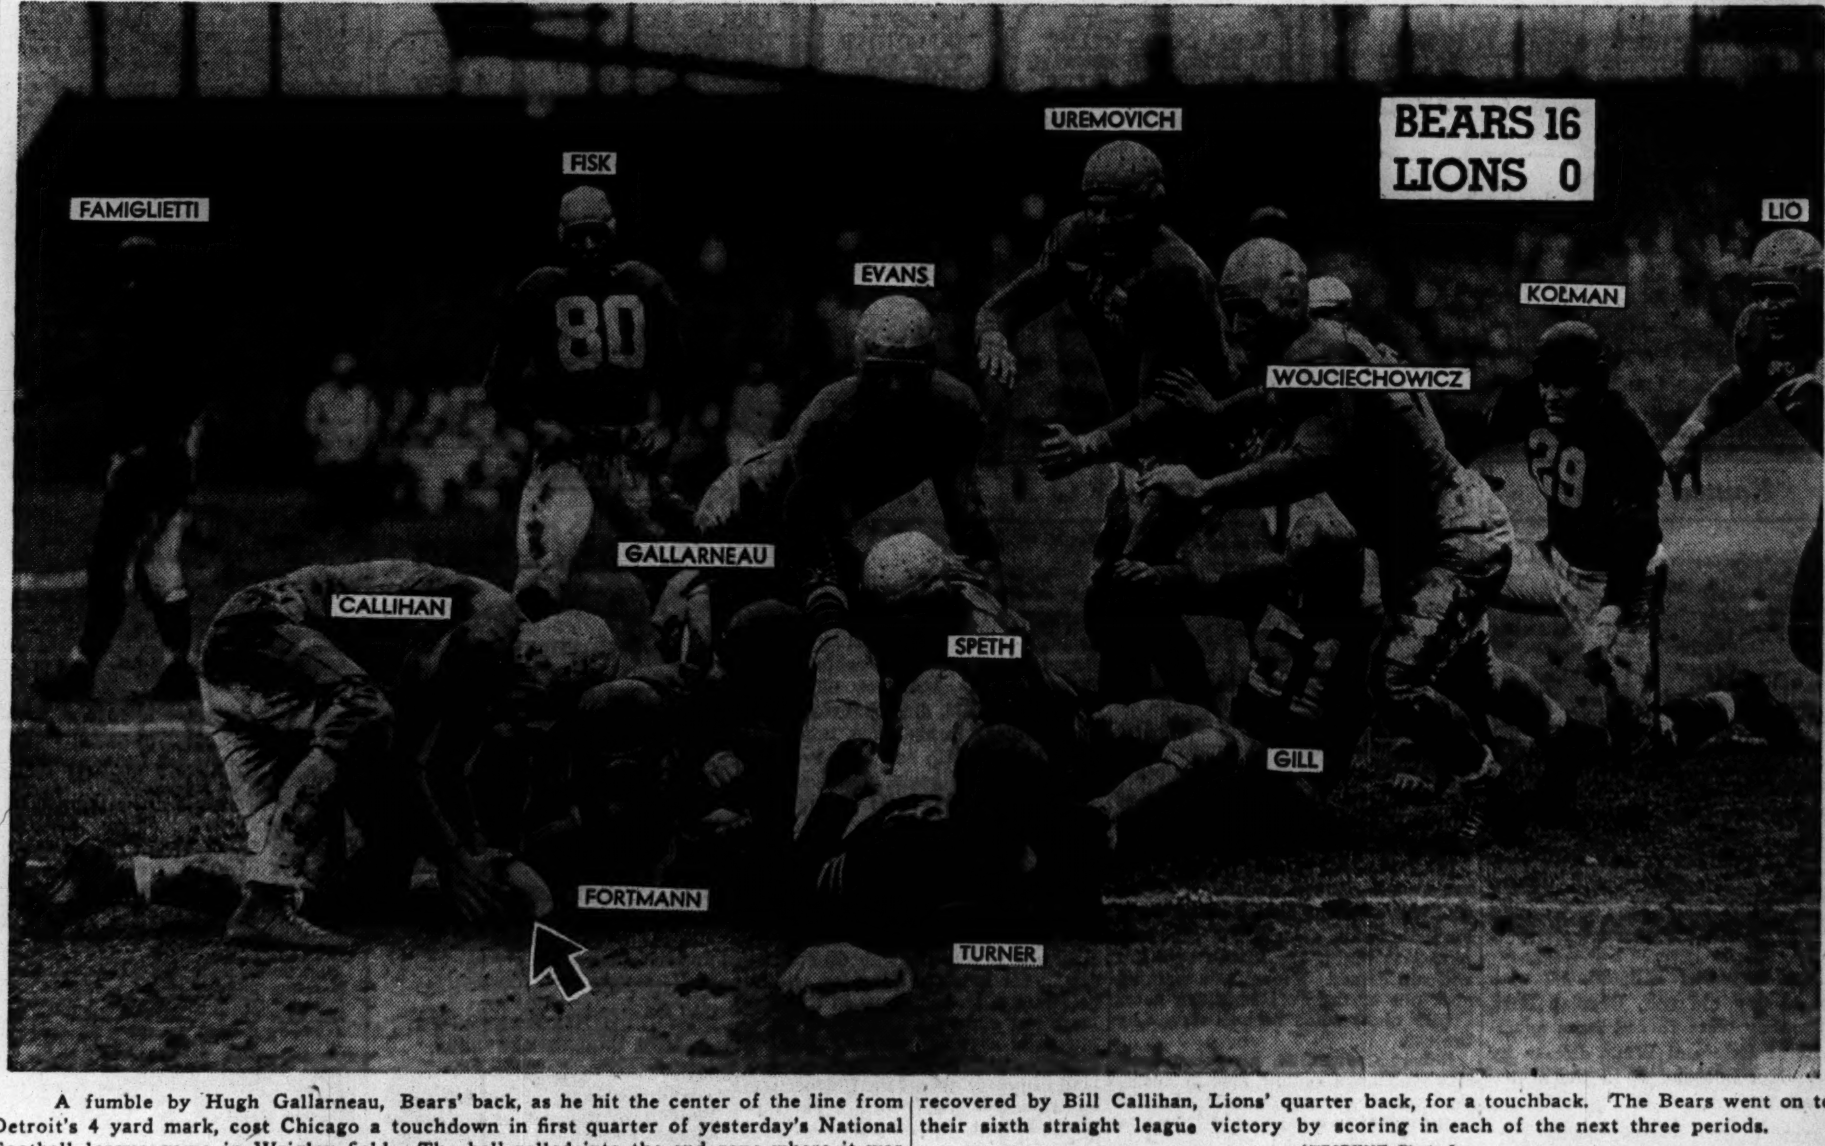
Seahawks to Lose Three Regulars This Week

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 1 [Special].—Three regulars on the Iowa Seahawks football team played their last game when they beat Indiana, 26 to 6, in Bloomington Saturday. The trio, George Benson, Bill Schatzer, and Matt Bolger, will be transferred to primary flight schools this week.

BEAR FUMBLE ON GOAL LINE SAVES DETROIT GRIEF



A fumble by Hugh Gallarneau, Bears' back, as he hit the center of the line from Detroit's 4 yard mark, cost Chicago a touchdown in first quarter of yesterday's National Football league game in Wrigley field. The ball rolled into the end zone where it was recovered by Bill Callihan, Lions' quarter back, for a touchback. The Bears went on to their sixth straight league victory by scoring in each of the next three periods.

17 to 13 defeat suffered four weeks ago, scared the Packers and the crowd of 14,782 by taking a 10 to 7 lead at the end of the first quarter and fattening it to 17 to 7 in the second quarter.

Until now, Isbell had been watching things go against the Packers and Hutson hadn't seen much service. They had watched Marshall Goldberg gallop 95 yards after catching the kickoff following the Packers' first quarter score, and the only one achieved on rushing—a short smash by Chuck Sample, third string full back. They had watched Bill Daddio kick an 18 yard field goal. And in the second quarter they really were disturbed when the Cards marched 60 yards for a touchdown, the clincher being Bud Schwenk's 6 yard pass to Lloyd Cheatham.

Packers Forced to Punt.

After this touchdown, the first three of Isbell's throws were incomplete and the Packers had to punt. Lou Brock brought the Cards' kick back to Green Bay's 48 and the annihilating business soon was under way. Isbell warmed up with a 12 yard pass to Lou Brock. After two line plays gained only 3 yards to the 37, Isbell faded back and whipped the ball to Hutson on the 25. He whirled quickly and dashed for the score, then kicked the extra point.

The Packers came back from their 21. Uram wasted time by getting only 6 yards. Isbell faded back again, wound up, and threw the ball with all his might down midfield. Hutson, cutting in, took the ball in stride over Johnny Martin's head on the 36. Martin lunged for Hutson, but fell flat on his face and disgustedly watched the runner go for a score. Hutson's kick made it 21 to 17.

Isbell's Lightning Strikes.

Isbell's lightning struck the first time the Packers got the ball in the third period. Lou Brock brought a punt back to Green Bay's 36. On the first play, Isbell retreated to his 20 and another long one connected. Uram caught it on the Cardinal 20, Schwenk narrowly missing batting it down.

The Cards, after the kickoff, got to the Green Bay 2, where Lou Brock intercepted. For once Isbell's passing attack stalled, but the Packers were on their way after Center Bob Ingalls intercepted Schwenk's pass on the Cards' 19. The former Michigan center was off balance when he caught it, but managed to stumble over for the score. This time Hutson missed the point and the score was exactly doubled.

The Cardinals, still gamely fighting, drove to the Packers' 1 yard line as the period closed. They lost the ball on the 5, and Green Bay worked up by easy stages to its 35, where Isbell figured once more he was in a position to throw a long one. Hutson leaped high on the run on the Chicago 27, the ball going over Lach's head, and Don then cantered over. He kicked the extra point.

Cards Have Ball Briefly.

The Cards had the ball only briefly, the busy Hutson soon intercepting Schwenk's aerial on the Chicago 36. On the first play Uram caught Isbell's pass on the 20, broke away from a group of Cards, got in the clear on Hutson's fine block and scored.

The Cards had to punt after the kickoff and this was the situation when the Packers cleaned up their scoring splurge. From the Green Bay 19, Laws passed to Uram near the south sideline. Andy caught it on his 42 and went over almost unopposed. Then he picked up the extra point.

The Cards had the pleasure of finishing off the day's scoring on something of a freak play. From midfield the Cards, with Schwenk passing, moved down to the 27. Schwenk then fumbled the pass from center, picked it up, tried to find a receiver, but finally decided to run, and he didn't stop until he went over.

Bears Defeat Lions, 16 to 0; 6th Straight

yards, and on third down O'Rourke arched a long high pass over Harry Hopp's head to McLean. The Bear half back made the catch at the goal line. Maznicki missed the kick for the extra point.

Detroit Field Goal Misses.

Detroit took the subsequent kickoff and roared back from its own 29 yard line in the Lions' best drive of the game. Hopp contributed a 34 yard run and Elmer Hackney burst thru the line repeatedly to reach the Chicago 15 yard line. Hopp was thrown for an 8 yard loss trying to pass and on the last play of the half Augie Lio missed an attempted field goal with the ball held on the 31 yard stripe

Luckman piloted the Bears to their third period touchdown in a drive of 48 yards in eight plays. This march included an extra 15 yards when the Bears were set back at the outset for holding. Hugh Gallarneau and Famiglietti were the ground gainers and Luckman sent Wilson and Gallarneau into the Lions' secondary for passes after a man in motion had created the opening.

Clark Gets It in Scramble.

Luckman's first pass in this series went to Gallarneau. Sid then tossed to Wilson for a first down on Detroit's 25 yard line. After Famiglietti had lost a yard, Luckman passed to Harry Clark at the goal line for the score. Clark caught the ball in a scramble with Bill Callihan, Detroit back. Lee Artoe added the point.

Late in the final period Luckman returned a punt by Hopp 11 yards to the Bears' 42 yard line. The Bears had the ball on Detroit's 31 when Emil Banjavic interfered with McLean on a pass. Maznicki and John Petty plunged to Detroit's 16, but three more downs netted only eight yards. On fourth down Luckman held the ball on Detroit's 16 yard line and Maznicki kicked the field goal for the final tabulation.

ST. LOUIS BEATS LOYOLA, 20-6; WILL RUNS 100 YARDS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1 (AP).—St. Louis university beat Loyola of Los Angeles, 20 to 6, today in a game featured by a 100 yard touchdown run by Herm Will, sophomore back.

Will's dash was made with the opening kickoff in the second half. Frank Brown had tossed a 24 yard pass to Bob Woratzeck which connected for the first St. Louis touchdown in the first quarter. Brown threw another pass late in the fourth period for the winners' final counter. Brown also converted two of three extra point attempts.

Vincent Pacewic, Loyola full back, did some fine passing which was responsible for the only Los Angeles touchdown, in the fourth quarter. Jack Stehly was the receiver.

RAMS SHATTER DODGERS' TITLE AMBITIONS, 17-0

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP).—The Cleveland Rams, capitalizing on Brooklyn's errors, just about ruined the Dodgers' hopes of winning the championship of the eastern division of the National Football league today with a 17 to 0 triumph before 6,329 fans at Ebbets field.

In handing the Dodgers their third setback of the season and gaining their fourth success in eight games, the Rams cashed in on a Brooklyn fumble to score their first touchdown in the second period, passed their way to another in the third and added a field goal in the same session on the first of four intercepted aerials.

The Rams actually found themselves beaten in every phase of the game in the first half with the exception of the score. They gained only 26 yards rushing and passing while the Dodgers were piling up 169, and showed just one first down to the losers' six.

Hall Takes Over.

The second half was a different story, however, as Parker Hall went to work with his right arm and the Cleveland defense kept the Dodgers well bottled in their own territory.

The first break came after seven minutes of play in the second period. Merlyn Condit had just missed a 29 yard field goal attempt and Hall had quick kicked the Rams out of danger with a 59 yard effort. With the ball on Brooklyn's 36, Walter Fedora fumbled a pass from center. George Platukis, an end, scooped up the loose ball and ran over the goal line with Chet Adams adding the seventh point.

Drive 70 Yards.

Cleveland's second touchdown drive carried 70 yards with Gaylon Smith's pass to Ben Hightower eating up 30 of them and Hall sweeping around right end for the last nine. Adams made the score 14 to 0.

The field goal came soon afterwards with Hall's interception of Hal McCullough's pass on Cleveland's 36 starting the attack. Hall returned the ball 29 yards, and after Smith had picked up seven more, Adams dropped back and booted a 36 yard field goal. Lineups:

ALBANY PARK RETAINS TOUCH FOOTBALL TITLE

Albany Park retained its championship in the annual B'nai B'rith Youth organization Aleph Zadik Aleph division chapters touch football tournament yesterday at Waveland park by defeating Deborah chapter, 13 to 6.

Albany Park won its semi-final games from Ojibwa No. 1 by a 19 to 0 score, and Englewood, 12 to 0. Results of other games:

Fort Dearborn, 7; Akiba, 0.
Deborah, 6; Fort Dearborn, 0.

St. Rita Plays Mt. Carmel to Scoreless Tie

Three ties, two of them scoreless, were recorded in Catholic league play yesterday. St. Rita and Mount Carmel battled to a scoreless deadlock on St. Rita field, and Weber and St. George played a scoreless draw in Hanson park stadium. Loyola and St. Philip tied, 6 to 6, on the Loyola field.

In the second quarter of the St. Rita-Mount Carmel game, St. Rita started a drive on its own 30 and advanced to the Carmel 20 before losing its scoring chance on a fumble. During the fourth period Mount Carmel took possession of the ball on the Rita 45 and moved to the 20 before losing it on downs. Mount Carmel now has three victories, no losses, and one tie, and has two more games left on its schedule. One is next Sunday with Leo, and the following week with Catholic High of Joliet.

Both Loyola and St. Philip scores came in the third period. Jack Maloney raced around left end from the 30 for the Loyola touchdown, and Mike Radoskey scored from the 30 for St. Philip after finding an opening on the right side of the line.

Joliet beat St. Patrick, 6 to 0, by scoring in the final quarter. Herb Briick recovered a fumble on the St. Patrick 10 yard line, and Len Rittof scored in two tries, moving the ball to the 1 and then going over.

ARTIE M'GOVERN, TRAINER OF RUTH, DEMPSEY, DIES

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Artie McGovern, noted physical conditioner of prominent sports figures of the 1920's, including Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey, died today in Postgraduate hospital. He was 51 years old.

McGovern, who had lived in Phoenix, Ariz., for the last three years, entered the hospital yesterday suffering from a kidney ailment. He had come to New York about a month ago to visit friends.

A broken knuckle suffered in 1910 when he was a better than average flyweight fighter, turned McGovern to the conditioning business. Probably his best known achievement was putting Ruth into shape after the home run king's disastrous season of 1925. After a winter of McGovern's ministrations, Ruth hit 47 home runs—and he was 40 pounds lighter.

Fenwick scored in the final quarter to defeat St. Mel, 6 to 0, for its fifth consecutive victory.

Leo scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and added a third in the second period to whip De La Salle, 18 to 0, for victory No. 5.

Leo to End Season Sunday.

Leo will conclude its south section schedule on Sunday against Mount Carmel on Shewbridge field, and a triumph for the Lions will send them into the championship game against the north section representative.

With a bye next Sunday, Fenwick will have to wait until Nov. 15 to meet Weber in its final game.

Fenwick Scores in Fourth.

Playing St. Mel in Key Branch stadium, Fenwick took advantage of a scoring opportunity late in the final period. The Friars recovered a fumble on the St. Mel 30 and drove to the 1 yard line, with Jim Martin doing most of the ball carrying. He then plunged over from the 1 yard line. Jack Lindsay, who replaced Tom Murtaugh, failed to make the extra point. Each team collected six first downs.

The Kellys were at it again in leading Leo to victory on Shewbridge field. Tony Kelly made one touchdown and R. J. [Bob] Kelly accounted for the other two. In the first period Tony blocked a punt by Bill Barrett on the De La Salle 1 and recovered the oval in the end zone. During the same period Bob reeled off runs of 20 and 35 yards in a 70 yard drive and plunged over from the 3. His final touchdown was on a plunge from the 1.

REDSKINS BEAT EAGLES, 30-27, IN LAST SECOND

Masterson's Field Goal Is Victory Margin.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—A field goal booted by Bob Masterson, veteran end, in the final second of an exciting game gave the Washington Redskins of the National Football league a 30 to 27 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles today before 32,658.

With the score 27 to 27 after the Eagles had driven 65 yards for a touchdown in the closing minutes, Washington opened up with two of Sammy Baugh's bulletlike passes that brought them to the Philadelphia 3. Many spectators started to leave as the public address system announced that but one second remained.

Then Came Masterson.

Masterson, who had place kicked three points after touchdown, dropped back to the Philadelphia 10. His kick, from a difficult angle, split the uprights as the gun sounded to give Washington the game.

The Redskins, leaders of the National Football league, started off strong with an effective ground attack which Baugh climaxed with a touchdown pass to Andy Farkas in the first period.

The Eagles came back in the second, however, with a series of reverses that put them deep in Washington territory. Tommy Thompson of Tulsa heaved a touchdown pass into Larry Cabrelli's arms. Len Barnum's conversion attempt failed and the Redskins led, 7 to 6, at the half.

Third Period Is Wild.

A wild third period, during which the Redskins scored 20 points and the Eagles 14, was featured by 97 yard touchdown runs by Bosh Pritchard of the Eagles and Ray Hare of the Redskins.

On a kickoff, Bob Davis of the Eagles fumbled in attempting a lateral and Ed Cifers, Washington end, scooped up the ball and ran 16 yards to score. Farkas ripped thru tackle to climax an 82 yard drive for the Redskins' third touchdown. Rupert Pate picked up Ed Justice's fumble, after one of Baugh's passes, and romped 55 yards for Philadelphia's second touchdown.

Eagles Tie Score.

Midway in the fourth, the Eagles marched 55 yards on two passing plays and one ground attempt, and Thompson tossed to Fred Meyer of Stanford on the Washington 5. Bob Davis scored on an end run, and Dick Erdlitz converted to tie the score at 27 to 27.

The Redskins, overwhelming pregame favorites, launched a desperate offensive in the closing minutes. Farkas' fumble on the Philadelphia 3, after an end run, almost proved disastrous, but Washington came back after Thompson's kick, and two passes by Baugh set the stage for Masterson. Lineup:

QUIZ EX-FELONS IN GALVIN PLANT ON DUAL SLAYING

Lack Clews 10 Days After Evanston Murders.

A number of persons with criminal records employed by the Galvin Manufacturing company, 4545 Augusta boulevard, were subjected to lie detector tests in an effort to find clews to the murder of Mrs. Lillian Galvin and her maid, Miss Edna Sibilski, it was revealed yesterday.

Mrs. Galvin was the wife of Paul V. Galvin, wealthy owner of the Augusta boulevard concern. She and Miss Sibilski were shot to death Oct. 22 by a mysterious killer in the Galvin home at 3038 Normandy place, Evanston. Jewelry valued at $28,000 and furs costing $3,000 were stolen.

Still Lack Useful Clew.

Altho the murder is now more than a week old, not one workable clew has been found, it is understood. Evanston police, in whose jurisdiction the crime was committed, were working on the case virtually alone. There was a flurry of activity from the state's attorney's office the first few days of the investigation but little or no reported action since.

Examination of Galvin employés with shady pasts was decided upon by Chief Carl Ekman of Evanston. According to the chief, approximately 25 men at the plant have had criminal records. Galvin knew this but retained the men in the belief they had paid for their crimes and were entitled to earn a living.

All Take Lie Tests.

About 15 of the men were given lie detector tests Friday by Sergt. William Calderwood, Sergt. Henry Engstrom, and Detective Marcus May of the Evanston force. The rest were examined Saturday. Police declined to say whether this phase of the inquiry developed clews.

It was indicated that the chief purpose of the lie tests was to discover any cronies and associates with past records who might have knowledge of the crime.

Chief Ekman admitted yesterday that the murder of Mrs. Galvin and her maid is one of the most puzzling crimes he has ever been called upon to solve. No clews to the motive, barring robbery, were found and that, he believes, was an incidental element. Somewhere, he said, probably is a "revenge motive." He did not elaborate on the opinion except to refer often to theories that the killer was known either to Mrs. Galvin or to Miss Sibilski.

Galvin Son Finds Bodies.

Mrs. Galvin, who was 47 years old, and Miss Sibilski, 29, were found shot to death in the living room of the Galvin home, Both had also been struck on the head. Mrs. Galvin's son, Robert, 20, a student, discovered the crime. The time was about 6 p. m. The crime was committed about noon. Mail had been delivered to the house—and picked up—at 10:45 a. m. and less than an hour later, it is established, the two women were dead.

The house had not been ransacked, and it was not discovered until some time later that the jewelry and furs were missing. The Hartford Fire & Insurance company is offering a reward of $15,000 for information leading to the slayer and conviction.

Ballistics tests showed that the women were slain with bullets from a .45 caliber automatic pistol. This is the caliber of army side arms, and on that basis police included army deserters as possible suspects.

Quiz Neighbors of Couple.

Neighbors of the Galvins were questioned, and all spoke highly of the couple. None knew of any enemies. The only worthwhile information from neighbors was that a gray sedan was seen near the Galvin home around noon the day of the slayings. So far as is known, no trace of the car or owner has been found.

One police theory had been that the murderer cowed Miss Sibilski when she opened the door in response to his bell, compelled her to call her mistress, forced Mrs. Galvin to disclose where she kept her jewels, and then, either because of resistance or callousness, shot both. Police doubt Mrs. Galvin attempted resistance. She had previously been robbed, and at that time had said she would never resist robbery.

Think Victims Knew Killer.

Another theory and one that police still hold, is that the killer was known to one or both women, and that being recognized, he committed murder to prevent his identification for whatever crime he had in mind.

It is into this last theory that Chief Ekman's revenge idea fits, yet inquiry into the lives of the women disclosed no enemies and no reason to take their lives purely because of a personal hatred. Mrs. Galvin's husband, a $1 a year man in war work, who was on his way home from Washington at the time of the murders, has vowed never to rest until the killer of his wife has been apprehended.

ROBBERY TRIAL OF IRWIN KADENS TO START TODAY

Irwin Kadens, army deserter and desperado, is scheduled to go on trial today before Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court on a charge of robbery. At the conclusion of this trial he may face immediate trial on a charge of rape.

Kadens appeared unworried yesterday. "It will cost $60,000 to try me," he said. "It would be easier and cheaper to give me the death penalty for kidnaping under the Lindbergh law, or for desertion."

He pointed to his shirt hanging high from a bar. He hung it that way he said to frighten his guards into thinking he had hanged himself. "I still think I'll end up that way, or maybe in the electric chair or by suicide," Kadens said. Then he voiced another thought—that "crime pays all right—if you don't care about living."

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Pearl Rebman, 664 Wellington avenue.]

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever play any Halloween pranks that might have gotten you into trouble?

WHERE ASKED.

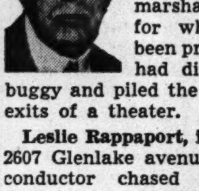
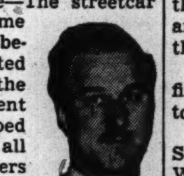
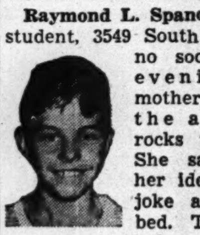
THE ANSWERS.



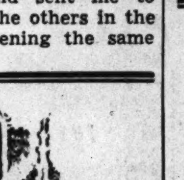
Irvin C. Schoettle, telephone repairman, 5912 North Rockwell street—The boys in our neighborhood didn't stop at anything on Halloween night. When I was young I thought it would be fun to wire our back yard fence with 110 volts. It shocked one boy pretty badly and police gave me a scare when they questioned me.



Geraldine M. Allen, typist, 509 Sherman street, Joliet—We didn't think it would be causing too much trouble to uproot a small stop sign on a side street. As we were getting ready to transplant it on the other corner a policeman appeared. Just then two cars came close to colliding there. That made us realize what might happen.



Lincoln A. Hagerty, insurance broker, 1319 North La Salle street—On the Halloween of '85 we got into all kinds of deviltry. I and several others were taken into custody by the marshal the next day for what might have been pretty serious. We had dismantled an old buggy and piled the parts in the fire exits of a theater.



Leslie Rappaport, insurance broker, 2607 Glenlake avenue—The streetcar conductor chased me for about a block because I disconnected the power line from the car. The lights went out and the car stopped abruptly and threw all the women passengers into a panic. They made me appear in Traffic court the next day.

Raymond L. Spano, paper boy and student, 3549 South Wells—We had no sooner begun our evening when my mother caught us in the act of throwing rocks thru a window. She said that wasn't her idea of a sporting joke and sent me to bed. The others in the gang spent their evening the same way.

Mrs. Lang's daughter, Gloria, 7, also driven out by the fire.

A 4-11 fire of undetermined origin last night swept thru the three story brick building at 608 North Wells street, driving 75 roomers into the street and halting traffic for two hours. More than 20 pieces of equipment were used in battling the blaze. Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney estimated the damage at $35,000.

Mullaney said the fire started in the basement of the building, occupied by the Charles Bender company, manufacturers of store fixtures. When the flames reached a stock of paint and lumber, the fire roared on thru the upper floors.

FBI AGENTS MAY TESTIFY TODAY IN TREASON TRIAL

Members of the federal bureau of investigation who rounded up the six defendants on trial for treason before Judge William J. Campbell and a jury in federal District court will occupy the spotlight at the trial starting today.

The six defendants, Hans and Mrs. Erna Haupt, Walter and Mrs. Lucile Froehling, and Richard and Mrs. Kate Wergin, are charged with sheltering and aiding Herbert Haupt, one of six Nazi saboteurs executed for their plot to wreck war plants. He was the son of Hans and Erna Haupt and a nephew of the Froehlings.

Beyond confirming reports that a number of FBI agents will be called as government witnesses today, J. Albert Woll, United States attorney who is directing the prosecution personally, declined to comment.

It is understood, however, that there will be "more than a few" of the agents and that their testimony will require a day or two.

They are the men, it is said, who trailed and watched the six defendants, who uncovered the evidence against them, and who, eventually, arrested them one by one.

POLICEMAN ASKS OUSTER OF UNION SLOWDOWN CHIEF

Lieut. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, announced yesterday that he will ask President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to oust Angelo Inciso as organizer for the United Automobile Workers. Inciso is the ex-convict blamed for the union's slowdown of war production in the Wood Manufacturing company plant at 4435 South Western avenue. Barnes said that the plant lost at least 6½ days' production of weapons of war for America's fighting men thru Inciso's leadership. The union had accepted a new contract providing higher wages when Inciso made a new demand which retarded work during a 13 day period. The slowdown was ended Saturday but Inciso could not be found.

NEW MATERIAL QUOTA SYSTEM PLANNED BY WPB

Aimed to Stop Waste in Excess Parts.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1 (AP).—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board will announce tomorrow a new plan of apportioning materials to war industries designed to stop waste and thereby make more materials available for increased quantities of essential weapons.

Altho so complicated in its details that officials indicated a small sized volume was necessary to explain it, the plan was said to be as simple in its fundamentals as manufacturing only one steering wheel for every jeep. The company that assembles jeeps will dole out the material to the firm that makes steering columns to make sure the numbers of parts come out even in terms of complete jeeps.

Calls in Reporters Today.

Nelson called a special press conference for tomorrow at which he will outline the program along with WPB Vice Chairmen Ferdinand Eberstadt and C. E. Wilson, Undersecretary of Navy James F. Forrestal, and Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson. The plan is scheduled to be put into effect gradually, with full operation planned in the second quarter of 1943.

Using jeeps as a hypothetical example, officials said that the present system of doling out steel and other materials theoretically permitted, in many cases, a waste of steel by making twice as many steering columns for jeeps as were needed, while lack of the same steel hampered the manufacture of other weapons.

The present system, called the production requirements plan [PRP], calls for the allowance of steel, copper, lumber, rubber, and other materials by the WPB to each manufacturer.

Would Prevent Excess Parts.

In the case of a single tank, for instance, a hundred different companies making different parts of the same tank might put in individual requisitions for materials and get them. There is no method of gearing the production rate of these various companies, however, so that they will produce at the same comparative rate. Hence, there may be too many of certain parts of tanks and too few of other parts. Where there are excess parts, valuable materials are tied up or even wasted.

The new plan, as yet unnamed, will abolish this system in about 80 per cent of war production. In these cases, the armed services and other major agencies concerned with procurement will apportion among themselves the over-all supply of materials. Needs of civilians also will be considered when the "pie is cut."

Then the army, again using a hypothetical example, will provide its tank arsenals with enough of the army's share of the materials to make a certain number of completed tanks.

Provides Vertical Allocation.

The tank arsenals then will redistribute their share of steel and other materials among subcontractors making parts, and the subcontractors may in some cases redistribute their portions to still other manufacturers making smaller parts.

Actually, pieces of paper representing quotas of materials will pass from army to contractor, to subcontractor, to sub-subcontractor, but whoever buys the materials will have to confine himself to the quota.

Officials hope that it will be impossible, under this scheme, for production of any part of the weapon to run too far ahead of the completed articles.

Doubts Scrap Campaign Can Solve Problem

The magazine Steel said yesterday that "despite the generous outpouring of steel and iron scrap in the recent salvage drive and the continued effort to draw out dormant material from industrial and other sources, the scrap problem has not been solved."

"War Production board officials," the trade journal continued, "point out the fact that the recent campaign can not be repeated with equal success and such scrap is nonrecurrent.

Tonnage Not Estimated.

"No estimate has been made of the tonnage resulting from this effort as the mass of material is undigested and much has not yet reached yards for preparation. Considerable tonnage is expected to result from the campaign now under way to bring out dormant scrap in outmoded machinery and structures in industry, but this also is nonrecurrent and once the reservoir is exhausted further sources will be necessary.

"The present rate of steel output requires more scrap than is provided by normal production in industrial processes and other sources are imperative to sustain operations.

Few Have Any Stockpiles.

"Some melters have accumulated stockpiles but in no case enough for winter supply and allocations still are in force to insure sufficient for melters who have no reserves."

For the third consecutive week, ingot production held at 99 per cent of estimated capacity with Pittsburgh 1½ points higher at 99 per cent and Chicago down ½ point to 103 per cent.

WPB TELLS WHY BREWERS GET BIG CANS FOR CAPS

The WPB yesterday recognized complaints about brewers using tin cans received from restaurants and hotels, and spiked rumors that the tin cans are from among those collected from housewives.

"The general labor shortage has made it impossible for most hotels, restaurants, hospitals, and large apartment hotels to prepare their used food tins for detinning purposes," WPB said.

"The brewers were buying the No. 10 [gallon] size and larger size cans and leaving smaller sizes to be thrown in the city dump. To rectify this situation the War Production board has allowed brewers and bottlers to buy the No. 10 and larger cans providing they return at least 50 per cent of the detinnable scrap in the No. 10 and larger cans for detinning purposes and properly prepare and deliver all smaller sizes to detinning plants or local tin can salvage groups."

CANADA FORBIDS BROADENING OF BUSINESS LINES

Transfers Placed Under Permits.

Donald Gordon.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 1 (AP).—A vast range of Canadian business establishments are "frozen" at their present status under a drastic wartime prices and trade board order, effective tomorrow, which prohibits creation of new selling outlets, stocking of lines of goods not already handled, and removal to larger premises, except under permit.

The establishment of new businesses is forbidden except by permit to be granted only in exceptional circumstances.

Sales Require Permits.

All transfers of ownership are made subject to permit which, the board said, will be granted in bona fide cases of sale or gift.

Purpose of the order is to prevent the multiplying of existing outlets at a time when supplies are becoming more restricted. Donald Gordon, board chairman, said the view is taken that in most cases existing businesses can adequately handle the available supply of goods and services.

The order applies alike to manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and 10 types of service businesses. Full information is being mailed by the board to the operators of all businesses concerned.

Several Classes Exempted.

Exempted from the order are sales of newspapers or magazines; any government undertaking; religious, charitable organizations; farmers, hunters, trappers, or fishermen; private boarding houses, and suppliers of war goods or services.

The 10 types of service business covered by the freezing order are:

Warehousing and storage; undertaking and embalming; laundering and dry cleaning; hairdressing and beauty parlor services; plumbing and heating; painting and decorating; supplying meals, refreshments and beverages; renting and exhibiting motion pictures; any manufacturing process performed on custom or commission basis, and slaughtering.

Oil Well Completions Set Year's Record Last Week

The Midwest Oil Journal of Centralia, Ill., said yesterday that there were more completions of oil wells in the Illinois fields last week than in any other week in nearly a year. There were 54 completions in all, of which 21 were dry holes. The combined initial daily production of the 33 successful wells was 6,037 barrels.

BIG DEHYDRATED PORK CONTRACT GIVEN TO CUDAHY

The Cudahy Packing company announced yesterday that it had been awarded a government lend-lease contract for 110,000 pounds of dehydrated pork for shipment abroad. Officials of the company said that this is the largest order placed to date for a dehydrated meat.

Dehydrated pork is a more recent development than dehydrated beef, they said. Because of the nature of the meat and the scattered distribution of fat in pork, experiments showed that the dehydration of pork presented more problems than were involved in the dehydration of beef.

FEWER ILLINOIS BANKS REPORT LARGER ASSETS

State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder announced yesterday that the 488 Illinois state banks in operation on Sept. 30, when the last state call was issued, reported total resources of $1,736,297,069, and total deposits of $1,604,614,688. As of June 30, 495 banks reported total resources of $1,627,078,930 and total deposits of $1,496,724,964.

The 20 state banks in Chicago had resources of $1,125,617,687 and deposits totaling $1,051,866,634. Total demand deposits of state banks on Sept. 30 amounted to $1,057,752,572 of which Chicago banks had $687,238,513.

Terminal Railroad Hearing to Be Resumed Thursday

The Illinois Comerce commission is scheduled to resume hearing Thursday in Springfield in the controversy over abandonment of the Peoria-Decatur-Danville branch of the Illinois Terminal railroad. Bus companies competing with the road and representatives of communities along its midstate route have been invited to appear at the hearing to consider all phases of transportation service in the area.

BUTLER BROS. CHAIN GROUP TO HAVE OWN SALES SUPERVISION

George M. Ballard.

In a reorganization to become effective today Butler Brothers is removing the supervision of approximately 4,000 voluntary chain, independently owned and operated Ben Franklin and Federated Stores from its sales department, C. D. Southard, vice president in charge of sales, announced yesterday.

"This is being done," said Southard, "because Ben Franklin and Federated Stores have grown to such importance that we must now assume more and more responsibility for providing professional assistance to the members in the operation of their stores."

George M. Ballard, who has been assistant director of sales since September, 1941, becomes general manager of the voluntary chain stores and Harris M. McLaughlin becomes general sales manager. In the Chicago house, which serves the midwest, Harry L. Goodbar will continue as sales manager and T. E. Skinner, now assistant sales manager, will be manager of the Ben Franklin and Federated Stores in this territory.

Wilson-Jones Earnings Dip in Fiscal Year

Government limitations on the use of steel in a number of loose leaf products has affected the output of Wilson-Jones company, Chicago manufacturer of loose leaf binders and filing devices, George H. Dawson, president, said yesterday in a fiscal year report to stockholders. However, by developing new methods and using substitute materials, he said, the company is able to continue manufacturing many items that otherwise could not be produced.

Net earnings for the year ended Aug 31 were placed at $394,000, equal to $1.49 a share, against $411,000, or $1.53 a share in the preceding year.

Tax Bill Quadrupled.

The company's tax bill took a big jump with provision for federal taxes totaling $817,000, compared with $149,000 a year ago.

Net sales for the year were $6,952,000, compared with $5,060,000 for the preceding year, up 37 per cent.

Dawson said that besides cash on hand of $977,000 on Aug. 31 the company had acquired treasury tax notes in the amount of $700,000 thru a plan of regular monthly purchases to provide for immediate payment of its federal tax liability.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company, including domestic and Canadian subsidiaries, reported for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1942, a net income after taxes of $1,802,701, or $2.66 a share on common stock, compared with $2,022,260, or $3.10 a share in the first nine months of 1941. Total income, excess profits and capital stock taxes amounted to $7,832,926 compared with $2,184,286 in the like period of 1941.

THIRD QUARTER PROFITS RAISED IN MANY CASES

Late Changes in Tax Law a Factor.

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Profits of American corporations in the third quarter of this year are sharply higher than in the preceding three months, but results for the nine months of 1942 are well under a year ago.

The National City Bank of New York, in a compilation of the net profits of 225 manufacturing concerns, mostly big companies, arrived at a total of 224 million dollars for the third quarter, compared with 181 million in the preceding three months and with 292 million in the quarter ending in September last year.

The 1942 nine months' total, however, dropped to 608 million from 891 million in the same part of 1941, a decline of almost one-third.

Some Overguessed Tax.

The bank's review said:

"For the group as a whole the major factors in the third quarter improvement appear to be the more complete conversion to war work, with consequent reductions in special charges connected with the changeover, and the gain in the volume of the armament producers."

But an additional important factor has been the fact that many corporations, trying to guess in recent months the terms of the newly enact-

Proper use of one dictaphone is the most efficient procedure to get your message on its way. The same suggestion is apropos with regard to newspaper advertising in Philadelphia.
For example: We asked business men, "How much time did you spend reading these newspapers yesterday?" The average time spent reading The Bulletin was 54.5 minutes. That's 43% longer than was spent reading any other daily newspaper in Philadelphia.
More and more advertisers are pursuing this policy: A thorough advertising job in The Bulletin is the first requisite to a thorough job in the important Philadelphia market.

THIRD QUARTER PROFITS RAISED IN MANY CASES

Late Changes in Tax Law a Major Factor.

"The improvement from the second to the third quarter this year may be due partly to adjustment of tax reserves, following the adoption of the 40 per cent normal and surtax rates instead of 45 per cent as in the house bill," the review said.

Many Get Late Relief.

"An 80 per cent corporate tax ceiling and late changes in several other provisions afforded relief to many corporations subject to taxes at the new rate of 90 per cent [in the house proposal on which most companies calculated tax liability] and lowered their liability from that estimated earlier in the year.

"In such cases the previous over-accrual of tax reserves has permitted either an upward revision of income statements for the half year or else a corresponding reduction in the tax accrual charged against third quarter earnings."

Actually, important corporation statements made public to date indicate a preference for reducing third quarter tax charges, and so increasing profits, rather than revising published results earlier in the year.

Sales Offset Higher Costs.

But regardless of the tax technicality—which will be thrown into much better focus when year-end reports appear—about one out of every four of the companies included in the bank's compilation showed higher net income for the nine months this year, despite a drop in the aggregate.

This movement against the trend came largely from big increases in sales volume for many companies, mostly war producers. Growing gross business offset such factors as higher labor and materials costs in many cases.

The clearest clue of the bearing of current taxes on profits is given by this detail of the study covering 135 companies for the first nine months of this year. Net income before paying taxes was 1 billion 604 million, compared with 1 billion 445 million in the like period last year, a rise of 10 per cent; federal income and excess profits taxes this year were 1 billion 160 million, compared with 797 million last year, a rise of 47 per cent, and profit after taxes dropped to 444 million, compared with 664 million, down 33 per cent.

SURPLUS ACCOUNT.

In looking over a year-end balance sheet of the Santa Fe railroad I noticed that the surplus account amounted to about 396 million dollars, compared with stock outstanding carried on the road's books at approximately 366 million dollars. Isn't the surplus account large in relation to the stock? How does this compare with railroads such as Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Southern railroad, and Norfolk and Western?—F. C. H.

Answer: The following are the approximate amounts of surplus [almost entirely profit and loss surplus in each case] and the stated value of the outstanding stock shown in the 1941 year-end balance sheets of the following roads:

Pennsylvania—Surplus, 485 million dollars; capital stock, 658 million dollars. Union Pacific—Surplus, 313 million dollars; stock, 320 million dollars. Southern railroad—Surplus, 98 million dollars; stock, 190 million dollars. Norfolk and Western—Surplus, 218 million dollars; stock, 163 million dollars.

There are a number of reasons why a railroad may consider it necessary to maintain large surplus accounts. Having heavy invested capital, roads must replace equipment periodically at considerable cost. A strong cash position is held a bulwark against fluctuations in the volume of passenger and freight traffic.

A railroad's bonds and debentures may contain indentures requiring a surplus of a certain amount be maintained.

PRICE RANGE.

What was the price range for American Crystal Sugar company common stock in 1941 and how much was paid on the issue in that year?—D. S.

Answer: The common stock ranged from 19½ to 9½ on the New York Stock exchange in 1941 and $1.25 was paid on the issue.

COMMON STOCK HOLDERS.

Do you have figures to show the number of common stock holders of Allied Stores corporation? Have any dividends been paid on the common since 1938?—G. T. Y.

Answer: In March there were 12,261 common stock holders. No dividends have been paid on the shares since 1938.

INITIAL DIVIDEND.

Beech Aircraft corporation recently declared an initial dividend of $1 on the capital stock. When was the present company organized?—T. E. F.

Answer: In 1936.

Salesmen.

$926.00 FOUR WEEKS' COMMISSIONS
for just one man in our Chicago organization, while some of you salesmen are wondering whether there are still opportunities in the sales field.
HERE IS WHAT OUR MEN DON'T DO
Don't do any canvassing; don't do any delivering; don't do any credit investigating; don't do any calling back; don't do any collecting; don't do any servicing. They spend all of their time and all of their energy in adding to their personal incomes. If you're just pretty good you should earn $85 a week. If you're tops you should average $125 to $150 every week in the year. Come in and let us show you what our men do in order to earn this kind of money. Ask for the manager, 9:00 to 2:30, Monday.

Stenographers and Clerical Workers

EXPERIENCED GIRLS FOR WORK IN LOOP OFFICE

Address Y Y 500, Tribune

Stenographer-Secy.

In the first place this is a really good position. To qualify you will, first of all, be a good stenographer and typist. You will be the kind of person who does not consider your job completely covered simply because your letters are neat and out in good time.

You will have had experience in relieving a very busy executive of many details that interfere with exercise of his fullest capacities in essential things he must do. He must be able to sign your letters without "proofreading them." You will have a certain amount of filing, so you will know where the things are he will want and have them ready before he asks for them. Ability to use the dictaphone will help because he may want to be in the office on a Sunday or late at night.

You should be not over 35 and personable.

You will be well paid; work in pleasant surroundings in a mfg. plant established over 40 years on the Central So. Side, now engaged in 100% war work with ample postwar activities assured.

DON'T BORROW

Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance, you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.
